All-College President Ted Allen named Lyn Lapp as the new chairman of NSA, to succeed Ernest Ott, who will be graduated in February. He also named Harry Kondourajian, junior class president, as Cabinet representative to Council on Racial Equality, succeeding Robert Keller.

Richard Schweiker, Cabinet representative, reported the poet Carl Sandburg and military analyst Hanson W. Ballwin of the New York Times would be among the five speakers for the Community Forum lecture series this year. The first lecture is scheduled for Dec. 7.

Leonides

Rose Eifert, president of Leonides, reported that the Council on Administration had approved excuse blanks for student voters going to their home districts for the Nov. 8 elections. Widespread interest in the election is expected because of the vote on the proposed state bonus for World War II veterans.

Excuse blanks may be picked up, beginning Monday morning, at the Student Union desk. They must be signed by the judge of elections in the district where the student votes and are to be accepted by instructors for election day only.

When a proposal concerning a voting holiday next year was put forward, it was pointed out that the College schedule already is made up until 1951 and that this probably could not be accomplished.
