Oliver To Head Speech Dept. In September

Executive Committee Confirms Appointment

Robert T. Oliver, author, educator, and public relations counsellor, will succeed John H. Frizzell, retired, as head of the department of speech, effective September 1, James Milholland, acting president, announced yesterday.

His appointment has been confirmed by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees. The new appointee, who opened the 1949 Liberal Arts lecture series February 24 with an address on Korea, has headed the Washington bureau of the Korean Pacific Press since 1947 and also has served as counsellor to the Korean Commission.

Served at Syracuse

Previously, he had served from 1944 to 1947 as chairman of the department of rhetoric and public address at Syracuse University, and from 1937 to 1942 as chairman of the speech division at Bucknell University. He was a guest lecturer at the University of Korea, Seoul, in 1946, and at the Asia Institute in 1948.

A native of Sweet Home, Ore., Oliver was graduated from Pacific University in 1932, earned his master's degree at the University of Oregon, and his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin. He served as dean of Clark Junior College, Vancouver, Wash., and as an assistant professor of speech at Bradley Polytechnic Institute.

He has authored many books in the speech field, among them Training for Effective Speech, Developing Ideas, Essentials of Communicative Speech, and Psychology of Persuasive Speech, and he also has written extensively on Korea under topics such as Korea, Forgotten Nation, Divided Korea: Its Economic Potentials, Resources and Needs, and Case for Korea.

The conference is sponsored by the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Extension Service.

IM Doubles Teams Advance in Tourney

Four doubles teams have advanced to the fifth round in the IM tennis tournament and one has gone to the final round.

Tom Jenkins and Russ Marker of Phi Sigma Kappa gained their fifth round position by beating Bill Nichols and Dick Black of Lambda Chi Alpha 8-6, 7-5. Al Fessler and Dave Jones of Alpha Chi Sigma defeated Terry Wolf and Sid Gold of Alpha Epsilon Pi, 6-1 and 6-3. Russ Leib and Dick Fleming, Delta Upsilon ran over Gil Welsh and John Wallace of Delta Tau Delta, 6-2, 6-1.

Bill Mallory and Mark Borland of Phi Gamma Delta scored a victory over Ted Weidenman and Don Atwood of Sigma Nu, 6-1 6-1.

Fessler and Jones qualified for the final round play by sticking a 6-3, 6-0 defeat on Jenkins and Marker.

Fessler and Jones will meet the winner of the Leib-Fleming, Mallory-Borland match for the fraternity doubles championship.

Kelly Publishes Text

"Teaching Posture and Body Mechanics," a textbook by Dr. D. Kelly, assistant professor of physical education at the College, has been published by A. S. Barnes and Co.

The book is a non-technical presentation to help elementary teachers, health and physical education teachers, and parents to stimulate children to want better posture.

Much of the material for the text is based on a relatively pioneering program conducted several years ago by Dr. Kelly in the public schools of Williamsport. At the present time, Dr. Kelly is conducting a class for town and rural children on the campus and classes for three groups of children in the Harris Township schools.

Prof Serves on UN Committee

Dr. N. B. Guerrant, professor of agricultural and biological chemistry at the College, has been invited to serve as a member of a committee on vitamin standards of the United Nations World Health Organization.

The invitation came from Dr. Brock Chisholm, Director General. The committee will begin its deliberations at the Medical Research Center in London, England, on April 26. Dr. Guerrant will leave New York by plane on April 23.

at the PUB at 7:30 p.m. and WRA will hold an open house for women in White Hall at the same hour.

Registration will proceed as scheduled throughout Friday and until noon September 24. Prior to registration, health examinations, psychology tests and the English placement tests, plus meetings with counsellors and department advisors, will be held from Monday to Thursday.

A football game with Villanova and a mixer-dance at the TUB will highlight the Saturday afternoon and evening program.

The Orientation Chapel service will be held in Schwab Auditorium at 11 a.m. on Sunday. The speaker will be announced later.

The Inter-Religious Council will hold a union service for all new students in the auditorium at 8 o'clock that night, to formally conclude the Orientation Week program.

It is expected that approximately 1250 women, including 500 frosh, and 2450 sophomore men will register in the day-and-a-half scheduled for this procedure.

Freshmen women will report to the campus September 18, and will meet with Dean Pearl Weston in Schwab Auditorium at 8 p.m. They will meet with Dean Weston again in the auditorium from 7 to 8 p.m. September 19.

The School of Home Economics will hold a tea for Home Economics freshmen in the Home Economics building at 8 p.m. that night.

Orientation week plans were made by a faculty-administration-student committee. In addition, Mr. Kenworthy, it included faculty and administration representatives, the All-College president, and the presidents of WSGA, PSCA, IFC, the junior class, and the editor of the Daily Collegian.

Collegian Wins Ad Trophy

Excellence in research earned the Daily Collegian award of honorable mention, 1949 college newspaper competition, according to a letter received by James H. Milholland, acting president, from V. Ward Canale of the National Advertising Service.

The award places the Daily Collegian in a high standing among daily college newspapers throughout the country in advertising research.

Competition was established by the National Advertising Service to "foster high standards of college journalism in keeping with the important part college newspapers play in representing the colleges at which they are published. Leading advertising and advertising agencies have supported the competition as instrumental in training college students in sound business journalistic practices."

The prize won by the Daily Collegian is an engraved silver trophy.
