

Burgess Grants Heller Hearing Postponement

Defendant Asks Time To Obtain Counsel

Alvin J. Heller, arts and letters senior, charged with violating a Borough ordinance prohibiting distribution of commercial handbills, yesterday was granted an extension on the hearing of his case by Burgess Albert E. Yougel. The case will be continued in the Borough building at 4:30 p.m. July 5.

Heller is an officer of the Communist Party Student Club of State College.

Heller asked for the extension in order to have time to obtain advice and representation of a lawyer. He said he had been unable to get a lawyer to take his case at the present time.

About 50 students appeared to witness the hearing.

Heller was arrested May 13 on information signed before Burgess, Yougel by Borough Police Chief J. R. Juba. The information charged that Heller had violated Borough Ordinance No. 274 in distributing handbills at the corner of Allen street and College avenue.

Fine for conviction is from $1 to $50, or a sentence of up to 30 days in jail.

The title of the ordinance passed Sept. 21, 1942, says that it prohibits "the distribution of commercial handbills and circulars in the Borough of State College."

Heller said he would fight the case on the basis of Section 2 of the ordinance, which says in part, "Nothing contained in this ordinance shall be deemed * * * to prevent the lawful distribution of anything other than commercial and business advertising matter."

Daniel deMarino, assistant dean of men, represented the dean's office at the hearing.

'OldBook' Drive Begins Tuesday

Boxes will be placed in buildings on campus from Tuesday through Thursday for the collection of books for the library of Vallamor College, 2541 Lico Street, Manila, Philippines.

The colleges in the Philippines suffered severely from the Japanese invasion and occupation. Their financial resources were confiscated, and their English language libraries were destroyed.

In order to meet the need for educational books in the English language all students are urged to contribute.

Boxes will be placed in the main class room buildings as well as in the lobbies of the Central Library and Old Main, in the Temporary Union building and at the entrance of the Rea and Derick Drug Store.

The book drive will be sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu in cooperation with the Penn State Christian Association and Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity.

Merkle Reports Research

Dr. Frederick G. Merkle, professor of soil technology, recently addressed the research session of the National Lime Association at its annual meeting at Hot Springs, Va.

Dr. Merkle reported on results of research being conducted at the College on the nature of acidity and the evaluation of liming materials for soil improvement.

Final Collegian Issue

This issue of the Daily Collegian is the last to be published during the present spring semester, according to Thomas Morgan, editor. Regular publication will be resumed Tuesday, September 27, with special issues September 21 and 23, during Orientation Week.

Summer Collegian will be issued weekly during Main Summer Session, beginning June 29, said Jack Reen, editor. Subscriptions may be mailed to Box 261, with 30 cents enclosed to insure delivery by mail.

Cabinet Backs Special Train For Army Game

Price Set at $14.50 Without Breakfasts

In its final meeting of the academic year Thursday night, All-College Cabinet decided to support the proposal of the Pennsylvania Railroad to send a special train to West Point for the Army game. Each member of Cabinet stated his opinion regarding the sentiments of the group he represented and the consensus was favorable to the proposition.

Cabinet was heavily in favor of the plan whereby no breakfasts would be included in the fare for the trip, reducing the cost from $20 to $14.50. However, the railroad requires a guarantee of 350 riders in order to send the special train.

Correction

Yesterday's Collegian erroneously stated that Richard Hollander and James Agre had been named as Tribunal members. The correct names are David Greenwood, and John Orgo.

Ten Allen, All-College president, made the following appointments at the meeting:

Lois Kenyon and Jack Wallace to the Public Occasions committee; Frank Lucia and George Riggs to the Memorial Day committee; Shirley Gauger and Allen to the Student Welfare committee; Rose Eifert, Dolores Jelacic and James Lindemann as additional members of the Orientation Week committee.

Allen also named Carl Doerling and George Shelley as co-chairmen.

Take Penn State With You . . .

Harold Brown, past chairman of Tribunal, who is joining the Penn State Alumni Association, states his reason: "Every college student makes an investment in education. But there is another precious investment he makes while on the campus—in friendship. I think that membership in the Penn State Alumni Association will be a good way to protect that other investment to insure that it pays a lifetime of dividends. "I believe the Association is the best agency of communication to see that the old memories are kept alive."

Hanged

Timber Paint Recalls Crime

A 38-year-old hangman's noose cast its shadow over State College recently, bringing to mind the trial and conviction of one of the town's earliest "criminals."

Workmen, currently engaged in remodeling the Triangle fraternity house on East Beaver avenue, came across the notation "Bert Delige, hanged May 25, 1911" painted on a timber being removed from the building.

Delige, who allegedly murdered a State College woman, was termed by old timers as a colorful individual and was the subject of many of the "hot-stove" discussions which characterized that era.

Discovery of the painted legend was reported by George Denithorne, State College civil engineer.

IFC To Publish Rushing Book Containing Fraternity Data

The publication staff of the IFC Newsletter is compiling a rushing booklet, "Penn State Fraternities," which will be sent to all incoming men students during the summer.

Richard Curto, editor of the booklet, and of the Newsletter, said that the booklet will contain a host of pictures and is designed to appeal not only to the students, but also to their parents.

An item never before included in a rushing manual from the College will be a feature entitled "Religion at Penn State."

The publication will contain 48 pages and will include such features as "Letter from the President," and a Foreword by Dean Warnock. A two-page lay-out on "Why Join Fraternities" and another of the same size called "What Is IFC?" will entail many photos. A section will feature pictures of every fraternity house at the College, and a pencil sketch of a map showing their locations.

Copies of the booklet will be sent to every man who will enter the College in the fall, regardless of interest in fraternities, or expressed desire to pledge. In the past distribution was made only to those men who had made known this desire.

In addition copies will be sent to all centers of the College, fraternity advisors, each chapter at the College and their national offices.

Over 3500 copies will be printed during the summer, said Curto, and distribution will be made prior to Orientation Week.

Jack Lapos, Theta Xi, was named editor of the Interfraternity Council Newsletter for 1949-1950, Curto, retiring editor, announced yesterday.

A sixth semester journalism student, Lapos formerly served as news editor of the Newsletter. He has also worked with the Daily Collegian and Froth as well as being secretary of Theta Xi.

fers when Acting President James H. Milholland will welcome the new students. Kenworthy, new dean of men, and the deans of the various schools will be introduced and will give short speeches. An entertainment program, including selections by Prof. Hummel Fishburn, head of the music department, will also be presented.

On September 21, Shirley Gauger president of Women's Student Government Association, and other representatives of that group will meet new women students in Schwab Auditorium from 7 to 8 p.m.

Following this meeting, another of the highlights of the week's program will take place at Beaver Field at 8:15 p.m. when All-College Cabinet will hold its mixer for all new students. At this time new students will be indoctrinated with aspects of the leading student organizations and the rules and regulations that will govern them.

All-College President Ted Allen will explain the governmental and political setup on campus. Short talks will also be given by William Prosser and Rose Eifert, presidents of independent men and women, respectively.

Campus publications will present a short skit by representatives of the Daily Collegian, Froth, Critique and the Engineer, followed by a short talk by Thomas

Kenneth Carter, Nittany Dorm 29, won $25 in prizes for two photographs that took first and second place in the Alumni Association photography contest.

A picture entitled "Windcrest Kid" won the first prize of $15, and another called "College Days" took the second prize of $10.

William Coleman won the third prize of $5 for a photograph entitled "Library Scene."

These three photos along with some of the other photos submitted in the contest will be displayed in the 1950 Alumni Calendar which will contain about 55 pictures of College life.

Ross Lehman, assistant executive secretary of the Alumni Association, expressed his thanks to students participating in the contest and pointed out that he is still interested in obtaining pictures of campus life.

The judges for the contest were Louis H. Bell, director of public information, Robert Beese and Edward Leos, College photographers.

Allen Morgan

Morgan, editor of the Daily Collegian. In case of rain, the mixer will be held in Rec Hall.

On September 22, two separate meetings, one in the Pollock Union Building for residents of Nittany dorms and the other in Schwab Auditorium for all women students, will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. The Penn State Christian Association will hold its mixer in front of Old Main at 8:15 p.m. This will be another highlight in the program and an entertainment program is being planned. In case of bad weather, the mixer will be held in the Temporary Union building.

On Friday, September 23, the Hat Societies Council has planned a pep rally in front of the Lion Shrine from 7 to 7:30 p.m. with the cheerleaders taking part. Residents of Pollock dorms will meet

Council Plans Flash Cards

Improvement of the flash-card system at home football games is the aim of present Hat Societies Council plans, according to Thomas Morgan, president.

The new plan of operation will be put to use next fall at three home games—Boston College, October 8; Nebraska, October 16; and Syracuse, October 29.

Tentative plans call for converting one section of sophomores into card-flashers, Morgan said. This would be a section near the center of the curve in the U-shaped stands yet to be completed.

Harold R. Gilbert, graduate manager of athletics, said yesterday that seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen—in that order—would be seated from the 50-yard line in the east stands, north to a point that is virtually the entire distance around the U-curve stands.

Morgan stated that the flash-card section will probably consist of 30 rows of 22 seats each. A system of 30 row captains, to be selected from member of Blue Key, Parmi Nous, Skull and Bones and Druids, will control card-flashing. Row captains will be appointed before the end of final week, he said.

Dorms, Dining Halls List Opening Dates

College dining halls will open for freshmen September 19 and for sophomores September 21. Mrs. Edith M. Johnson, assistant supervisor of dining hall, announced yesterday.

All dormitories will open for returning students at 9 a.m. September 24. The first meal in dining Commons for these students will be at noon that day.

All students will complete the final phase registration for the fall term September 26 and 27 according to the alphabetical order listed in the time table.

The first athletic contest of the school year will be a home football game with Villanova September 24.

Banner To Take Leave

Franklin Banner, head of the department of journalism, will leave this country early in July for a research trip to South America, Australia and New Zealand.

Professor Banner was granted a six-months leave of absence by the Board of Trustees for a study of the press of those countries.
