

Good Record

Cy Miller's two mound victories in the District 2 baseball play-offs at Brooklyn brought his 1949 record to 9 wins and two defeats. The long, lean Millerburg righthander won four and lost one as a sophomore in 1948

Eastern Champs

CHUCK DRAZENOVICH

BILLY MEADE

HOMER BARR

Penn State's three Eastern champions of the winter sports' season are pictured above. Drazenovich nabbed a revenge win from Syracuse's Marty Crandall to cop the Intercollegiate Boxing Association heavyweight crown for the second year. Meade successfully defended his tumbling title for the second time in the Eastern gymnastic run-offs, while Barr, who placed fourth nationally, won top honors in the unlimited class in the wrestling tourney at Ithaca, N. Y.

Main Session Tourneys Begin Action Monday

Tournaments in golf, softball and tennis are scheduled to start Monday, according to C. M. "Dutch" Sykes, Main Session director of recreation.

Entries for the golf and tennis tournaments will be held open until Friday, while softball registration closed yesterday afternoon.

The ticket booth at the entrance to New Beaver Field will be open for the remainder of the week for tennis entries, while golfers may sign up for the links tourney at the Caddy House, across the highway from the first tee.

There is no charge for either the softball or tennis tournaments, but a one dollar entry fee, in addition to the ten dollar greens' fee, is being charged for participants in the golf tourney.

Included in the twenty-team entry list for the Main Session softball league are Alpha Chi Sigma, Beaver House, Delta Chi, Delta Upsilon, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Kappa, Phi Kappa Sigma, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Pi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Triangle and Zeta Beta Tau.

Intellectuals, Newman Club, Nittany Co-op, Old Men, Red Valley, Windjammers, Winners and Yahoo's are also listed for play in the league.

Games will be played twice a week, with the opening games slated for New Beaver Field Monday evening.

Both Right-Handers

Cy Miller, of Millersburg, Pa., and Al Tkac, of McKeesport, Pa., were the pitching aces of the Penn State baseball team.

Rec Slate Continues With Outdoor Show

"Stagecoach," starring John Wayne and Claire Trevor has been selected as the first movie to be shown in the outdoor amphitheatre, located at the Pugh St. entrance to the campus. The movie will be shown tomorrow at 9 p. m., and is the first in a series of five Hollywood films that will be played during Main Session.

In case of rain, the film can be seen in Schwab auditorium. Admission is free.

Friday from 9 to 12 p. m., Gene Booth's orchestra will be featured in a dance at the Temporary Union Building. Admission to this event is 50 cents.

The first "Fun Night" is on tap for Saturday from 8 to 11 p. m., in Recreation Hall. Cards, dancing, volleyball, shuffleboard, badminton and ping pong are included on the entertainment list. This event is also admission-free.

Monday, the third group sing is slated for Schwab Auditorium, while the second event in the Summer Artists Course is set for Tuesday evening in Schwab.

Sidelights ...

MAKE U. S. TEAM

Horace Ashenfelter and Curt Stone, who with Gerry Karver gave Penn State one of the nation's top distance threesomes, have been named to the United States track team which will tour Europe this summer. Ashenfelter, last of the three to graduate, qualified for his degree earlier this month.

OLDEST SPORT

Baseball is the oldest sport on the Penn State agenda. The diamond sport, coached for the last 19 years by Joe Bedenk, got its start in 1875, while the first official football game was not played until 1887.

STEEL WORKER

Line-busting Franny Rogel, the Lions' dynamic fullback, won't let up during the summer. Rogel, who considers a day lost if he doesn't work out at least an hour, has landed a job in the steel mills near his North Braddock home.

FOUR NEWCOMERS

Four newcomers are on the schedule of the 1949 football team. Villanova, Boston College and Nebraska will be played on New Beaver Field, while Army's Black Knights will play host to the Nittanians at West Point.

CO-CAPTAINS

Co-Captains will be in command of three sports at Penn State in 1949-50. Football's co-leaders are Negley Norton, of Altoona, and Bob Hicks, of Lancaster, while the captains-elect of lacrosse are Ed Belfield, of Swarthmore, and Bob Louis, of Philadelphia. Tennis was the third team to choose co-captains, naming Bill Aiken, of Pittsburgh, and Owen Landon, Jr., of Williamsport.

300 HITTERS BACK

Four of Penn State's six 300 hitters will be back for the 1950 baseball season. The returnees and their 1949 batting averages are Clarence Buss, Milton, .357; Jack Kurty, Ludlow, Mass., .311; Dick Wertz, Newport, .310; and Bill Bair, Williamsport, .300. Buss and Kurtz are catchers, Wertz is first baseman and captain-elect, and Bair is a pitcher.

OLD RIVALS

The University of Pittsburgh and U. S. Military Academy are the oldest opponents on the 1949 Penn State football schedule. But whereas Penn State and Pitt have clashed 48 times since 1893, the Lions and Cadets have collided only three times since 1899. Penn State won its first game against Army, and the two games since ended in stalemates.

ON ROGEL

Penn State's hard hitting fullback, Francis Rogel, of North Braddock, apparently is headed for a modern Lion record in ground-gaining. In 1947, the Cotton Bowl game included, Rogel chewed off 649 yards in ten starts, and last year his yardage mounted to 602 in nine games. As a freshman and varsity fullback, he has participated in only one losing game during his last three seasons.

WELL-TRAINED

Elmer Gross, who'll make his debut as Penn State basketball coach in 1950, gained his major experience as player and coach under his predecessor, John Lawther. The 32-year-old Gross, who soon will qualify for his doctorate degree from the University of Pittsburgh, played on Lawther's top teams in the 1940-1942 period, and joined his mentor again as a coaching aide in 1945. Gross won the Purple Heart during amphibious landings in France in 1944.
