AIM, Penn State Club Open Doors to Independent Men

Never before in the history of men.

AIM, which is not yet one year he College have independent old, is one of the successors to the control of the successor of the control of the succe the College have independent

To insure just representation on All-College Cabinet, the highest student governmental organization on campus, independents last year banded themselves together into an Association of Independent Men (AIM).

AIM functions through an elect-dependent Men (AIM).

AIM functions through an elected council of 76 men, approximately one repsesentative for mately one repsesentative for mately one repsesentative for council representative.

Resembles IFC

This council, similar in many ways to the Interfraternity Council which represents fraternity men, elects a five-man executive committee composed of a presimen, elects a five-man executive committee composed of a president, town vice-president (elect-hikes, picnics, and dances, as well hikes, picnics, and dances, as well ed by students living off campus), as joint activities with Philotes, independent women's organization. rice president (elected by students living in dormitories on tion. campus), treasurer, and secre-

The president of AIM takes his seat on All-College Cabinet as representative of all independent

For LUNCH

lt's

FRED'S RESTAURANT

men, those not affiliated with any fraternity, had such an opportunity to express themselves both politically and socially.

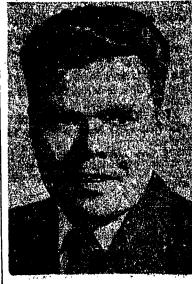

To insure just representation on All-College Cabinet, the highwomen.

Members of the AIM council are elected by wards in town, and by dormitories on campus. Every independent man is locat-

In addition to these planned get-togethers for members only, each year the club sponsors an All-College Talent Show in Schwab auditorium with cash prizes for the winners, and names Blue Band the Independent Man of the Year. Last year's winner was All-Col-lege President William Lawless.

College Publications

Band Director

James W. Dunlop

Holds Tryouts

lege President William Lawless.
Inframurals

The PSC is also active in intramural sports, entering teams or individuals in the great majority of events listed on the sports card.

Membership is open to all independent men who wish to join. They may do so by signing up in the club room, 321 Old Main, on dates to be announced in subsequent issues of The Daily Collegian. There is a small initiation fee and a similar monthly fee.

Eight Campus Publications Offer Opportunities for Aspiring Writers

Aspiring writers on the Penn State campus are assured of opportunities to express their literary spirit, whether it be in the field of newswriting, humor, science, or serious fiction.

Eight publications, ranging from the laughter-provoking Froth, College humor magazine, to the Penn State Engineer, organ of the School of Engineering, are open to interested students.

For would-be Peglers and Wil-Collegian, daily campus news-Chi. paper, is probably one of the best Newest of College publications pagers constitute the weekly out-gineer.

Admittance to the staff is gained by attending candidete meetings, dates of which will be announced in later issues of the Collegian. Promotion is on the basis of merit, with interest and journalistic ability being the prime requisites. Promotion to senior board, which conducts the operation and output of the paper, board, which conducts the board, which conducts the paper, it in and output of the paper, carries with it monetary remunof the publication board has not yet been decided.

pration.

Froth, the College's lone humor magazine, specializes in humorous fiction, jokes, cartoons, and photo-fiction, jokes, cartoons, and photo-fiction in the inner workings are publication last year.

Students who completed their published during the school year, each issue ranging in size from 24 to more than 40 pages.

The Penn State Engineer, one of the highest-rated collegiate engineering magazines in the nation, is published monthly by students of the School of Enginering. In contrast to the Daily Collegian and Froth, which are open to students from any schools of the College, places on the staff of the Engineer are open only to students registered in the School

Students who completed their freshman year with an average of less than .50 are this year being aided through the new Division of Intermediate Registration, under direction of Dean of Men H. K. Approximately 350 sophomores are now enrolled in the Division, which grew out of a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees in April 1949.

When a student is admitted to the Division, he is given a battery to students interested in writing serious literary fiction. Unlike Froth, Critique aims not for the humorous, but to develop budding writers of artistic ability.

Critique is operated on the same principle as Froth, with promotions and monetary returns almost identical.

Late AP News Indict Robeson Ric NEW YORK—Six personations and monetary returns almost identical.

icens and monetary returns almost identical.

Who's Who
Who's Who
Who's Who in the News at Penn
State is a booklet published once a year by the members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism honorary, and contains information about those students the selection committee feels worthy to be honored for outstanding extra-curricular activities and service to the College.

Students to be honored are hotified by letter. The editor is

The state of the s

liam Allen White's. The Daily always a member of Sigma Delta stepping-stones to journalistic is the Penn State Farmer, organ of the School of Agriculture. The The Collegian is published five Farmer, whose first issue will apdays a week, Tuesday through pear this Fall, is a magazine Saturday inclusive. Normally four similar in many ways to its sister four-page issues and two eight-publication, The Penn State En-

New Publication

fiction, jokes, cartoons, and photographs. Its inner workings are similar to those of the Daily Collegian, with candidates, a sophomore, junior, and senior board making up the staff. Promotions are handled in much the same way as those on the daily newspaper, and on Froth, too, election to senior board brings with it the promise of fiscal income. To Aid Students Of .50 Average of the Engineer are open only to students registered in the School of Engineering. Promotion is obtained in the same way as on the other two publications, but none of the positions, including that of editor, brings with it pay for the job.

For the benefit of incoming freshmen and sophomores, each year a Student Handbook is published. Copies of this year's hand-

For the benefit of incoming freshmen and sophomores, each year a Student Handbook is published. Copies of this year's handbook are now available in the offices of the Penn State Christian Association, 301 Old Main.

Calls for candidates for next year's handbook staff wil be made about the middle of this, the Fall semester. The retiring staff chooses the members who will edit next year's issue. There are no paid positions on the Student Handbook staff.

no paid positions on the Student Handbook staff.

The Interfraternity Council is represented in the list of College publications by its own paper, the IFC Newsletter.

The Newsletter.

The Newsletter is published biweekly and is sent, free, to each of the fraternities represented in the IFC. Only fraternity men are eligible to work on the Newsletter staff. The positions of editor, managing editor, and news editor are paid for out of funds allotted by the Council.

Critique is the College's answer to students interested in writing serious literary factor.

Indict Robeson Rioters

NEW YORK—Six persons have been indicted in connection with the riot at the Paul Robeson con-cert in Peekskill early this month

ATTENTION!

FRATERNITIES - HOTELS CHURCHES - RESTAURANTS INSTITUTIONS

HERE'S WHAT YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR!

BROS. VEISS

Harrisburg, Pa.

One of Pennsylvania's Outstanding Equipment Houses Brings You an Exhibition of Kitchen & Dining Room Equipment & Supplies

IT'S BIG - IT'S WORTHWHILE - IT'S FOR YOU!

... And It's Right On Your Own Doorstep

State College, Pa.

112 East College Ave.

Sept. 21 - 22 - 23 - 24

Hours 1 P.M. to 9 P.M. Saturday 9 A.M. to 2 P.M.

You'll see Hobart Dishwashers, Mixers, Peelers (in actual operation) Garland Ranges - Pitco Frialators - Sinks - Worktables - Steam Tables - Griddles - Toastmaster Products - Carr China - Corning and Libby Glassware — International Silverware — Tables—Chairs—Booths. Wearever Utensils

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN NEW IDEAS-MODERN METHODS-LABOR SAVING EQUIPMENT . . .

DON'T MISS IT!

No Obligation \ Of Course

COME IN AND REGISTER FOR VALUABLE DOOR PRIZE . . .