

US Harvests Second Largest Record Crop

WASHINGTON — This year's national harvest crop will be second only to last year's record output, according to the Department of Agriculture. The corn crop is estimated at nearly three and one-half million bushels, a surplus size crop which may lead to government crop controls next year. Larger than average crops of wheat, oats, soybeans, tobacco and other products are expected, as well as a record rice crop.

Atom Bomb

WASHINGTON—A House committee was warned yesterday by Captain J. H. Sides, a Navy weapons expert, against pinning American security on the atom bomb and heavy bombers alone. Navy Commander Eugene Tatom stated that the atomic bomb is not as effective as is popularly believed, but Representative Chet Hollifield, a member of the Congressional Atomic Committee said Tatom's estimate of the bomb was based on obsolete standards—the bombs dropped on Japan.

Truman Greets Nehru

WASHINGTON — President Truman yesterday greeted Prime Minister Nehru of India at the Washington airport. Nehru is in the United States for a one-month visit.

Horts Expect Huge Turnout

The 36th annual Hort Show, scheduled to run Saturday and Sunday, will attract nearly 10,000 visitors, according to John Nezaros, publicity chairman.

The show will be dedicated as a posthumous honor to Dr. Earle I. Wilde, professor emeritus of ornamental horticulture, who died two weeks ago.

The honor is being given Dr. Wilde in recognition of accomplishments in the development of the All-American test gardens at the College and for his work in improving the field of floriculture.

One of the features of the show is a fullscale, completely landscaped homesite. There will also be more than a thousand potted flowers, about 40 different vegetables, ready for picking, and an educational display on uses of Pennsylvania apples.

A refreshment booth, operated by coeds, will be opened during the show to sell College apples, cider and donuts.

Officers of the Hort Club include president, John W. Early; vice-president, Robert Eshleman; secretary, Marjorie Land; and treasurer, Robert J. Calhoun.

The show will start at 9 a.m. Saturday morning and will remain open until 11 p.m. Sunday it will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Today . . .

The Nittany Lion Roars

For FROTH, celebrating its forty-first consecutive issue. Froth went on sale in town and campus yesterday.

Enthusiastic reports on the contents of this month's laugh-fest, and not a few of the gags, are being heard from Old Main to Ag Hill. From the comic cover which features a beleaguered senior returning to his favorite alma mater, to "Old Mania," which brings the issue to a close, it is packed with traditional Froth humor.

Congratulations on another great job well done.

Prof Travels In Europe

Arthur C. Cloetingh

Mayor Hosts Drama Prof

Arthur C. Cloetingh, professor of dramatics at the College, who is travelling in Europe under a Rockefeller Foundation grant, recently was entertained by the Lord Mayor of Birmingham.

A picture from a Birmingham newspaper shows Professor Cloetingh with the Lord Mayor, the Lady Mayoress, and Mayor H. D. Caro, of Hamilton, New Zealand.

Professor Cloetingh had just seen three performances at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, Stratford-on-Avon, the Birmingham Mail reports, "and the Mayor of Hamilton, who had also seen a performance, compared reactions with him. The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress balanced their immediate interest in the Bard with personal reminiscences of their friend, George Bernard Shaw."

Students Solicit Sports Donations

One-dollar contributions toward athletic scholarships currently are being solicited on campus by various student groups.

The scholarships are sponsored by the Pittsburgh Alumni Association, and the contributions, in the form of Scholar-Grams, will go for scholarships in all 16 sports at the College.

In the future, representatives of the program will speak at fraternity houses in an effort to obtain subscriptions to the scholarship fund. Al Michaels, backfield football coach, is in charge of the campaign in which several student groups are expected to cooperate.

College Replaces Missing Plaque

Once more, a wound inflicted on a campus memorial by pranksters has been treated by the College Physical Plant.

The latest treatment took place yesterday when a new plaque was placed on the boulder which commemorates the old Stone Quarry from which stone was taken for Old Main in 1857.

The boulder is situated in the outdoor auditorium which is across the walk from the Textile building.

The old plaque, which was smaller than the new one, was missing since last fall.

Inscribed upon the plaque is "From this spot was taken the stone for Old Main 1857. Marked by the class of 1911."

Esquisse Club

The Esquisse Club, architectural society on campus, elected the following officers at its meeting last Thursday night.

Robert Tintsman, president; Dan Kisler, vice-president; Shirley Vernon, secretary; Harold Harris, treasurer; and Christine Lenschner, historian.

Ag School Edits Publication; On Sale Today

It's back. Look for "Shucky," today.

"Shucky" represents the Penn State Farmer, Forester and Scientist, Ag School publication, which has returned to join campus publications as a new and bigger monthly than ever.

The first issue of the new magazine goes on sale at the Student Union today and at the Hort Show on Friday and Saturday. Copies have already been mailed to all students in the School of Agriculture, the cost of which is partially defrayed by the increased Ag fee, effective this semester. Additional copies may be purchased for twenty-five cents.

Penn State Farmer, Forester and Scientist, starting Volume I, Number I, this month includes a report from Penn State-in-China, a college farm tour, an article on crow hunting, another on reclamation of strip mining coal lands, and many other informative articles.

Oliver Receives Laws Degree

Dr. Robert T. Oliver, professor and head of the department of speech at the College, will be awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by Pacific University on Saturday.

The occasion will be a special convocation marking the centennial celebration of the University.

Dr. Oliver, who is a graduate of Pacific University, will be cited for the books he has written, his work in organizing and directing the food conservation program for the Federal Government during the war; and his work as an advisor to the Korean government during the past three years.

Mrs. Oliver, who also is a graduate of Pacific University, will accompany Dr. Oliver to Forest Grove, Ore., for the ceremonies.

Recorder Requests Local Addresses

Students who registered at the College and did not list their local addresses are requested to complete address forms at the office of the Recorder, 109 Old Main, without delay.

A. W. Stewart, chief recorder, explained today that many students at the time of registration had no permanent quarters and therefore left their State College address section blank on their records. He stressed the importance of completing these forms without delay so that the College officials can locate students in handling emergencies or routine business.

Mercury Shows Unseasonal 85

The hottest October since 1941 continued yesterday as the mercury rose to 85 degrees for the second consecutive day.

Last year at this time the campus was experiencing light frosts in the morning.

Cloudy weather is predicted for today and warm temperatures will continue. The only relief in sight is afternoon and evening showers expected Thursday.

An average of 63 degrees for the first 11 days of this month has been reached in contrast with a 53 degree average for the same period last year.

To Perform During Memorial For 150-Year-Old Church

Selected personnel from the Blue Band will participate in "The Aaronsburg Story."

Director James Dunlop announced yesterday that about 55 members would provide the band music for the historical pageant planned as a feature of Pennsylvania Week Sunday, Oct. 23.

The "Aaronsburg Story" commemorates the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Salem Lutheran Church in the tiny town 23 miles Southeast of State College by Aaron Levy.

The College has offered its complete support of the program at Aaronsburg, in which national and international leaders will gather for sessions designed to further the cause of religious understanding.

Acting President James Milholland is serving as honorary chairman of the pageant committee and will serve as coordinator at one of three "brotherhood institutes."

William R. Gordon, professor of rural sociology and famed for his annual Pennsylvania Farm Show pageant, has written, and will direct the Aaronsburg pageant, "The Issue of an Ideal," which will be given with a cast of more than 1,000 Centre Countians at 2 p.m.

Hummel Fishburn, head of the department of music at the College, is directing the pageant's music, aided by staff members Dunlop, Elmer Wareham and Miss Frances Andrews. Louis H. Bell, director of the Department of Public Information, is in charge of publicity.

Gov. James H. Duff, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, UN Mediator Dr. Ralph Bunche, General William (Wild Bill) Donovan and Sir Mohammed Aly Zufrullah Khan, vice president of the United Nations and delegate from Pakistan, are among the dignitaries on the Aaronsburg program.

The new members were indoctrinated with the history and aims of both the national and local organization at the meeting. They were also permitted to sign on the sub-committee of their choice and received a briefing on their specific activities.

It was decided that a regular mass meeting of all committees should be held every other Thursday night and that the sub-committees could meet whenever necessary and expedient.

Center Officials Hold Meeting Here

Representatives of 13 Pennsylvania colleges where freshmen of the College are enrolled met at the College Monday to discuss education problems.

Presidents or deans of the co-operating colleges met at 9:30 a.m. with the deans and other administrative officials of the College and at 12:15 p.m., a luncheon at the Nittany Lion Inn closed the conference.

Dean of Admissions Royal M. Gerhardt was chairman for the program and presided at the luncheon. Wilmer E. Kenworthy, assistant to the president in charge of student affairs, represented the office of the president, while Dean Ralph E. Heiges, of Indiana State Teachers' College, responded for the co-operating colleges.

Other speakers included Dean H. K. Wilson, dean of men and director of the Division of Intermediate registration program; Dean of Women Pearl O. Weston, who discussed facilities for women students at the College; and Dean of Admissions Emeritus, W. S. Hoffman, original administrator of the co-operative plan for freshmen, who is now a consultant on administration for Lycoming College, Williamsport.

NSA Names Year's Projects

Closer cooperation with the All-College Cabinet and a Student Government Room were declared to be the main aims of the National Student Association Committee for the coming year.

Bud Ott, campus committee chairman, emphasized the nature of the new relationship between NSA and the Cabinet at the first meeting of the group Monday night. He also discussed the proposed Student Government Room, which will be staffed in part by active members of the NSA.

Lyn Lapp, delegate to the national convention, set forth several other projects for the coming year, namely, a Campus Chest drive and a plan for financial orientation.

David Keller, chairman of the student government section, informed newcomers to the organization that NSA proposed to set up a faculty rating program in the near future. He said the committee already had many different methods used by other colleges of this size for study.

The new members were indoctrinated with the history and aims of both the national and local organization at the meeting. They were also permitted to sign on the sub-committee of their choice and received a briefing on their specific activities.

It was decided that a regular mass meeting of all committees should be held every other Thursday night and that the sub-committees could meet whenever necessary and expedient.
