

Big Dividends

Last year, a group of forward thinking men on campus recognized the need for and potentialities of an expansion in the planned social and other activities of independent men. As a result, the Association of Independent Men was organized and chartered.

THE ASSOCIATION has since proved itself more than worthy of the effort that has gone into its conception, and subsequent development, through a general broadening of the scope of independent activities.

Such a program, however effective, cannot be carried out on the strength of merit alone, but requires backing in the form of ready funds. It is in this respect that the men for whom AIM was established can show their interest in the further development of the organization.

Monday, the official campaign begins for the collection of dues from those who desire active membership in AIM, and the future success or failure of its leaders' carefully laid plans may well rest upon the outcome of this campaign. The dues, 50 cents per man, are individually insignificant in the light of the student's everyday spending, but when multiplied by the number of potential members—some 5000—they amount to just what the doctor ordered and will pay big dividends.

THE WORK OF James McCallum's reorganization committee and the able leadership of Robert Davis, newly-elected AIM president, promise great things for the future if the independent men will stand behind them with interest and cash.

Halloween In Europe

By AL RYAN

3 YEARS AGO
A 23-year-old chemistry student at the College was in Centre county jail today, three years ago, charged with homicide in the fatal shooting of his 20-year-old bride of one month while she was stroking a kitten in their Windcrest trailer.

WITHOUT REALIZING what he was doing, John Edward Galloway told police, he had pointed a .32-calibre automatic at his wife in the early morning, three days before. The weapon discharged.

The bullet entered Mrs. Galloway's chin, came out her neck and, re-entering her neck, lodged in her spine. She was dead at 1:45 a.m. October 26, when examined by Dr. H. T. Dale shortly after the incident.

Galloway rushed to a neighbor's trailer immediately following the shooting, police learned, and summoned aid. Neighbors called a physician and a nurse while the young war veteran returned to his wife.

WHEN QUESTIONED by Chief of Police John R. Juba, who lodged the murder charge against him, Galloway maintained the shooting was accidental and even later insisted it was not intentional. No motive for the shooting was given by authorities.

NOTE: Galloway has since been fully exonerated.

20 YEARS AGO
IN ORDER THAT students not attending the Penn State-New York University football game in New York may receive a play-by-play account of the encounter, it was announced, 20 years ago, telephone communication "will be made between Rec Hall and Yankee stadium for the returns."

It is probable, the announcement continued, that the telephone will be connected with a loud speaker in order that the returns may be audible to all present.

Unfair to Coeds

TO THE EDITOR: We believe that the present practice of the male students of inviting out-of-town girls to the Houseparty weekends is extremely unfair to the coeds.

After all, this is our college, and the number of Penn State girls who are dateless and are forced to go home for the weekend is appalling.

We would like to suggest an innovation which consists of restricting Houseparty Weekend to college students only, and having another weekend specifically for imports. We would appreciate your consideration of this matter since it is the sentiment of an overwhelming majority. Thank you.
