Treat or Treatment

State College, Pa., is in for both a treat and the treatment this weekend when Syracuse's two eastern championship teams take on Penn State's dangerous wrestling and boxing combines.

The invading wrestlers have breezed thru four dual meets in easy fashion toppling Columbia, Franklin & Marshall, Rutgers and Army. Penn State likewise sports a four win skein. Particularly notable was the Stater's tremendous showing against always-powerful Lehigh, 17-14.

Murderers' Row

Defending EIWA champ, Syracuse will toss three eastern champs against Penn State. This "Murderers' Row" is comprised of Ken Hunte at 155 (and also runnerup nationally), Pascal Perri at 165, and 175 pound George Gebhardt.

Boxing coach Roy Simmons, now in his 25th year as ring boss, also will bring a defending eastern titleholder to the Keystone state. Unlike the Orange wrestling forces, the mittmen have had rough going thus far this season.

Louisiana State, the national champ, topped Syracuse in the Sugar Bowl, 5-3. Last Friday the Piety leather-pushers journeyed to Minnesota only to have the powerful Gophers clip them, 5-3. Penn State held the Minnesota team to a 4-4 tie in their dual meet.

Syracuse's lone victory in the ring this season came when Army was decisively humbled, 5½-2½. Unused to defeat, the twice-trimmed Orangemen will give the Nittany Lion plenty of trouble.

Three Champs

Simmons will also bring along three eastern champs to Penn State this Saturday. Tim Curley, 145 pound champ, is Syracuse's top man in the lower weight divisions. Also on the Orange roster is Chuck Rigoglioso, defending 155 pound titleholder. Dancing Jim Rollier at 165 is the third EIBA champ.

Just to make things interesting for State ring followers, the meet will pair off Marty Crandell and Chuck Drzenovich again. Crandell, national collegiate champ, will again trade punches with his old nemesis, EIBA champ Drzenovich, the boy who decided him in the easterns last spring at Penn State.

Gymnasts Meet West Pointers

Penn State's gymnastics crew, with one victory over Michigan State under its belt, will have plenty of work cut out for it when it tangles with the Cadets of Army at West Point tonight.

Army, one of the top teams in the East, has already walloped four opponents, the last triumph being a 77 to 19 victory over the University of Delaware.

The Lions moved into West Point yesterday after leaving State College in the morning. Coach Gene Wettstone wasn't available for a statement about the team's chances before he left.

Coach Tom Maloney of the Cadets has an experienced squad ready to go against the Lions. Nine of his stars are in their last year at the academy and give the squad experience in every event.

Last year Army battled to a 7-won, 1-lost record that included a 54-42 victory over Penn State.

Wettstone will bank his hopes for victory on slamming the rope-climb, a feat his team performed against the Spartans. Rope-climbers Lee Perna, Sal Postich and Al Christie will be trying for the first three positions.

Rudy Valentino, tumbler, will be after another first for the Lions on the mats team strength does not end there—121-pound Lou Tschirhart also claims a clean slate, and Joe Settanni, 145-pounder, was runner-up in the 136-pound class in the 1949 EIWA's. He also has lost but one this season.

The Lions will probably go into today's big battle with almost the same lineup that has submerged four foes. Don Maurey, 136 pounds; Bill Santel, 165 pounds; Milke Rubino, 175 pounds, and Heavyweight Homer Barr have yet to be beaten this year.

One possible change may take place at 128 pounds. Jack Waters, a hustling lightweight, may replace Dean Harbold, who has won two and tied one of his four previous duels.

The probable lineups:

Syracuse		Penn State
Tschirhart	121	Reese
Valle	128	Waters
Nethersole	136	D. Maurey
Settanni	145	J. Maurey (c)
Hunte (c)	155	Irvin
Perri (c)	165	Santel
Gebhardt	175	Rubino
Cohen	Unl	Barr

In quest of their first victories of the current season, the fencing and swimming teams will resume action at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Coach Art Meyer's fencers will try to get into the win column at the expense of Temple University in Rec Hall. The Lions showed improvement in dropping a close decision to Army at West Point and should be in top shape for the meet. The fencers dropped their opening meet to Lehigh.

The Lions' varsity diver Rudy Valentino will be at West Point with the gym team while the remainder of the swimming squad will seek to notch victory number one for Coach Bill Gutteron at Glensland pool. A good University of Delaware team will provide stiff competition.

A limited number of seats will be available for spectators along the side of the pool and in the balcony.

meeting of the two schools since pre-war days.

Today, the Lions are at Annapolis for their annual game with the Midshipmen, winding up a three-game road tour.

The Bullets of Gettysburg own an eight and seven record for the season against a nine and five slate for the Blue and White.

Only one team, Pittsburgh, was faced by the Bullets and the Lions. Pitt defeated Gettysburg, 59-57, while State took two games from the Panthers, 34-21 and 58-51.

Navy has a record of eight and six, and like the Lions, lost an encounter with Penn by a 72-69 score.

Last night, the Nittany hoop squad met Gettysburg in the first

MURRAY CAMPBELL, back stroker on the University of Delaware tank team and the "outstanding swimmer" in the State of Delaware. Holder of numerous Eastern and Southern A.A.U. records, Campbell has shattered his own University record on three occasions this season.

Boxers To Meet Three Champs

A "loaded" Syracuse boxing team will show its wares in Rec Hall tonight when the Orange forces face Penn State's boxers.

The jayvees open the night's ring spectacle at 7 p.m. followed by the varsity sluggers an hour later.

Both teams have been tested three times this season. The Lions sport a 1-1-1 record while the Orange won once in their three battles.

The Lions pummeled Western Maryland, 5½-2½, but succumbed to Michigan State 5-3. The Piety forces laced Army, 5½-2½, besides losing to L.S.U., 5-3.

Three Eastern champions, 145-pounder Tim Curley; 155-pounder Chuck Rigoglioso; and 165-pounder Jim Rollier and NCAA Heavyweight titlist Marty Crandell are the headliners of the Syracuse ring unit.

The evening's finals between EIBA titleholder Chuck Drzenovich and Marty Crandell should see plenty of free swinging leather.

Probable starting lineups:
Penn State jayvees: 125—Joe Reynolds; 130—Forfelt; 135—John Belter; 145—Ed Rohbeck; 155—Pat Helms or Beaul Winter; 165—Bob Keller; 175—Charley Wilson; Unl.—Charley Godlasky.
Penn State varsity: 125—John Hanby; 130—Harry Papacharalambous; 135—John Albarano or Curt Crooks; 145—Frank Gross; 155—Lou Koszarek; 165—Paul Smith; 175—Jack Bolger; Unl.—Chuck Drzenovich.
