

President Attends Birthday Ceremonies of United Nations

Truman, Vishinsky Shake Hands

Truman Pleads Again For Bomb Controls

NEW YORK—President Truman made a special train trip yesterday to New York City to attend the ceremonies marking the fourth birthday of the United Nations.

He arrived at the UN site in a motor cavalcade of 25 cars, preceded by a huge police escort of 107 motorcycles. There was a loud cheer as the President ascended to the speaker's platform and shook hands with Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky.

The President spoke for 20 minutes. He called again for effective world control of the atomic bomb. He asked for action which would promote the peaceful use of atomic energy by all nations.

Atlee Plans Economy

LONDON—Prime Minister Atlee has disclosed in the House of Commons his latest plan to help Britain achieve a stable economic footing. It calls for reductions in dollar spending and defense costs. Atlee also has slapped a fee on the government's medical service. From now on patients must pay about 14 cents for prescriptions.

Israeli Asks Help

WASHINGTON—Eliahu Elath, Israeli ambassador to the United States, has asked the State Department for help. He requests that the United States use its food offices to halt the alleged persecution of nearly 150,000 Jews in Iraq.

Murray Advocates Fund

CLEVELAND—CIO President Philip Murray, leader of the striking steelworkers, says that the CIO convention in Cleveland undoubtedly will act on a move to set up a giant strike fund on all CIO unions.

The CIO chieftain also indicated to a news conference that he intends to drive out of the CIO all leaders who refuse to go along with a general anti-Communist policy.

There has been no progress toward the settlement of either the critical steel or coal strikes.

La Vie Asks Fast Proof Return

All seniors having La Vie pictures taken are requested to return their proofs within four days. Those who fail to comply are holding up production of the yearbook.

Seniors who have not had their pictures taken are requested to appear early in their designated periods in order to facilitate handling and eliminate waiting. The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

- School of Engineering—Oct. 25 to 31.
- School of Home Economics—Nov. 1-3.
- School of Liberal Arts—Nov. 4-15 (A-M, Nov. 4 to 8; N-Z, Nov. 9-15).
- School of Mineral Industries—Nov. 16-19.
- School of Physical Education and Athletics, Nov. 16 to 25.

Laundry Service Starts Tonight

College Joins in Celebrating John Dewey's 90th Birthday

The College this week will join with hundreds of colleges and universities and educational organizations in marking the 90th birthday of John Dewey, known as "the father of education."

Born in Vermont on October 20, 1859, John Dewey was educated at the University of Vermont and Johns Hopkins University. He taught at the Universities of Minnesota, Michigan and Chicago and at Columbia University. He resides in New York where a testimonial dinner will be given for him tonight.

Highlight of the College observance will be a symposium on Dewey's contribution to American life which will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday in Room 121, Sparks Building. It will be open to all interested students, faculty, and townspeople, and teachers of Central Pennsylvania schools have been invited.

Introduction
Dr. Carroll D. Champlin, professor of education, will present the introduction with a talk on "John Dewey, the Man."

Other participants will be Dr. Ray H. Dotterer, professor emeritus of philosophy, who will speak on "Some of the Roots of Dewey's Philosophy of Pragmatism;" Dr. William G. Mather, professor of rural sociology, on "John Dewey and the Community;" and Dr. Charles C. Peters, professor emeritus of education, on "Misinterpretations of Dewey's Educational Doctrine."

Dr. Jean D. Amberson, professor of home economics education, will speak on "The Contribution of John Dewey to Family Life Education" and Dr. Lloyd M. Jones, professor of physical education, will discuss "John Dewey and Formalism in Health and Physical Education."

In observance of John Dewey Week, the School of Education committee also has arranged an exhibit for the Central Library which will include typical books, pictures, and articles published on John Dewey. Classes in education also will discuss John Dewey's contribution to education.

Men's Tribunal Stresses Campus Traffic Rules

In view of the large number of students who have been fined recently by Men's Tribunal for traffic violations, the Daily Collegian is publishing the regulations now being enforced by the Campus Patrol.

Robert Keller, chairman of Tribunal, emphasized at the Tribunal hearings last week that knowing these regulations is the responsibility of the motorists.

The regulations:

1. Faculty and staff members and other College employees will be issued parking and operating permits from the Campus Patrol at 320 Old Main or at other designated places. Permit metal plates are to be displayed on the front of the permit holders' motor vehicles.

2. Permit holders may park their vehicles in all established parking areas in the central campus, but not in service drives, on grassed areas or in restricted parking areas on campus roads.

3. Parking in designated service drives is limited to service vehicles and emergency apparatus.

4. All-night parking on the campus is permitted in the West Parking Area only, except that employees, working all night in College buildings or on College grounds, may use those areas most convenient to their work.

5. Undergraduate students are restricted in the use of cars on the campus as follows:

a. Driving on the central campus roads is prohibited during the hours from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Saturday noon, except that physically handicapped students, certified by the College Health Service, may be granted special operating and parking permits.

b. Cars may be used by students for special class or laboratory work if arrangements are made with the Office of Campus Patrol by the faculty member in charge.
