bers are elected by the respective out-going boards, from among the junior board members. Competition is keen, since promotions are based upon merit, with ability and attitude rated high.

Indoctrination

For the remainder of April, the new senior boards will be indoctrinated into their individual duties by the persons they will succeed. Actual operation of the newspaper will be assumed by the new boards after May 1.

Further move-ups, to junior and sophomore boards of both the editorial and business staffs, will be announced later this month.

ROTC Parades For Army Day

Army Day will be observed today by the Penn State Cadet Corps in its annual ceremony, a prelude to the national celebration tomorrow in which parades, radio broadcasts, and other ceremonies will take place throughout the land.

Under the direction of Cadet Sergeant Charles Miller, the 40-piece ROTC band will present a concert of martial music in Schwab auditorium. The program, including a short address by Col. Ben Hur Chastaine, professor of military science and tactics, will be broadcast through the cooperation of WMAJ and the College speech department.

Following the band concert, the cadet battalion will form and parade down the Mall and make a circuit through the business district back to the Old Main lawn. There a formal parade will introduce formal decoration ceremonies.

Col. Chastaine, on behalf of the commanding general of the Second Army, will present a certificate of proficiency to the College. John Ekey will receive the award for the outstanding engineer cadet, and James Dixon commendation as the outstanding ordnance cadet.

Medals signifying designation as distinguished military students will be presented to Dixon, David Malickson, Michael Nakonechay, Frank Phillipbar, Merle Rauscher, Carl Reiter, James Shriver, Earl Spencer, and Hagop Terzagian.

Students To Vie For Music Honor

Twelve counties in Pennsylvania will be represented at the College on Friday when the Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League sponsors a contest for high ranking musicians.

About 500 high school musicians who have gone through county contests and have won are scheduled to perform throughout the day Friday and will be judged for their ability.

Judges

Harry A. Brinsmaid, assistant professor of music, will judge piano performers; Frank Gullo, assistant professor of music and Mrs. E. Reynolds, vocal performers; and James Dunlop, assistant professor of music education, and Rex Rockwell, instructor in music will judge the instrumental performers.

Each individual will perform one number selected by the committee of music educators and a second number of their own choice. High ranking musicians from here will be sent to the state finals in Pottstown, April 28, 29 and 30.

Solos

Piano, violin, clarinet, flute and cornet solos will be in room 117 Carnegie Hall from 9 to 11 a.m. Soprano solo, mezzo soprano solo, alto soprano, tenor solo, baritone solo, and bass solo will be in the same room from 1:15 to 3:35 p.m. Girls' Ensemble, Mixed Octet, Girls' Trio, and Girls' Chorus will be featured in Schwab Auditorium from 9 to 11:55 a.m. From 1:15 to 2:15 p.m., a class B band will play in Schwab and there will also be a twirling baton number.
