

College Names Egli Assistant Floor Coach

Appointment of John S. Egli as assistant Lion basketball coach and instructor in physical education was announced today by Dr. Carl P. Schott, dean of the School of Physical Education and Athletics.

Egli's transfer from the Penn State undergraduate center at DuBois, where he coached basketball in addition to his teaching duties, reunites him with his former teammate, Elmer Gross, who last month was named John Lawther's successor as cage coach.

TEAMMATES

Egli and Gross were teammates on the 1941-42 team that defeated Illinois and lost to Dartmouth in the NCAA title tournament at New Orleans, and the next year Egli was elected co-captain of the team. A 6-foot-3 guard, Egli excelled on follow-up shots.

A native of Williamsport, Egli played football and basketball at South Williamsport High School, captaining the cage team as a senior. Egli went to war in April, 1943, was attached to the Fourth Armored Division overseas, was wounded at Bastogne Christmas 1944, and was separated from the service December 31, 1945.

HIGH SCHOOL COACH

Following his graduation in 1947, he taught physical education and health courses and coached the basketball team at Derry Township High School before accepting an appointment at the Du Bois undergraduate center.

plied the wood to the ball and sent it spiraling over the left field fence 350-feet away for a game-clinching home run.

Big factor in the Nittany win was the base stealing employed by the Nittanymen. Captain Hackman stole no less than four sacks, while little Joe Tocci pilfered twice. Tocci scored his lone run on a double steal.

DEFENSIVE PLAY

Penn lost the game with weak defensive play, for the Quakers were charged with seven errors. Despite the fact that the Statemen were responsible for four miscues, two fast, sharp double plays, with Hackman the starting force in both, turned the tide for the Lions.

Al Tkac started on the hill for the Nittanies against Temple. The Owls put two singles, a stolen base and an outfield fly together for their first inning run. The only Nittany to reach base in the first inning was Hackman, who walked and then stole second. He was stranded, however, when the next man fied out.
