

50 Organizations Participate In Spring Carnival on Friday

Penn State's Spring Carnival, postponed March 31 because of rain, is scheduled to go on as planned this Friday, April 29, with over 50 fraternity, sorority, and independent groups participating.

South Allen street will be closed during the Carnival and booths of all descriptions, crying a variety of "merchandise and services," will run the length of the first block in double array. Festivities will last from 2 to 10 p.m.

Plans for the affair were originally made by Froth, campus humor magazine, as part of Spring Week activities and were enlarged by a committee appointed by All-College Cabinet and headed by George Bearer and Abram Bosler.

None of the originally submitted entries have been withdrawn since the committee urged the groups involved to retain their plans and materials, promising that the Carnival would ultimately be staged.

Proceeds from the event, which it is hoped will become an annual campus activity, will go to the World Student Service Fund to help in providing books for schools in the Philippine Islands.

Those organizations participating will be competing for three prizes offered for the greatest volume of receipts. First prize is a $190 Magnavox radio-phonograph combination; second prize consists of $25 worth of records; and third prize is $15 worth of records.

In the event that Friday's weather is again unfavorable, the Carnival will be held on Saturday. Notification will be given.

Audrieth Opens Lecture Series

Dr. L. F. Audrieth, 23rd Priestly Lecturer at the College, opened his five-lecture series on "Acids, Bases and Non-aqueous Systems" in 119 Osmond Laboratory at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

His first talk, on "the historical development of the acid-base concept and its philosophical aspects," will be followed tonight at the same time and place by a discussion of "modern concepts: acid-base relationships and non-aqueous systems."

The University of Illinois professor of inorganic chemistry was introduced by Dr. W. Conrad Fernelius, head of the department of chemistry. Chairman for tonight's lecture will be Dr. R. Adams Dutcher, head of the department of agricultural and biological chemistry.

The Priestly series, which is sponsored annually by Phi Lambda Upsilon, honorary chemical society, and the department of chemistry, will continue through Friday, at 7:30 p. m. every day, except Friday, when the concluding talk will begin at 5:30 p. m.

Late AP News Courtesy WMAJ

Communists Rouse U.S. Ambassador

NANKING—The United States Ambassador to China, Leighton Stuart, was roused from his sleep yesterday when Communist soldiers entered his bedroom. After inspecting the premises, the soldiers left without causing damage. Stuart has been ordered home by the State Department for consultations.

Allies, Germans Agree

FRANKFURT—A sudden announcement by General Lucius Clay that all differences between the Germans and the Allies have cleared over the formation of a West German government, paves the way for a constitution and formation of a German government this summer.

New Spy Evidence

WASHINGTON—Navada Senator Pat McCarran says that conclusive and alarming evidence of spy activity in this country has been uncovered by a judiciary sub-committee.

State Senate Passes College Finance Bill

Appropriations calling for 11 million dollars for the operation of the College in the next two years were unanimously approved by the State Senate and reached the office of Gov. James H. Duff on Saturday.

The original request for appropriations by the Board of Trustees was $13,425,000. Governor Duff in his budget recommended $10,050,000 for operation of the College, but the measure approved by the Senate called for $950,000 more.

Chairman Norman Wood of the House appropriations committee explained that nearly one million dollars more had been requested for the College to provide funds for an increase in salaries of the instructors.

Another bill for $498,000 was approved and sent to the governor. This amount was to be matched by the federal government as a land grant college payment to the College.

Collegian Names Junior Board 'n Annual Spring Move-Ups

Thirteen promotions to the Daily Collegian editorial junior board, effective next Sunday for the 1949-'50 college year, were made Sunday by the incumbent junior board, according to Lew Stone, retiring editor.

These promotions are on the basis of observed ability and interest during the past year, and required a three-fourths vote of the present junior board. Sophomore board members not moved up are still eligible for consideration in the fall.

Delta Chi Holds Eastern Confab

Delta Chi fraternity had its annual Eastern Regional Conference at the chapter house last Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Representatives of Delta Chi chapters at Cornell, Columbia, Hobart, Ohio State, Toronto and Union Universities attended the conference.

Several discussion groups were formed in order to present and examine various phases of fraternity life. A banquet was given in honor of the visitors at the Nittany Lion Inn Saturday.

Toastmaster of the affair was Dr. C. Woody Thompson, Dean of Students at Iowa State University. Guest speaker of the evening was Arthur R. Warnock, Dean of Men at the College. Dean C. M. Thompson, retired head of the University of Illinois School of Commerce, was the principle speaker. Dean Thompson is the national president of Delta Chi.

Burroughs Price and Robert Richards were in charge of the conference program.

Army To Review ROTC Cadet Corps

An inspection team headed by Col. John M. Ferguson of the U. S. Army will examine the Penn State Corps of the Cadets for military proficiency today. This is the annual inspection which ROTC units in the country receive.

The inspectors will observe teaching methods and will interrogate the basic cadets on the subject matter covered this year.

La Vie Pictures

Pictures of juniors in the School of Liberal Arts are being taken for the 1950 La Vie at the Penn State Photo Shop this week.

Students who will be practicing teaching in the fall or who will graduate in any of the summer sessions must have their pictures taken now.

To Debate Socialized Medicine

L. W. Brown

A. H. Reed

Leo W. Brown, of the Pennsylvania State Medical society, and Arthur H. Reede, professor of economics at the College, will discuss "Government Medicine" in 10 Sparks at 7:30 p. m. today.

They will be introduced by Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men, who will turn over to them his 15-minute program, "Centre County Chatter," on radio station WMAJ. The program will continue until 8:30 o'clock.

Nominations End Today For Chem-Phys Council

Nominations for members of the Chemistry and Physics Student Council to replace graduating seniors will be continued until 5 p. m. today. Elections will be held in the rotunda of Osmond Laboratory from 9-5 p. m. Thursday.

Open ballot nominations which were held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week, named 22 nominees to date, and today's balloting is expected to boost the total considerably.

Vacancies to be filled by Thursday's elections include four senior and six junior councilmen. Nominations may be made by anyone in the School of Chemistry and Physics, and nominees must also be from the school. The ballot list is posted on the bulletin board at the south end of the ground floor of Pond laboratory.

Students can vote only for members of their own class. The number of council members representing each curriculum of the school is proportional to the enrollment in the various curricula.

In the senior class, two pre-medical science councilmen, one chemical engineering and one physics are needed. The break down for the six junior councilmen shows room for two chemical engineering, one pre-med or science, one physics, and two chemistry or commercial chemistry students.

The election committee, composed of Douglas Brace, Jack Senior, and George Herold announce that according to the constitution the election cannot be held until 40 hours after the close of nominations.

The sophomores nominated thus far are Donald Bedo, Herbert Blough, William Blumberg, Jack Derr, Russell Hermann, William Hoyer, George Klein, Charles Land, Jr., Mary McCoy, Robert Miller, Albert Rubin and Carolyn Snyder.

Juniors nominated are John Benson, Bernard Blumberg, Charles Catanach, Carmen Ciaella, John Duke, Suzanne Evans, David Herting, Gene MacDonald, Robert Martin and Norman Riemer.

News Briefs

Volunteer Naval Reserve

The Volunteer Naval Reserves Electronic Warfare Co. will meet in Engineering E, second floor at 7:30 p. m. tonight. All ex-radio men are urged to attend.

Block and Bridle Club

The Block and Bridle Club meeting has been changed to 206 Agriculture building at 7 p. m. Wednesday.

All those showing animals in the Little International Exposition on Saturday must be present.

Friends Committee

Six people who have worked in summer service units will speak at the PSCA sponsored open meeting on summer service opportunities in 304 Old Main at 7:30 p. m. tonight.

Jim Bristol will be available in 304 Old Main all day today for interviews about summer work with the summer Friends Service Committee. Foreign students are particularly urged to ask about the International Service Center.

Banquet

Mr. Mark McCloskey of New York City, will be guest speaker at the annual Physical Education banquet which will be held at the Nittany Lion Inn 6:30 p. m. tomorrow.

Secondary Educat'n Asso.

The Secondary Education Association will hold a Faculty-Student Mixer in 401 Old Main at 7:15 p. m. tonight.

Cabinet To Select Notable Seniors

All-College Cabinet will meet in 201 Old Main at 8 p. m., today specifically to approve the selection of the seniors to receive certificates of merit. The selections committee, headed by Terry Ruhlman, previously had narrowed the list of 200 candidates to 75. The selections made tonight will be from these 75 and will be final.

Dismissed Prof Addresses YPA

Dr. Joseph Butterworth, former professor of English at the University of Washington, will speak on the subject of "Academic Freedom" before the local chapter of the Young Progressives of America in the banquet room of the State College Hotel at 8:30 p. m. tonight.

Doctor Butterworth is one of two professors who recently were dismissed from the faculty of the University of Washington for holding membership in the Communist Party. An associate professor of English since 1929, he was removed from the faculty on Jan. 22 by the Board of Regents of the university following a seven-week hearing before a faculty committee on tenure and academic freedom.

Since his dismissal, Doctor Butterworth has spoken at a number of colleges in the East.

Timely Topic

Dorothy Roseman, chairman of the local chapter of YPA, in commenting on Doctor Butterworth's appearance here, said, "With the present nation-wide discussion of academic freedom at a high pitch, Dr. Butterworth's appearance here is a valuable opportunity for State College residents, students and the College faculty, to hear a discussion on the subject by one of the principal figures involved in the current tendencies to curb academic freedom."

Admission to the meeting is free and the public is invited. A question period will follow the lecture.

Home Ec Article

The April issue of the magazine, Forecast for Home Economics, features an article, "Observing Home Economics at Penn State," which contains many pictures and interviews.