Arnall to Give Final Lecture In Forum Series

Former Ga. Governor To Talk on South

Ellis Arnall, former governor of Georgia, will deliver the final address in the five-lecture Community Forum series in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. today. His subject will be "The South Today."

Arnall was governor of the Peach State from 1943 to 1947 and is a leader among Southern liberals.

He won the governorship in 1942 by defeating the late Eugene Talmadge in the Democratic primaries and then going on to win in the general election.

During his term of office, Governor Arnall sponsored a program which abolished the poll tax in Georgia, made the state financially solvent and lowered the voting age to 18. He sparked the nation-wide judicial case against the railroads for discriminating against the South in freight rates.

Despite the inroads Arnall made in the Talmadge machine, red-gallused Eugene was able to win the governorship again in the 1946 election, and after his death the position was taken by his son, Herman Talmadge.

Cabinet Debates Changes In Interclass Budget

All-College Cabinet last night considered the proposed interclass budget for next year, as brought forward by Edward Walacavage, secretary-treasurer. The budget must be discussed at two Cabinet meetings before it can be approved.

LaVie Pictures

Pictures will be taken again in the fall, but the photographer will not be able to handle all the seniors then.

Certain increases were proposed in amounts set aside for various items, notably $1000 instead of $420 for the school councils, $3000 instead of $2500 for the Blue Band, and $50 more added on to the previous $1200 earmarked for cash scholarships awarded to class and All-College officers.

Decrease

However, a decrease of $50 in the $150 printing and supplies item and an estimated reduction in cap and gown refunds amounting to a saving of $3000 help counterbalance further proposed expenditures of $500 for a student government handbook, $250 for orientation week, and a $100 increment to Tribunal. The total budget for next year then amounts to $11,825 after counting in the expenditures which have not been changed.

Merit Committee

Senior Class President Terry Ruhlman, in his report for the certificate of merit committee seeking to honor outstanding seniors, announced that the original 200 considered have been narrowed to 75. A special meeting of Cabinet will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. specifically to approve the selection of those to be awarded certificates.

Cabinet unanimously approved the recommendation to designate $50 from its funds to cover expenses of the annual celebration of Pan-American Day. Mr. Walacavage also remarked that the $200 loan to WSSF, due April 9, has not yet been repaid.

At its next regular meeting, on May 3, Cabinet will finish the business of the school year, accept the new officers and approve a final draft of the budget for 1949-50.

College Hosts News Convention; Wisconsin To Be Next Site

Discussing common problems of daily student newspaper publishing and exchanging ideas about their solution, 45 editorial and business staff members of 12 eastern and mid-western universities met at the College last Thursday through Saturday.

The University of Wisconsin Daily Cardinal was selected as host of next year's convention, and the Daily Collegian was given the responsibility for editing and distributing a newsletter, to stimulate interest in the convention, and increase its value.

Delegates to last year's first University Newspaper Convention, at the University of Michigan, voted to continue the conference as an annual event. Penn State was chosen this year's site in preference to Harvard, Ohio State and Minnesota.

Representatives of the visiting papers expressed their pleasure at the organization of the discussions, and at the benefits obtained, according to Vance Klepper, Collegian business manager, and Lew Stone, editor.

Newspapers represented were Brown Daily Herald, Colorado Silver and Gold, Cornell Daily Sun, Harvard Crimson, The Daily Illini, Michigan Daily, Ohio State Lantern, Temple University News, Detroit Collegian (Wayne University), Wisconsin Daily Cardinal and Yale Daily News.

NSA Investigates Colleges' Dismissal of Professors

United States National Student Association's executive committee recently concluded a three-day meeting at Cleveland College by taking a firm stand against the dismissal of college professors for holding membership in the Communist party without reference to teaching ability.

At the same time the committee, composed of the chairmen of NSA's 27 regions, empowered its national staff to investigate the dismissal of professors on probation of University of Washington professors and the firing of a professor at Oregon State College. It has also authorized the staff to conduct an investigation of the expulsion of James Zarichny from Michigan State College after the staff has received a petition signed by 500 Michigan State College students.

Congressional Bill

The committee voted unanimously to support the bill in Congress to eliminate racial segregation in the Washington, D.C. educational system.

Introduced by Rep. Klein (D., N. Y.) this bill would eliminate from the educational system, businesses, and other public services in the nation's capital discrimination and segregation on the basis of race, creed, color, national derivation or ancestry.

Rep. Klein pointed out that the capitol of a democracy should set an example for the nation. The committee pledged the efforts of its legislative program to the support of those aspects of the bill which would affect education.

Study Discrimination

In connection with its discussion of segregation and discrimination, the committee also voted to recommend to its human relations commission a study of the problems of discrimination in school systems, and that its area committees recommend specific programs for the elimination of discrimination and segregation in the educational community. The 289 NSA-member schools were asked to implement these programs within the limitations imposed by local conditions.

A high German source in Berlin reports that Russia will propose a settlement of the whole German question, including the Berlin blockade. The West will have to make at least one concession to keep Germany out of the Atlantic Pact. Allied authorities and the Russians are silent on the subject.
