

Riley Urges Seniors to Join Alumni Group, Get Benefits

Graduating seniors are being invited to join the Penn State Alumni Association, by Ridge Riley, executive secretary, and Ross Lehman, assistant executive secretary.

Letters explaining the benefits of the Association membership have been mailed to all seniors, with membership blanks and return envelopes enclosed.

Annual memberships are $3 for the first five years after graduation, $4 for the next five, and $5 a year for more than 10. Life memberships are now $40 cash, or $44 if paid in annual installments of $11.

Life Membership

After July 1, however, the Life membership will be increased to $50, or five annual $11 installments. Annual membership costs will not be changed.

Subscriptions to The Alumni News, a magazine published seven times yearly, and to The Football Letter, printed after each game, are included in the membership fee. All alumni, whether Association members or not, receive The Penn Stater, a quarterly newspaper.

Ticket Priority

Paid-up members receive first priority on football tickets, for both home and away games.

Alumni District Clubs (57 in number, in all parts of the state and 12 other states) participate actively in local community as well as Penn State affairs. They bring the College to their members through campus movies and College speakers.

There is no deadline for beginning a membership in the Association, although the Alumni office is conducting its campaign for new members during this week before finals.

State run in the eighth inning. He smacked a hit down the right field line for a round-tripper.

Miller got himself in hot water in the third inning, but the Bedenkmen tightened their defense and no damage was done. The Nittany righthander walked both Susko and Ford, and allowed each to advance a base on his own mishap. Susko was caught at the plate on Tegtmeier's throw, and Matthews hit to Tocci, who turned the roller into a twin killing.

Trustees Okay 3 Retirements

The retirement of three faculty members, each with about 30 years of service, was approved at the weekend meeting of the Executive Committee of the College Board of Trustees.

Retiring with the rank of professor emeritus of machine design is Louis J. Bradford who joined the faculty in 1919. John B. R. Dickey, professor of agronomy extension, will retire with emeritus rank after spending 30 years at the College.

On the faculty since 1919, George F. Mitch, associate professor of economics, also will retire.

Boyd Resigns

The resignations of Joseph H. Boyd, professor of vegetable gardening extension, and of Dr. Orman E. Street, professor of agronomy, were reported.

The trustees approved sabbatical leaves for Dr. Chester D. Dahle, professor of dairy manufacture; W. R. Gordon, professor of rural sociology extension; Dr. James J. Reid, professor of bacteriology.

Leaves were approved for Dr. Herbert Steiner, associate professor of German, and for Dr. John M. Andeson, associate professor and acting head of the department of philosophy. Doctor Steiner will teach at Queens College, New York. Doctor Andeson is writing a book.

Dutt Promoted

James O. Dutt was promoted from assistant professor to associate professor of vegetable gardening extension, effective June 16.

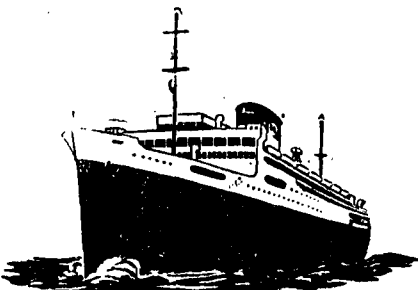

Announcement was made of the appointment of Carroll L. Key, Jr., chief electronics engineer with Finch Telecommunications, Inc., to the position of associate professor of engineering research in the Ordnance Research Laboratory. Key is a graduate of Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas, and has been on the staff at the University of Texas.

Penn State Club To Present Award

The Penn State Club will present an award to the "outstanding independent senior man." The student chosen will receive a plaque at his graduation exercises. The announcement will be made Friday.

The Club has nominated twelve men for the award, and the final decision will be made by A. R. Warnock, Dean of Men, George Donovan, Director of Student Unions, and George Chapman, IFC President.

"Good Neighbor" service by the S. S. BRAZIL, S. S. URUGUAY and S. S. ARGENTINA was originally established to stimulate better acquaintance with the lands and peoples of South America. This announcement is in keeping with that purpose—designed to make it easier for students and teachers from the United States to visit the nations of our great sister continent.

The special reduction will be made available only to those who supply credentials of eligibility and will apply to minimum-fare First Class accommodations and Cabin Class accommodations only. It will be offered through the Summer vacation period, and to members of the teaching profession on sabbatical leave through the December 2, 1949 sailing.

In addition to applying to 38-Day Cruises, the special fare reduction will also be offered with 2 and 4-week stopovers. Arrangements permit a 2-week stopover at any South American port or two 2-week stopovers at two different ports; all-inclusive rates including hotel accommodations for the stopover periods are being established.
