

Players' Show
Tonight

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER PENN STATE

Weather: Fair and warm

VOLUME 49—NUMBER 59

STATE COLLEGE, PA., THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 5, 1949

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Miller Twirls 6-Hitter; Downs Gettysburg 4-1

With fastballer Cy Miller effectively scattering six hits, Penn State's baseball nine garnered its sixth win in seven starts yesterday afternoon, decisioning a visiting Gettysburg contingent by a 4-1 score on the New Beaver Field diamond. It was also the Lions' fourth consecutive win.

Miller, who captured his third win of the hill, lost his shut-out with one away in the ninth inning. The Bullets' shortstop, rangy Ray Novak, clocked a triple down the rightfield line, and scored when Miller wild-pitched.

Nine Strikeouts

Miller blazed his fastball past the first ten Gettysburg batters before he walked Tony Cervino in the fourth. He struck out the side in the first inning, and went on to rack up nine victims via the fanning route.

Four of the loser's six hits were to right field as Miller fogged his offerings wickedly to the plate, and the batters swung late. Gettysburg did not get a hit until two were down in the sixth, when Dick Wiewand blooped a single to right.

The Nittanians broke up a scoreless pitching duel between Miller and Ken Houtz in the fourth frame when they tallied two runs on three hits. Stan Laganosky doubled to right field, Dick Wertz walked, and Bill Ondick advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt.

Bill Tegtmeier ripped a double to left and both runners scored. Tegtmeier was caught in an attempted steal and Clarence Buss was picked off first after singling to end the inning.

Miller singled between short and third in the fifth inning, but was forced at second on Hen Albright's grounder to John Jones. Albright went to third on Gene Solomon's single to right and tallied on Captain Hal Hackman's roller to short.

Hackman crossed the plate in the eighth with the Lions' final score. He singled, stole, second, moved to third on catcher Walt Kirker's over-throw, and came home when Laganosky's roller was bobbed by Novak at short.

Coach Joe Bedenk's charges leave today for a tussle with Dickinson tomorrow and Navy Saturday. Both games are on foreign grounds. The box score:

Winning Hurler

Miller

IF Council Holds Annual Banquet

Interfraternity Council will hold its annual banquet at the Nittany Lion Inn at 6.15 p. m. tonight announced George Chapman, retiring IFC prexy.

Newly elected IFC officers Peter Giesey, Jack Senior and Jack Ernst will officially take reins of the council tonight. Retiring Dean of Men, Arthur Warnock and Dean of Men-elect Wilmer Kenworthy will be the guest speakers.

All IFC or IFC representatives who have not yet obtained their tickets for the banquet will be able to purchase them at the door tonight.

Combined Arts Festival SCHEDULE OF TODAY'S EVENTS

Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival
Group of Sonnets
304 Sparks 9 a.m.
Group of Lyrics
304 Sparks 10:30 a.m.
Drama Readings 1:30 p.m.
Modern Dance Recital
White Hall 8 p.m.
"John Loves Mary"
Schwab Auditorium 8 p.m.

Hoyler of RCA To Give EE Talk On Electronics

A demonstration and discussion of a number of electronic computers which have been developed at the Radio Corporation of America laboratories will be given by Cyril M. Hoyler of RCA in 110 Electrical Engineering at 7:30 p. m. today.

Mr. Hoyler will address the student branch of Electrical Engineers on "Electronic Arithmetic," and slides and colored motion pictures will be shown. One of the computers to be demonstrated is an interval timer a capacity of 100,000 counts per second.

A high speed and a flip-flop counter will be demonstrated and also a linear simultaneous equation solver having a capacity of four equations and four unknowns.

Sigma Pi Sigma, physics honorarium, will be the guest of the AIEE and IRE at this open meeting.

La Vie

Seniors in the School of Liberal Arts may pick up their copy of the 1949 La Vie at Student Union from 2 to 4:30 p. m. today. Each senior must get in person. Anyone unable to get his copy at the scheduled time can obtain it after May 10.

WMAJ Airs Debate With West Point

A radio discussion between members of the Men's Debate team of the College and debaters from West Point will be held over WMAJ at 9:30 p. m. today.

The topic will be "The similarities and differences between the educational systems of West Point and Penn State."

David M. Barron and Harold E. Brown will represent the College and Prof. Joseph F. O'Brien, head of the speech department, will be moderator.

News Briefs

Sigma Xi Lecture

Dr. A. H. Schultz, professor of physical anthropology at Johns Hopkins Medical School, will speak on "Man as a Primate" at a public lecture sponsored by Sigma Xi in 119 Osmond Laboratory at 8 p. m. today.

Atherton Musicale

The second in the Atherton Hall series of musicians will be presented at 7:15 p. m. today. An all-Beethoven program is featured.

PSCA

The PSCA radio program over WMAJ at 7:45 p. m. today will feature a play, "Free and Equal." The old and new PSCA cabinets will meet in 304 Old Main at 8:30 p. m. today.

Pre-Med Society

Movies will be shown to the Pre-Med Society and A. E. D. in 219 Electrical Engineering at 8 p. m. today. It is for members only.

'John Loves Mary' Opens Schwab Run

Norman Kransna's romantic comedy "John Loves Mary," opening in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p. m. tonight, is presented by the Penn State Players.

The play, originally produced by Rogers and Hammerstein, features Cynthia Moore and Dan Bryant in the title roles and is under the direction of Robert Everett Kendall. Oren Stein, technical director for the dramatic group, designed and built the sets which will be in the Georgian mode.

Allen Installed As President; Only 50 Attend

Ted Allen officially became All-College president at 11:50 a. m. yesterday in ceremonies conducted on the steps of Old Main.

After remarks from retiring All-College President William Lawless and Secretary-Treasurer Edmund Walacavage, Tribunal Chairman Harry Brown administered the oath of office to Allen.

In spite of ideal weather only a small crowd witnessed the proceedings, as Allen continued the inauguration by swearing in James Balog, senior class president, and Harry Kondourajian, junior class president. About 50 people were present, a poor comparison to the 200 who stood in the rain last spring at that inauguration.

In closing the program, Allen challenged the statement that the Lion Party has seized control of Cabinet after the recent elections landslide. He explained that only four out of twenty-one voting members were placed on Cabinet as a result of the election, the senior and junior class presidents, the All-College vice-president and secretary-treasurer. The All-College president himself does not vote except to make or break ties.

All-College, senior and junior class vice-presidents and secretary-treasurers will be sworn in by Allen at the next regular meeting of Cabinet, which is scheduled for 8 p. m. May 10.

"John Loves Mary" has been called the most popular of those plays featured in last season's summer circuit and the story has come out of Hollywood to be told on the nation's cinema screens.

The story itself involves the return of a soldier from overseas, the girl he loves, her family, and the circumstances which can surround such a situation.

Also, the relationship between another ex-GI and a British girl who comes to this country expecting to marry him. The Mayor of New York, and the War Department enter into the picture to round out the plot.

Included in the cast, along with the title personalities, are: Dan Wargo, "Oscar Dugan;" Sid Manes, "Fred Taylor;" Bud Bernstein, "Senator James McKinley;" Rita Lang, "Mrs. Phyllis McKinley;" Tony Bowman, "Lt. Victor O'Leary;" Robert Striker, "George Beechwood;" Mary Alice Hodgson, "Lily Herbish;" and Mesrop Kesdekian, "Hardwood Biddle."

Dorothy Kuryloski has been named stage manager for the play, Eleanore Miles is bookholder, and Florence Zalicovitz is supervisor of costumes.

Other committees and their heads are: Construction, Richard Maley; painting, Howard McCoy; lighting, Frank Brosius; sound, Walt Eckley; house manager, Norman Sims; properties, Phoebe Dalzell; stage crew, John Thompson; costumes, Ruth Taub; advertising, Ruth Lehmann and George Miller; and make-up, Shirley Rhodes.

Second Day of Reading Festival Opens With Sonnet Readings

Swinging into the second day of activities, the First Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Reading Festival will open with sonnet readings in 304 Sparks at 9 a. m. today.

Shakespearean sonnet groups will be read by John Douglas, Westminster College; Elaine Sepesy, California State Teachers College; Henry Walter, St. Joseph's College; Lois Esaley, Juniata College; Marilyn Altman, the Pennsylvania College for Women; and Edward Armsby, of the College.

Lyric poetry readings will begin in 304 Sparks at 10:30 a. m. today. Miss Altman will read "The Cave," Muriel Rukesyser; "Lullaby," Edith Sitwell; "Fire and Ice," Robert Frost. Judith Nicely and Alice Banks will read in the lyric poetry group representing Juniata College. Miss Nicely will read "She Walks in Beauty," Lord Byron; "Full Fathom Five," William Shakespeare; "When Icicles Hang by the Wall," William Shakespeare. Miss Banks will read "Loveliest of Trees," A. E. Houseman; and "Stars," Sara Teasdale.

Altoona Center

Representing the Altoona Undergraduate Center, Robert Klar will read "Say Not the Struggle Naught Availeth," A. H. Clough; "The World Is Too Much With Us," William Wordsworth; and "Ode to Autumn," John Keats. Harold DeCicco, St. Joseph's College will do "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening," Robert Frost; "I Never Saw a Moor," Emily Dickinson; "The Old Familiar Faces," Charles Lamb; "Perseus odi puer," Horace; "Cornelia's Dirge," John Webster; and "April," Thomas Merton.

From Westminster College, John Douglas will read "The indifferent" and "Hymn to God the Father," by John Donne.

Gladdy Lou Miller, representing the College, will read "The Green Noise," G. A. Miloradovitch; "The Echo," Christina Rossetti; "The Kitchen Clock," John Vance Cheney; "The Grey Squirrel," Humbert Wolfe; "The Lamb," Humbert Wolfe; "To a Cuckoo," John Logan; and "Barter," Sara Teasdale.

Drama Readings

At the drama readings in 304 Old Main at 1:30 p. m. today, Louise Davis of California State Teachers College will read "All for Love," by John Dryden. Miss Esaley from Juniata College will do parts from "As You Like It," by William Shakespears.

Eugene Ahern from St. Joseph's College will do scenes from "Henry V" and "Richard II," by William Shakespeare, and "Winterset," by Maxwell Anderson.

Ruth Vogan, from Westminster College, will read "A Doll's House," by Henrik Ibsen. Miss Sepesy from California State Teachers College will read "Phoedra," by J. Racine; Miss Banks, from Juniata College, will do "Mary of Scotland," by Maxwell Anderson.

Francine Toll, representing the College, will read "The Silver Cord," by Sidney Harward.

Outstanding Senior Men

James O. Dunaway

This is the third of a series of articles concerning prominent senior men who have proved themselves outstanding in one or more fields of activity at the College.

By Myrna Tex

James Dunaway lay sprawled on the canvas of Rec Hall's boxing ring after a technical knockout on December 6, 1948. As he slowly gained consciousness, still in a foggy state, he raised his arm and shouted to the crowd, "Tuesday is Froth Day."

So Froth's present slogan and publicity innovation were born. But Dunaway has not only afforded Froth publicity. He has taken care of the publicity side of many College functions and activities. It was Dunaway who first originated the idea of Spring Week Carnival last year and presented it to All-College Cabinet for approval. He served as chairman of Spring Week Committee and said in regard to his committee and others who worked with him, "I want to express my gratitude to those who helped me carry out the idea and cooperated with me in every possible way."

Dunaway was in the cast of four Thespian shows and served as crew head for two others. He also was publicity director of the Thespian club. He was promotion manager of both Critique and Froth and often donned the famous red and yellow Froth jester suit to stir up a little more publicity for the College humor magazine.

He was publicity chairman of the Lion Party and explained his interest in politics by stating, "I'd like to see student government become stronger, as it can be an important and unifying force if students will take a greater interest in it." Dunaway was active in intramural sports and is a member of Skull and Bones.

"Activities are quite worthwhile", Dunaway emphasized. "They enable students to realize just what they can or can't do. They give everyone a chance to assume responsibility and create school spirit by doing things with the aid of the College which College officials could not do by themselves.

"In order to get anywhere in activities," Dunaway continued, "one has to go after them and show dependability as his foremost trait. Once dependability is established, initiative is the next step to success."

Hails From Houston

Dunaway is from Houston, Texas and belongs to Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is majoring in science, but would like to do advertising or editorial work after graduation. "To write humor or do anything creative is my greatest interest", Dunaway said.

He was publicity chairman for the NSA Jazz Concert and stated that his hobby was jazz, both bop and dixieland

Dunaway