Collegian Lists 'Pay Incentives'

In response to the "Safety Valve" request of 13 coeds, the Daily Collegian presents the lists of "monetary incentives" for participants in student government activities.

Annual cash scholarships totaling $1255 are awarded to all College and class officers, and Tribunal and Elections committees. All-College president receives $200, while $100 awards are given to the all-College vice-president and secretary-treasurer, and to each class president.

Granted $50 Each class secretary-treasurer and the chairmen of the Tribunal and Elections committees are granted $50. Tribunal secretary receives $30, the treasurer, $25, and five remaining committee members, $20 each. Ten members of the Elections committee are awarded $15 apiece.

Committee compensations, which are derived from profits, have been altered by recent Cabinet action. Cap and gown, and announcement and invitation committees were dissolved (at a net saving of $120), their work to be done by Student Union. A maximum of $50 may be spent, under the direction of the senior class president, for publicity.

Now Three Members

Lion coat committee has been reduced from seven to three members, and its duties changed from selling to promotion, for which $50 is available. Student Union will sell the coats. The chairman will be paid $20, and the committee members, $10 each.

Senior Ball, Junior Prom and Soph Hop committees were changed from a chairman drawing $50 and six members at $15 each, to a chairman paid $35, and four members at $10 apiece.

Freshman cap committee was dissolved until the return of male freshmen, at which time it would likely be reorganized on the same basis as the Lion coat committee.

Members of the B-X Board of Control are uncompensated, but clerks at the store are paid an hourly wage.

Fifty textbooks published by the Student Mimeographing Co-operative in Budapest on mimeograph machines furnished by the World Student Service Fund have forced down the black market price of books in Budapest nearly 30 per cent. Over 15,000 copies of texts were mimeographed at this one center last year.
