

Miss Penn State, was built Friday afternoon and has since guarded the door to the Alpha Zeta house. Fraternity members who helped to build her are shown left to right: John Hall, Stanley Walton, John McCool, Galen Motter, Jack Bosch, Gene Harding, and Jim Leamer. Photograph by John Gaut

TUB Request Is Refused

A pre-Thanksgiving request from All-College Cabinet that the Temporary Union Building be given over for a night to State College teen-agers was refused by the Student Advisory Committee, the Daily Collegian learned yesterday.

The proposed youth program in the TUB would have taken place during Thanksgiving vacation. A College spokesman said the committee's reason for not granting the request was that "a dangerous precedent would be set—the College would then be open to many similar situations in which town groups were planning affairs with use of the TUB in mind."

The youth program in the TUB would have been sponsored by the town Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is pressing for a teen-agers' canteen in State College.

Members of the Student Advisory Committee are Frank F. Morris, administrative assistant to the treasurer; Dr. H. K. Wilson, dean of men; Dr. Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, and George Donovan, manager of associated student activities.

PSCA To Sponsor Fireside Series

In order to help students become better acquainted with other students and faculty, the Personal and Campus Affairs Committee of the PSCA is sponsoring a series of fireside chats with faculty members.

The first fireside chat will be held at the home of Dr. William Mather, professor of rural sociology, at 7 p.m. Thursday. He will lead a discussion on "The Race Against Man."

The number of students to attend this first meeting is limited to fifteen. Those interested can sign up in 304 Old Main.

Debate—

(Continued from page three)

could they do any good." Meszaros, a married man, took great pleasure in jesting his way through his cross examination of Miss Coleman and the final rebuttal. Though he used statistics and good arguments, he scored most often on his witty poems and humorous remarks.

After pointing out that women do not correctly utilize the time they gain by using improved mechanical household appliances, he read a poem which ended the meet. The poem ended with the line, "The woman's work is never done . . . by her." Prof. Joseph O'Brien, chairman, conducted an audience participation discussion following the debate. There was no judging to determine a winner.

Outstanding Seniors

Marie Card

(This is the sixth in a series of articles concerning prominent senior men and women who have proven themselves outstanding in one or more fields of activity at the College.)

By Myrna Tex

Marie Card, one of the founders of Leonides, has been quite a busy student during the years she has attended Penn State. Marie went to Mansfield State Teachers' College her first year and came here as a sophomore.

While a sophomore, she became affiliated with the Penn State Bible Fellowship and was secretary of the organization last year. This year she is serving as publicity chairman, but as she says, "It is more like a corresponding secretary because I have to arrange for all the speakers."

She was elected secretary of Leonides when it was formed last January. This year she is serving on the Advisory Board. "I expect and hope to see Leonides grow more powerful in the future," Marie said. "It has great possibilities for independent women in two main fields. It represents them in student government on All-College Cabinet and it offers many social advantages."

Marie, while a junior, was president of her dormitory, Women's Building, which automatically gave her a seat in the House of Representatives. She was active in the Red Cross Steering committee and belonged to the Modern Dance and Swimming Clubs. Marie participated in last year's Aquacade and served on a May Day committee. She is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

She is a member of Psi Chi, the psychology honorary and Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honorary.

Pre-clinical psychology is Marie's major and after graduation in June she expects to work for a year and then return to Penn State to take her Master's degree. Eventually, she hopes to do clinical work or become a school psychologist.

Sylvania, a small town in northern Pennsylvania, is Marie's home. Her parents have a farm a small distance from the village where she said laughingly "I always pick apples in the summer."

Last summer, however, Marie spent a month in Canada at the Inter-Varsity summer training camp. Her trip was sponsored by the Penn State Bible Fellowship which is a student chapter of the Inter-Varsity Bible Fellowship. "It was a wonderful experience," Marie remarked.

PRINTING

Multilithing—Addressograph Service
COMMERCIAL PRINTING
Glennland Bldg. Phone 8662

Give her a gift both beautiful and economical—
Nylons by Larkwood or Picturesque $1.45 to $2.25

News Briefs

Sociology Club

Jerry Weiser, graduate student at the College and formerly a resident of Palestine, will speak on "Communal Living in Palestine" in Atherton Hall at 7:30 tonight. The lecture, sponsored by the Sociology Club, is open to the public.

Chemical Engineers

Mr. Herman Podolsky of the Du Pont Company will speak on plant design at a meeting of the Chemical Engineering Society in 119 Osmond at 7 o'clock tonight. Sophomores are invited to attend.

Five O'Clock Theatre

"Just Another Friday Night" by Shirley Betts will be presented by The Players at the Little Theatre in 5 Old Main at 5 o'clock tonight.

Water Color Tests

Andrew W. Case, associate professor of fine arts, will present a gallery lecture in Simmons Lounge at 7:30 tonight. The lecture is planned in connection with the Dong Kingman water-color exhibit, which will continue until December 21.

Livingston To Give Science Lecture At Dairy Meeting

Larry F. Livingston, widely known speaker on chemical developments as they affect the consumer, will talk at a meeting sponsored by the American Society of Agriculture Engineers, student branch, in Room 103 Agriculture Engineering building at 7 o'clock tonight. Members of the Dairy Science Club are invited to hear the speaker.

Mr. Livingston's topic will be "Progress in Better Living." He will tell the story of how the products of modern industrial chemistry were created and what made them possible. He will also show how they have helped give the American people the highest standard of living in the world.

Manages Extension

Mr. Livingston is manager of the Extension Division of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, with headquarters at Wilmington, Del. During the past year he has spoken at several meetings in many states.

An engineering graduate of the University of Washington, he joined du Pont in 1929 after serving as an Engineer Corps officer in World War I. Mr. Livingston was also an expert in land clearance in the Mid-West, and a member of the faculty of Michigan State College.

Psychological Tests

Psychological tests have been completed for the following schools: Agriculture, Chemistry and Physics, Engineering, Education-women, Liberal Arts-women, Mineral Industries. Students may have the test results interpreted to them by making an appointment at the Student Advisory Service office, 3 Burrowes.

Israeli Song Group

Israeli Song and Dance Group will meet at Hillel at 7:15 tonight. Brandeis Camp Alumnae and those interested are urged to attend.

Livestock Judging

Penn State's livestock judging team, coached by Dr. William L. Henning of the Animal Husbandry department, placed 30th out of 34 teams entered in a recent contest. High man on the State team was W. Sprague Wingard.

NAACP Meeting

Dr. Neal Riemer, political instructor, will speak on "Analysis of the Report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights" in 219 EE at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow. Everyone is invited to this program, sponsored by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Perfect Gift for Anyone

Yes perfect because they are 100% all wool and they are so low priced. At only $6.95 you have your pick of these wonderful plaid shirts of values to $14.95. The famous brand names of Lou Foster and Brentwood make these an ideal gift for that ideal of your life $6.95.

HUR'S
MEN'S SHOP

OPPOSITE MAIN CAMPUS
E. College Ave., State College

Give their favorite album of records and see what joy you give! Choose from our wide collection of regular and long playing classical, semi-classical and popular recordings. Come Early—For Complete Selection.

For your gift-selection we also have classical and popular sheet music . . . for piano, guitar or voice. . . Come in—let us help you music-shop for Christmas, today!

Open Daily 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

GLENNLAND BUILDING