Cabinet Sets Carnival Date; Hears Council Fund Report

All-College Cabinet last night set the date for the Spring Carnival, postponed last weekend because of rain and cold, as Friday, April 29, with April 30 as a rain date. The motion was proposed by Abram Bosler, co-chairman of the Spring Week Committee, and passed unanimously.

Cabinet also heard, in the 35-minute session, a preliminary report of proposed student council allocations from Milton Stone, retiring president of the engineering student council.

Fund Proposed
According to Stone's report, which will be presented in full at the next Cabinet meeting, a fund of $1000 would be set aside for the use of the eight functioning student councils. Of that amount, $60 would be allotted each council for operating expenses, the residue of $520 being divided among the schools in proportion to enrollment in the fall semester.

Student Union Trip
Cabinet also approved an allocation of $300 for a Student Union Committee composed of Edmund Walacavage, All-College Secretary-Treasurer, and his successor, James MacCallum, to attend a Student Union convention in Colorado Springs.

Committees were appointed by All-College President William Lawless to investigate operating details of the Book Exchange and to select outstanding seniors for Cabinet recognition of service. The group also passed a vote of confidence for Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, for service rendered last week for the postponed Spring Week Carnival. Richard Hill, Cabinet parliamentarian, reported on the proposed formation of a permanent All-College Banner Committee to regulate the display of posters and signs on campus.

Independent Queen's Vital Statistics Are 'Confuzin'

In the words of Al Capp's 'Lil Abner,' circumstances at the Student Union desk the other day were "confuzin" but not a bit "amoozin" for a red faced Jim McCallum, S.U. clerk.

The plight revolved around pretty Claire Hillstrom, recently elected Penn State Independent Queen.

In order to relay Miss Hillstrom's body measurements along with other vital statistics to the national independent queen contest, McCallum sent the Simmons' resident a phone call.

The AIM beauty was asked if she could give her measurements. . . "Okey," replied Claire, "but where should I take them?" Confused, McCallum thought that she meant where on the anatomy she should take them.

"In the usual place, I guess," he answered. Nonpulsed Miss Hillstrom came right back to ask where that was.

Completely routed, McCallum was about to go into finer points when the situation was cleared up—much to the relief of both.

NSA Requests Congress Pass Federal Aid Scholarship Bill

The U. S. National Student Association has called upon Congress to enact legislation to provide a national program of federally-financed scholarships for approximately 300,000 college students.

The 'Civilian G I Bill' would provide for direct support to the individual on the basis of need and ability, and would be administered by the states without discrimination as to race, creed, economic or social status.

Support Legislation

More than 700,000 students, represented in NSA through 289 colleges and universities, were called upon to exert full support for such legislation. The urgent need was stressed by the Association's National Commission on Educational Problems when it indicated that another 10 percent increase in general tuition was to be expected for the coming year.

NSA has launched its program on three levels. In the first two, its member colleges and regional organizations have been called upon to solicit public and congressional support for national scholarship legislation.

On the national level, the staff of NSA has appealed to House and Senate Committees to recommend national scholarship legislation. The NSA Subcommittee on Legislation in Washington is preparing to circularize all individual members of Congress to enlist their support.

Need Cited

Since veteran enrollments are expected to end by 1956, federal appropriations under the present G.I. Bill could be diverted, coincident with the 17 percent decrease in G.I. enrollments in the past year, to non-veteran students of ability and need. Seventy-five percent of the nation's 17-18 year old group were not enrolled in college last year, and 50 percent of this group come from families with an income of less than $3,000 per annum. Since average tuition and living costs range between $750 and $1,000 yearly, it is evident that there is a dire need for financial assistance.
