Student Councils

Physical Education

This is the last in a series of stories to be published by the Daily Collegian concerning the student councils of the various schools of the College.

The Physical Education Student Council is a student-elected organization of the School of Physical Education, Health, and Recreation.

The main purpose of the student council is to create an effective liaison chain between the students of the school and the faculty. With this purpose in mind the class representatives as well as the officers help gather desired information and see that it is relayed to the proper persons.

School Affairs

As an incidental method of making the organization more effective it aids in the promotion of several school affairs, such as the Halloween Mixer given in October to get new sophomores acquainted with their faculty and upper classmates as well as members of their own class. It also sponsors a student-faculty banquet in the spring semester.

Publications

In the past the student council has been instrumental in the compilation and publication of a placement pamphlet for graduating seniors, which it plans to continue. It also publishes a "Discobolis" which is circulated throughout the School.

Another project sponsored by the council is the improvement of Rec Hall corridors and the trophy cases.

Public Relations

The council attempts to promote a better understanding of the problems of the school for both students and faculty and to bring forth problems that would be encountered in professional

Campus Personalities Live as Guests Of College

The Messrs. Hoffman and Clark may not know it but there's a fast-growing family of little campus personalities who have been living off the College for years without being issued a matric card or paying a cent.

Using the subterranean network of tunnels directly under the campus as their winter quarters, this small army of chipmunks and squirrels emerge with the coming of spring and lives riotously and well as guests of the school until the first snow.

Since the College was founded, these engaging rodents have been frolicking past classrooms in the spring and summer months, completely ignoring "Wear Out the Walk" signs and maliciously distracting the attention of entire classes from dull lectures by their interesting displays of hand-springs and somersaults, much to the disgust of professors with classrooms on the first floor.

Unbelievably sleek and fat the year round—sometimes even being mistaken for young elephants by bleary-eyed students in a more credulous frame of mind—the chipmunk colonists obtain winter sustenance by stealing workmen's lunches in their steam-heated underground domain.

The phenomenal size which they are rumored to have attained in pre-war days, however, will not be reached again until next fall—if there is any truth in the legend that they used to eat some of the smaller freshmen.

physical education. Along these lines it tries to help the individual student be better prepared to assume his or her responsibility for the citizens of tomorrow, and especially the youth of tomorrow.

Alpha Xi's Suite 'Not So Sweet' Them's Eggs

Does anyone have a suggestion on how to preserve seven dozen eggs for a month and a half?

One sorority faces this problem. The rains came and spoiled the Carnival plans, but the Alpha Xi's are more worried about the spoiling of the prizes they intended to give!

Fortunately, the decorated eggs are hard-boiled. But even they are not tough enough to stand the test of time. Not even until the new, tentative date of the Carnival, May 12.

A few solutions have been offered. Madly the Alpha Xi's seek cold storage space. The girls agree to sacrifice "coke" space in the suite refrigerator to the aging eggs. One bright sister suggested setting up a booth on the Corner and auctioning the homeless creatures.

Meanwhile, the Alpha Xi's "set and wait" in their not-too-sweet suite. And the eggs? Don't look to the Chem labs for the smell of sulfur. As Will so aptly put it, "There's something rotten in Simmons."

session of the ball until a man had maneuvered into the proper position for any type shot.

Invariably this chalked up two more points on the scoreboard.

If anyone doesn't believe that possession basketball makes for an exciting game, just find a team (they are rare) that employs this form. In such games you see real court skill.

Of course, those people who see no thrill in a no-hit or shut-out baseball game won't like this type of basketball. They fail to appreciate the under-the-surface excitement which is displayed in the sheer ability of the performers.

a three-and-seven log. Charlie Bunk was the standout of this squad.

The '39 Blue and White men won five and lost four. From 1940 to 1948, the Nittany Valley swimmers floundered in defeat, for they mustered only 11 victories out of 43 meets.

Under the tutelage of Bill Gutteron the 1949 tankmen established an outstanding record. Only two teams, Cornell and Syracuse, defeated Gutteron's charges.

Quill Girl is elected by women students from the presidents of WSGA, WRA, Mortar Board and Chimes. Last year's Cap Girl was Jane Weigle and Suzanne Romig was named as Matrix Girl. Lee Ann Wagner, president of WRA was elected Quill Girl.

Guest speaker at the affair will be Laura Lou Brookman, managing editor of the Ladies' Home Journal. Miss Brookman joined the editorial staff of the Journal in 1937 as an editorial assistant. Now, as managing editor, she reads about 5,000 pages of manuscripts a week.

The Matrix Table will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn 8:15 p. m. Monday. It will be a formal affair.
