

Class Picks Leading Seniors

Cabinet Approves Tribunal, Judicial

All-College Cabinet, in its last meeting of the semester, last night approved the nominees to Judicial and Tribunal proposed by the Cabinet committee. This committee, consisting of Harold Brown, former Tribunal chairman; Ted Allen, All-College president; Elizabeth Taylor, former Judicial chairman; and Janet Lyons, WSGA president, submitted their recommendations to Cabinet.

Robert Keller and Constance Croushore were named chairmen of Tribunal and Judicial, respectively. Tribunal members will be: James Agre, Charles Cialella, George Dallas, Richard Hollander, James Richards, Neil See, and Edward Sykes.

Named to Judicial were Gay Brunner, Patricia Carlisle, Rose Eifert, Marilyn Guillet, Jessica Lightner, Lucille Philips, and Helen Pond. Under the All-College constitution, all students are accountable to Tribunal or Judicial for their behavior, but may appeal decisions of these bodies to the All-College Cabinet for final judgment.

Cabinet discussed the proposed train to the Army game at West Point next October 1, and approved the continuance of negotiations with the Pennsylvania Railroad. Due to lack of knowledge on student opinion, the suggestion to take the one half-holiday on that weekend was tabled.

Acting on information brought forward by La Vie editor Ramon Saul, the Cabinet voted to allow an increase in the semester assessment to $2, on a six semester basis, or $1.50 on an eight semester basis. This added cost has been necessitated by greatly in-

Blue Band Holds Outdoor Concert

In keeping with the warm spring weather, the Penn State Concert Blue Band will present its annual outdoor concert in front of Schwab Auditorium at 3:30 Sunday. "However, in case of rain it will be held in Schwab," said James W. Dunlop, conductor.

The concert, opening with the "Star Spangled Banner," will continue with Belsterling's "March of the Steel Men." The third work on the program is the "Raymond Overture" by Thomas. Changing the military mood the band will play "Willow Echoes," by Simon, with Eugene Golla as the cornet soloist.

"Wings of Victory," by Ventre, will be followed by Sigmund Romberg's "Lover, Come Back to Me."

The seventh selection will be a fast and brilliant number "Broadcast from Brazil," by Bennett. Fillmore's "Men of Ohio" is next on the program.

Another well-known Romberg piece, "The Student Prince" will be followed by "Comandant" by Guntzel.

Rachmaninoff's lively "Italian Polka" will be another bright spot in the program. Swinging into a light Richard Rodgers' number, the band will play "Carousel."

Concluding the concert is the lovely "My Hero" by Johann Strauss.

News and Features

- Forster Goes to Europe... see page 3
- Windcrest Dwellers Protest... see page 3
- Lacrosse Trio in All-Star Game... see page 4
- Week-end Baseball Meets... see page 5
- Freshman Women Return to Campus... see page 7
- Track Meet Saturday... see page 4
- De Sports Results... see page 5

AA Fees May Admit All To First Grid Tilt

Pending completion of plans, admission of students to the Villanova-Penn State football game September 24, before registration, will be covered by the student athletic fee.

Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics at the College, stated yesterday that a plan will be set up during the summer whereby all regularly matriculated students will be admitted to their proper sections for the Villanova game, to be played during Orientation Week.

This plan, he said, probably will provide for picking up admission tickets at the Athletic Association office during the week before the game.

"In no case," Gilbert declared, will a student be refused admission to the game."

He said that 400 student orders for tickets for the Army game October 1 have already been received by the AA office. "This is heavier than we anticipated," he added.

The College has been allotted 10,000 tickets for the Army fray to be played in Mitchie stadium, West Point, N. Y.

APO To Sponsor Clean-Up Program

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, will institute a campus clean-up campaign starting tomorrow.

All students are requested to place waste paper, cigarette wrappers, and other debris in the conveniently located waste cans. During the winter months considerable amounts of unsightly scraps have accumulated around buildings and bushes due to student carelessness.

Alpha Phi Omega member will get the campaign off to a start by clearing the mall on tomorrow morning.

Take Penn State With You

George Chapman, ex-president of the Inter-fraternity Council, is joining the Penn State Alumni Association because "it's more than just a chance to keep in touch with everything that's going on at Penn State."

"Membership in the Association will reveal to the '49 graduate the nation-wide distribution of Penn Staters who have preceded him. AA membership will keep me posted on where Penn Staters are, and how I can contact Nittany alumni groups, no matter what part of the country I'm in."

Lawless Wins Penn State Club Annual Award

Honored as Outstanding Independent Senior

William Lawless, retiring All-College president, will receive the Penn State Club's tenth annual award for "the most outstanding independent senior on campus," Bill Zakor, publicity chairman, announced yesterday.

The award consists of an engraved plaque which will be presented to Lawless on Senior Class Day. His name will also be inscribed on a name plate to remain in the Penn State clubroom, 411 Old Main.

Selection of Lawless was made by a committee consisting of Arthur R. Warnock, dean of men; George Donovan, student union manager; and George Chapman, IFC president. Twelve candidates were submitted for selection by the final selections committee.

"The choice was very difficult this year because of the many outstanding candidates to choose from," said Ernest Sladics, retiring Penn State Club president. "However, I think that the committee made a good choice. Lawless has done a tremendous job at Penn State and should be congratulated," he continued.

Lawless was selected on the basis of his prominence on campus with regards to activities in general and assistance in the protection of the welfare of the independent men.

A student in Arts and Letters, Lawless has majored in sociology. He was chairman of the Cabinet Sophomore Orientation committee and the Cabinet food

(Continued on page eight)

Lawless

Ruhlman, Lyons Named Outstanding Members

See feature on page 2

Terry Ruhlman and Janet Lyons will be honored at Class Day ceremonies with the titles of Spoon Man and Bow Girl, top spots in the senior class balloting for outstanding members. The tabulation shows that about half of the graduating class cast ballots before the deadline last Friday, announced Fritz Sipple, chairman of the Class Day committee.

According to the votes received, Dennie Hoggard was designated

Gilbert Gives West Point Train Schedule

350 Students Must Go; Tentative $20 Fare Set

A plan for transporting at least 350 Penn State students to the Army-Penn State football game October 1, 1949 at West Point, was submitted to Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, yesterday.

As presented by officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the tentative plan would involve a nine-hour layover in New York City and would cost each student about $20 for the train trip.

Tentative train timetable, as released by Gilbert, follows: Leave Bellefonte Central Station, State College, at 11 p. m. Friday, September 30.

Arrive at West Point at 9:20 a. m. Saturday, October 1.

Leave West Point at 5 p. m. Saturday, October 1.

Discharge passengers at 6:30 p. m. Saturday, October 1, at Weehawken, N. J. (Students would take a ferry at Weehawken and cross the Hudson river, arriving at west 42nd street, New York City.)

Pick up passengers and leave from New York City's Pennsylvania Station at 3 a. m., Sunday, October 2.

Arrive at Bellefonte Central Station, State College, at 11 a. m., Sunday, October 2.

Railroad officials stated flatly that the train could not be run if fewer than 350 students are interested. Conversely, they promised added coaches, and an extra train, if student demand warranted.

Cars in the train, as planned by the railroad, would be reclining-seat, air-conditioned coaches with capacity for 60 passengers each.

The tentative $20 cost would include two breakfasts on the train, Saturday and Sunday mornings, October 1 and 2.

Students would be "on their own" for a Saturday night meal and entertainment in New York

(Continued on page eight)

as Barrel Man, John Benglian as Cane Man, Joseph Colone as Pipe Man, and Edmund Walacavage as Class Donor. In the women's balloting, Susan Bissey was named Fan Girl, followed by Marjorie Gorham as Slipper Girl, Lois Heyd, Mirror Girl; Patricia Kinkead, Class Poet; and Frances Keeney, Class Donor.

The committee, consisting of Sipple, William Lawless, George Chapman, Janet Lyons, and Jean Moore, sent out postcard ballots to the men in the senior class, while the women's ballots were distributed through the House of Representatives of WSGA.

In the voting, the five male winners were closely followed by George Bearer, Abram Bosler, Harry Brown, George Chapman,

Janet Lyons Terry Ruhlman

William Lawless, Donald Little, William McLain, and Lew Stone, while the girl's votes were well distributed after the winning six.

The tradition of honoring outstanding seniors for services to their class and to the College goes back to 1914 for the men and 1923 for the women, the original ideas for the designations having come from the New England universities.

The Class Day men and women will have their names printed on the graduation programs with the appropriate titles and will receive tokens of the object they represent.

The main activities for which the winners were elected include: Ruhlman, senior class president; Lion's Paw, varsity basketball; Hoggard, varsity football; Lion's Paw, Druids; Benglian varsity boxing, Skull and Bones, Druids; Colone, varsity football captain; Lion's Paw, Athletic Association president; and Walacavage, All-College secretary-treasurer, Lion's Paw, Skull and Bones.

Watkins Cites Fee Increases

Ray Watkins, College Scheduling Officer, announced yesterday that beginning on September 1, the late registration fee will be raised to $10 and the drop-add fee to $2.

This plan was adopted following publication of the fall semester time table and this announcement thus supercedes announcement of a $5 late registration fee made in the time table.

Reason for the increased fee for late registration and drop-adds is that due to the unprecedented number of students entering school in the Fall, registration must proceed along an orderly and scheduled fashion. Therefore anyone not properly registered by 5 p. m. Tuesday, September 27, will be charged the $10 late fee.

Watkins further declared that registration times as listed in the

(Continued on page three)

Baccalaureate; Commencement

Clausen, Hatcher, Poling To Speak

Baccalaureate services for graduating seniors and their guests will take place in Rec Hall at 11 a. m. June 5. No academic dress is required.

Acting President James Milholland will preside and will introduce the guest speaker, the Rev. Bernard C. Clausen, D.D., pastor of Euclid Avenue Baptist Church in Cleveland, Ohio. Rev. Clausen's sermon topic is "The Baby Who Could Not Cry." Acting Chaplain James Smith will be in charge of the remainder of the program.

Rev. Clausen is not unknown at the College. On various occasions he has addressed Chapel audiences at the College on topics with such unusual titles as "The Time Capsule," "The Claw of the Lobster," and "Intelligent Failure."

A graduate of Colgate University and Union Theological Seminary, Rev. Clausen was a chaplain on the U.S.S. North Carolina in World War I. He made 26 trans-Atlantic trips in troop convoys.

Rev. Clausen, in addition to his clerical duties and lecturing, is the author of numerous religious books and broadcasts regularly over television-FM station WEWS, Cleveland.

Commencement

There will be two complete commencement ceremonies in Rec Hall June 6. The first ceremony, for Liberal Arts, Education, Home Economics and Physical Education students, is scheduled for 10:30 a. m.

All other graduating seniors will graduate at 2:30 p. m. Those who are to receive advanced degrees will attend the ceremony for the schools in which they are taking their degrees.

Tickets for guests may be had by graduating seniors when they get their caps and gowns in the Athletic Store. Three tickets will be given each student. Tickets are required for admission of guests into Rec Hall until ten minutes preceding each ceremony, when admission may be gained without ticket, if seats remain.

According to Prof. Clarence E. Bullinger, College Marshal, (Continued on page eight)