In his capacity as chairman of the Freshman Week committee at the College, Dean Warnock during the past 23 years has welcomed thousands of new students to the campus.

Fred Waring Salutes College With Glee Club as Guests

With the Penn State Glee Club as guests, Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians will salute Penn State on their coast-to-coast broadcast over the NBC network at 10 a.m. today.

The Glee Club, which departed on a five-day concert tour on Monday morning, will attend the 30-minute program this morning following a successful concert in New York last night. Immediately following the program, the group will leave for Allentown where they are scheduled to present a concert tonight.

Remembers College

The Glee Club includes the Varsity Quartette composed of Charles Sullivan, Richard Goodling, Paul Margolf, Maynard Hill, and accompanist Peter Carpenter. Thaddeus Komorowski, baritone, and John E. Kelley, pianist, are appearing as soloists. The group is under the direction of Frank

Showers Likely for Spring Carnival

Showers are likely for the Spring Carnival tomorrow, Charles L. Hosler, instructor in meteorology said yesterday.

It is especially difficult, he added, to predict weather two days in advance this time of year. Typical spring weather wouldn't surprise anyone, however, he added.

With full appreciation for the exactness of the science of meteorology, students nevertheless hope that the prediction is "all wet."

1 Day to Carnival

Five, four, three, two and now the long awaited—one day to Carnival has arrived. Growing gradually and steadily, the Carnival has been enlarged to include well over 50 booths and to give to its visitors a wide variety of entertainment.

The Carnival committee has announced that hot dogs and coke will be sold at the Carnival area and that a 50 foot banner across Allen street in the middle of the block will identify the Carnival to all. Camera bugs are reminded that the Carnival will be fair grounds for pictures which can be entered in the Froth contest for the best pictures of Spring Week events.

The Magnavox radio console, to be awarded to the booth collecting the most tickets is on display at the Music Room.

The Daily Collegian proving that names make the news will have a special booth of its own. At this booth aspiring campus

"wheels" can prove to the folks back home that they really make the campus click by sending them a copy of the Collegian with their names in headlines. Fame and glory will be available to all, for a small fee, at the Daily Collegian booth.

"Bowl a Bucket" at the Alpha Sigma Phi entry in the Carnival. The Alpha Sigma Phi's will have a bowling lane with a target "pin" type of peg. When the peg is hit, a bucket of water will be spilled on another poor unfortunate pledge. At least the pledges will be happy when this is all over.

So at last the long awaited day is almost ready to descend upon the peace and tranquility of State College. And as millions of kids have been saying for years and years, "Hurray the Carnival's come to town" and by tomorrow it will have indeed
