

AGR, Sig Ep's Gain IM Soccer Quarter-Finals

Phi Deltas, Pi Kaps Drop 1-0 Contests

Harry Endres

Alpha Gamma Rho and Sigma Phi Epsilon gained the intramural quarter finals Tuesday afternoon, squeezing by Phi Delta Theta and Pi Kappa Phi, respectively, by 1-0 scores.

In the other games played Tuesday, Delta Upsilon shel-lacked Sigma Phi Sigma, 6-0, and Phi Sigma Kappa tallied twice in the overtime period to take Beta Sigma Rho, 3-1.

After two scoreless periods and a scoreless overtime, AGR tripped Phi Delta Theta, 1-0. The AGR's had an edge in corner kicks in the overtime stanza, and were awarded the win on this basis.

JACOBS' BOOT WINS

Jacobs, of Sigma Phi Epsilon, booted in a first-period marker, and the Sig Phi Ep's held this margin to blank Pi Kappa Phi, 1-0.

Phi Sigma Kappa and Beta Sigma Rho each netted one tally in the opening period, and then remained deadlocked until the Phi Sigs scored twice in the overtime to win. Keck kicked in two scores and Roy one for P.S.K., while Wienberg got the lone goal for the Beta Sigs.

Delta Upsilon scored early and often to roll over Sigma Phi Sigma, with Rusty Lieb getting three markers. Joe Lane garnered two goals with Joe Sarabok one for the D.U.'s.

One Goal Decides

Four one-goal victories by Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa Sigma, Beta Theta Pi and Alpha Chi Rho highlighted the intramural soccer action Monday afternoon.

A goal by Coder in the fourth overtime period gave the Phi Kappa Sigs a 2-1 win over Theta Chi. Both teams had scored in the second overtime period, and neither could gain an edge in corner kicks. Theta Chi's Cox and Peterson of P. K. S. booted in their squads' first goals.

ACR Shades AEPI

Maxwell's overtime goal broke a scoreless deadlock as Alpha Chi Rho pinned a 1-0 defeat on Alpha Epsilon Pi.

Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon also captured 1-0 victories. Brauer scored in the second period to give the Betas the edge over Pi Lambda Phi, and McIlvaine tallied a first-period marker to account for S. A. E's win over Phi Sigma Delta.

Sigma Nu Out

Alpha Chi Sigma eliminated intramural leader Sigma Nu from soccer competition Monday by a 1-0 count. Bob Markle scored in the second period to give the Alpha Chi Sigs their hard-earned victory.

Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Phi Alpha, and Triangle also copped second round victories over Phi Gamma Delta, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Kappa Delta Rho.

Triangle battled Kappa Delta Rho through the regular game and an overtime period before being awarded the win, 1-0. An edge in corner kicks in the overtime for Triangle decided the outcome.

ATO Cops

First period goals by Hurstine and McCall proved enough for the A T O's to edge Phi Gamma Delta, 2-1. The lone Phi Gam score came in the second stanza.

Evans scored twice and Yeatman once to lead Sigma Phi Alpha to a 3-1 victory over T. K. E. Swartz tallied the T. K. E's only marker in the first period.

Three-time Winners

For the last three years Penn State has won the four-mile relay title at the Penn Relays in Philadelphia.

Former Lineman

Penn State's new football aide, Sever Toretti, formerly played a fine position on Nittany Lion eleven.

Beaver Field Sketch with Seating Changes

An aerial view of what Beaver Field will look like after work on the addition is completed next fall, according to Walter W. Trainer, superintendent of landscape for the College. Permanent seating will be increased to 28,000, which is 13,000 more than the present capacity. Temporary seats in the end zone will increase the number to 30,000.

The Nittany Realm Cooney --- Cotton Bowl Standout

by GEORGE VADASZ

It was a timid 16 year old kid who in the fall, five years ago, reported to Oscar Buchenhorst, Penn State stockroom manager, in the watertower for his football togs. The name of the youngster—Larry Cooney—number two Nittany wingback.

Since that Autumn afternoon in 1944, Larry has established himself as one of the great defensive backs in Lion grid history, as Al Michaels, backfield coach, so ably states, "he's great on pass defense and an exceptionally good tackler — I sure wish he was coming back this fall."

The Pittsburgh-reared Cooney attended Langley High where he demonstrated his athletic prowess by earning varsity letters in football, track and swimming but it has always been on the gridiron where Larry's interest has centered. Working right behind the center from a T-formation, Cooney quarterbacked Langley High into runnerup spot for three years in the city league.

Larry Cooney

In his sophomore year, Oliver of Pittsburgh won the city crown. It was then that he met the field general of the Cotton Bowl team, Bobby Williams. The meeting of these two men might have had a bearing on Cooney's enrollment at Penn State two years later.

"Since I graduated I haven't been home very often," Larry states now, "Seven days after I had my high school diploma I came to State. During the speeded up war program we had very limited vacations.

Then I went into the service after my sophomore year, last year we went to Texas — maybe I'll see a little of my folks now that I'll graduate next month."

SPEED, ALERTNESS

When only 18 years old, Cooney's exceptional speed, ability and alertness earned him a starting berth on the 1944 Nittany Lions along with Johnny Chuckran, Elwood Petchel and Al Bellas. That was the year that Chuckran and Petchel stole into the limelight in the memorable 28-27 West Virginia upset. As for the game that stands out most in my mind," Larry comments now, "it's that '44 Navy game. The Midshipman were in their prime then and they sure poured it on us, 55-14 and worst of all — my mother had to see 'that' game."

COTTON BOWL GAME

After a short stretch with the 8th Army in Japan, Cooney returned to the Nittany Vale to participate with the Hig's undefeated '47 unit. He rose to unprecedented heights in Dallas when he starred in the Petchel-led aerial circus. He was on the receiving end of one of 'lil Elwood's heaves with less than a minute to go before halftime to score the initial tally for the Blue and White in that memorable 13-13 tie with S.M.U.

Larry and 'Petch' have a lot more than that in common. Both pledged and were initiated into PiKA fraternity at the same time and both are ardent golf enthusiasts. When he can find time Larry likes to shoot a round of golf, scoring in the low 90's. It's a dog eat dog affair when the duo of Scherer and Cooney meets Simon and Petchel on the golf links.

"They should have a good team next year," Larry tells, "the boys will miss the Hig. He was a great guy. The first string will be tops but there'll be little depth in the replacements."

EAST-WEST TUSSELE

Larry bowed out of the collegiate grid picture last New Year's Day on the West Coast when he participated in the East-West All Star game. Alternating with Columbia's Lou Kusserow, Cooney helped the eastern gridders to eke out a 14-12 decision.

Undecided as what to do after graduation next month, Cooney might enter a pro grid career. His mentor for the past four years, backfield coach Al Michaels stated, "he is an exceptionally talented player and his chances in pro ball are very good."

Colgate Host to Wernermen As Lions Seek Second Victory

Fresh from its fine showing in the Penn Relays, the Penn State track team invades Hamilton, New York, this weekend to battle with the Colgate Red Raiders.

The meet will be the first dual contest of the season for the Nittany Lions and their last prior to the meeting with the strong Michigan State cindermen on New Beaver Field next Saturday.

Coaches Chick Werner and Norm Gordon and a squad of 30 men will make the trip to Colgate, leaving the Corner Room at 1 p.m. today.

The Red Raiders will be seeking their second victory of the season, having taken the meas-ing performers in the persons of By Kellam who won both hurdle events at Amherst and Harry Albeltin, who set a new record at the Penn Relays Saturday in the shot put.

SWEEP 440

The New Yorkers also showed great strength in the 440 yard dash at the Amherst meet, sweeping all three places.

Although subject to change, Coach Werner has selected the following line-up for the meet:

George Thomas and Bob Giron will compete for the Lions in both the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash. For Giron it will be the first start of the year while Thomas has been one of the Wernermen's mainstays in the sprint division all season.

The trio of Bill Lockhart, Bob Bour and John McCall will attempt to win the 440-yard dash for the Nittany Lions. The 830-yard dash will see Bob Auman, Paul Koch and Jack Stevenson in action.

Bob Freebairn, a member of the quartet that won the four mile relay title at the Penn Relays, will head the one milers on Saturday. His partners will be Bob Parsons, Bill Borck (who has been steadily improving) and John Bates.

Victory in the two mile run will be the objective of John St. Clair, Al Porto and Bill Ashenfelter, the latter also a member of the four mile relay team at the Penn Relays.

Penn State's only entry in the 120-yard high hurdles will be Leon Cotterell while George Kline and Jim Gehrdes will attempt to pick up the marbles in the 220-yard low hurdles. Gehrdes will attempt to add another victory to the string he has collected this season at Annapolis, April 23, where he won both hurdle events and at the Penn Relays where he came within one-tenth of a second of the record in the invitational 120-yard high hurdles.

FIELD EVENTS

Turning to the field events, Ron Coder and Merle Sieber will be the Lion entries in the pole vault. Vic Fritts will be out to repeat his win at Annapolis in the high jump along with Bill Reynolds. Reynolds is also scheduled to participate in the broad jump along with George Thomas.

Doug Shearer, Chuck Drazenovitch, Bob Krayer and Tom McDermott will hurl the shot put in an attempt to stop the victory string of Colgate's Harry Albeltin. McDermott, Buck Moyer and Max Schlienger will toss the discus for State.

Penn State's hopes in the javelin will be carried by veteran Larry Gerwig and newcomer Bill White.

ure of Amherst 72 to 58 April 23. Coach John Rourke's squad took 10 of 15 events and were led by Captain Jack Shulze, ace sprinter, who captured the 100-yard dash in 9.9 and the 200-yard dash in 22.1. He did the century here last year in 9.5.

In addition to Schulze, the Raiders boast several other outstand-
