Independent Play

Dorm 7 blanked Riverside, 12-0,

and Altoona won an overtime contest from Dorm 14, 1-0, to enter the quarter-finals of independent play. Dorm 7 clashed with

Between

The Lions

With Elliot Krane Sports Editor

Cold Reception

tality" in the reception given to the Penn State team at Saturday's football game. The West Virginia coaches and officials tried to score in the West Virginia make the team's stay as pleas-ant as possible, but the weather-man wouldn't co-operate. Icy blasts of wind whipped across the Monongahela River and into the Mountaineer Field horseshoe throughout the game.

Soon after the final whistle, the West Virginia Weather Department showed its displea-sure by hurling a short but heavy sleet storm at the backs of the departing Nittany team.

Switch

Penn State fans who made the tion over the improved Lion at-Penn State fans who made the tack that punched out a total of trip "down South." His actions 373 yards and five touchdowns looked distinctly familiar—they through a big Mountaineer line. were, for the boy leading the homecoming crowd at the game way the Nittanymen coped with their seventh passing problem, alumnus.

Bill a member of Gene

Bill, a member of Gene Weitstone's gymnastics team last year and an Olympic performer in 1948, is an instructor at West Virginia. He is organizing a Mountaineer gym team and expects to enter his squad in intercollegiate competition

Just Looking

Football players sometimes wonder what the game looks like from the stands, but Chuck Beat-ty decided to satisfy his curiosity Saturday. The Lion center started to chase a Mountaineer toward the sidelines at the fifty-yard line. But after knocking him out of bounds, Chuck found that he couldn't stop his forward motion and hurtled a five-foot concrete wall into the stands.

When he landed on the lap of a startled young lady, who promptly screamed, he decided it best to view the rest of the game from the field, and re-turned to his regular position backing up the line.

Button, Button

Early in the second period, the Lions fumbled and the 12 men nearest the ball dove on it. An official poked at this one and that in search of the missing oval. As he continued to unpile players, someone tapped him on the back. He turned around and was amazed to find W. V. tackle Kereazis Konstantinos holding the ball in his outstretched hand. The tackle had recovered the ball and worked his way out from the bottom of the pile while the other players were fighting for a ball that wasn't there.

Fancy "T

Jimmy Walthall pulled a clever "T" play in the second quarter. Penn State called time just as the two teams lined up over the ball. West Virginia continued to run the play while

Gridders Smash W. Virginia, 34-14

Few on Injured List As Team Preps for Owls

Penn State's Nittany Lions settled back this week to hard work and the usual grind of scrimmages, signal sessions, and blocking and tackling rigors. The team is shaking off its elation over that booming 34-14 victory over West Virginia, and concentrating instead on preparing for Temple.

The gridders went about their business with new enthusiasm, IM Teams Near There was no "southern hospi- however, because of their successful cracking of the Morgantown

Equally good was the news from the training room. Only minor injuries were reported. Chuck Drazenovich and Jack Storer suffered charley-horses, Ken Bunn turned his ankle, and the squad is stiff and sore from bruises; but all of these aftereffects should be adjusted by Temple-time, according to trainer
Chuck Medlar.

A young, acrobatic cheerleader attracted the attention of the tion over the improved Lion at-

Walthall capitalized on lapses n the Lion pass defense to pitch two touchdown aerials. Except for these instances, State was master, both offensively and de-fensively, in rolling up its fourth win in seven starts and slapping the hillmen with their fifth loss in eight games.

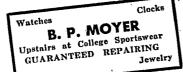

PASSING ATTACK

Early in the first period, the Lions opened with a passing attack, led by Bill Luther and Owen Dougherty, that completely upset the Mountaineers' defensive plans. The first pass to Jack Storer made 37 yards to the Mountaineer 18, but a fumble there ruined State's chance to score.

A few moments later, Storer ankle injury, plunged for a touch-down two plays later and Joe Drazenovich added the first of four successful extra points. The Lions used Rogel and Dougherty's pass to Bob Hicks to rack up another score just before the period

The Mountaineers struck for their first touchdown on the run-ning of fullback Pete Zinaich and the passing of Walthall. Little Gene Simmons, the Mountaineers' the Penn State players stood up. The Mounts' center passed the ball to Walthall, who faked it to one man and then slipped it to another coming from the wing spot. But the "player" was the referee, who took the ball and then informed the Virginians that time was out.

Campus Restaurant

Corner of

COLLEGE AVE. and PUGH ST.

Still Smashing

FRAN ROGEL

expert dropkicker, made it 13-7 before the half ended.

FINAL TALLY

West Virginia used that same Zinaich, Walthall, Simmons combination to add another seven points late in the fourth period but in between those two hometeam touchdowns the Lions, switching to their ground game, had sewed up the decision with three more scores.

Rogel and Luther sparked a march from the State 47, with the former carrying over for the TD 2 minutes after the half began. took another for 30 yards to the West Virginia 15. Then Fran end on a fake-kick handoff for 31 Rogel, fully recovered from his yards to set up the next touchdown for Luther, who toted the your clothes.

DU, Dorm 7, Altoona Enter IM Football Quarter-Finals

Delta Upsilon scored a first half touchdown and went on to defeat Delta Sigma Phi, 7-0, to qualify for the semi-finals of fraternity touch football competition under the lights of Beaver practice field Friday night. Delta Upsilon will face the winner of last night's Theta Chi-Lambda Chi Alpha game tonight in one of four semi-final contests.

Swim Finals

Phil Kappa and Phi Delta Theta will face each other in a quarter-final fraternity intramural swim-ming meet in Glennland pool this afternoon as a result of victories semi-final contest. Altoona met afternoon as a result of victories semi-final contest. Altoona met Friday afternoon. Sigma Chi and Phi Sigma Delta will meet in another IM quarter-final.

Phi Kappa moved into the quarter-final by trouncing Kappa Sigma, 26-15, while Phi Delta Theta advanced by defeating Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 23-18. The wins were Phi Kappa's third straight and Phi Delta Theta's second in a row.

Phi Delta Theta's Dick Wilson was the individual star of the afternoon as he turned in a triple victory to account for 15 of his

Phi Delta Theta's Dick Wilson was the individual star of the afternoon as he turned in a triple victory to account for 15 of his team's 23 points. Wilson won the 60-yard freestyle, the 60-yard backstroke and the diving. He copped the freestyle in the near-record time of 32.3 seconds, while his 42.1 seconds timing in the backstroke was one of the fastest of the season.

Dougherty in the end zone for the only score of the game. Leib passed to Mike DeBone for the extra point.

Al Zaniecki was the star of Dorm 7's 12-0 win over Riverside. Zaniecki passed 35 yards to Ed Gridsavage for the first touchdown late in the first half. He guaranteed the victory midway through the second half when he lugged an inside reverse 35 yards

Danny Kline, Lynn McIlvaine, Jack Murray and Jack Walker teamed in the 120-yard freestyle relay to record the fastest time of the season in winning in 1:03.9 for Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Murray took top honors in the 60-yard breaststroke. He was clocked in 44.1 seconds.

Ki O'Malley and Jack Lavin were the individual winners for Phi Kappa. O'Malley took the freestyle in 33.6 seconds and Lavin topped the field in the breast-stroke in 44.5 seconds. Ernie Salsbury gained victories in the baskbury gained victories in the back-stroke and diving for Kappa Sigma.

Led Rushing

Against seven opponents so far this season, West Virginia ball over the final stripe from three yards out. Rogel and Vince has rolled up a net yardage of O'Bara rolled up yardage from the State 34, with O'Bara going through right tackle for the last Lion TD in the final stanza.

Against seven Opponents so far this season, West Virginia has rolled up a net yardage of 720 in 184 attempts. John Murphy and Bobby Arnett led the rushing department with 197 and 184 yards respectively.

Making Yardage In 12 games last year, includ-ing the Sun Bowl affair seven lugged an inside reverse 35 yards for a TD.

West Virginia halves rushed for 1,299 of 2,237 yards. Vic Bonfili at right half led the entire backfield with 535 yards.

3 Secrets of Sleeping Comfort

THE SELECTION OF THE SE

World's Most Comfortable Pajamas 2.95 Up

Young Men's Shop

127 S. ALLEN

are used, what care is taken — what is done to serve you in the right manner

It is your privilege to know what methods

Ask your cleaner to show you how he cleans

JUST A TIP.

Balfurd's Invites You To Come In and Inspect Their Cleaning Plant in Operation

 Once you have observed their modernized service, you will see for yourself the many advantages in sending all your cleaning, pressing and tailoring to-

Dial 3461

307 W. Beaver