Union's Right, Left Wings Compromise On Reuther's Resolution to Back Strike

CLEVELAND — The 51 members of the CIO executive board pledged full support to the 25-day old steel strike yesterday, which is being led personally by CIO president Philip Murray. The resolution was introduced at the Cleveland meeting by Walter Reuther of the CIO Auto Workers. Although a split has been developing between the right and left wings of the CIO, the factions voted unanimously on the issue.

No end to the steel strike is immediately in sight, according to New York chairman Irving Olds of United States Steel Corporation in an announcement yesterday. "If this strike should bring on a depression," declared Olds, "The Public should remember that it was called by Philip Murray."

The Nittany Lion Roars

FOR sweet, blonde, and lovely Jo Hutchon, Queen of the Belle Hop Ball.

Miss Hutchon, who was awarded her crown by popular applause at Rec Hall Saturday night, is just a freshman on campus. But her scholastic standing is no criterion of her beauty, as was proven decisively last weekend.

For an auspicious beginning to what the Lion hopes will be a wonderful four years at Penn State, the mighty ruler of the Nittany Vale roars congratulations.

New York Concern Builds 'Jungle' Prom Scene

Workmen from a New York City decorating firm will arrive on campus Friday noon to decorate Rec Hall for Friday night's Junior Prom. John Erickson, prom committee chairman said that a "Jungle Time" theme has been planned.

The interior is to be decorated in jungle colors and designs of voo-doo superstition and primitive life will blend into a false ceiling over the entire hall. It is hoped to have a new shell constructed to the rear of the bandstand.

Housparty Weekend Causes Conflict

The pre-game pep rally scheduled for Friday evening has been moved forward to Thursday evening at 7:30 on the steps of Old Main, according to head Nittany cheerleader, Dick Clair.

Rescheduling of the rally was adopted due to conflicts with events scheduled for Friday night, the first night of houseparty weekend for campus fraternities.

Clair hopes for a big turnout this week not only because of last Saturday's loss to Michigan State, but also due to the fact that Saturday's game will be the last Nittany home game of the season.

Speakers are being lined up for the rally, and it is likely that the performances scheduled for the rally preceding the Nebraska game will be held Thursday night.
