

Outstanding Seniors

Connie Croushore

(This is the tenth in a series of articles concerning prominent senior men and women who have proven themselves outstanding in one or more fields of activity at the College.)

By JANET ROSEN

"Worrying about everyone else's problems is my major activity at College," said Connie Croushore, Chairman of Judicial. "Perhaps the greatest problem this year was Freshman Customs. It is hard to know if you are doing the right thing when it is the first time. I am hoping that next year the sophomores, having profited by their experience, will be able to do a better job."

Balancing the scales of justice as Chairman of Judicial heads Connie's list of activities which also includes: All-College Cabinet; WSGA Senate; Freshman Customs Board, advisory chairman; Penhellenic Council; Community Forum Committee; Louise Homer Club; Chapel Choir, Treble Singers; rushing chairman of Delta Gamma; Who's in the News.

Another accomplishment of Connie's not in the above list, is being able to knit, read and listen to the radio simultaneously. She is also an accomplished pianist. Connie hinted that she is driving her sorority sisters, in the Delta Gamma suite, mad by continuously playing Beethoven sonatas.

An English composition major, she intends to go into some sort of publishing after graduation. Last summer Connie received her practical experience by working on her hometown paper, the Belle Vernon Enterprise, and the Brownsville Telegraph. "By pinch-hitting for the staff members on vacation, I wrote everything from headlines to society," said Connie.

Also in her plans for the future is a law student at Southern Methodist University. Though Ray isn't a fishing enthusiast, Connie is taking the College's famous fishing course. And she can tie a mean wet-water fly.

"Working with WSGA and meeting so many people has been my most satisfying activity at college," said Connie. "Though it is a horrible experience to answer the telephone and to hear a voice say, 'I can't take the penalty.'"

Then, speaking like a typical Penn State co-ed, she said, "I will certainly remember the social life."

Mercury Falls To Four Above

Baby, it was cold outside. Yesterday, with a low of 4 degrees and a maximum of 16 degrees, was the coldest day of the year according to the meteorology department at the College.

An arctic air mass early Sunday morning sent the mercury dropping from 32 degrees to the low of 4 degrees at 7 a.m. yesterday. Accompanying winds of 20 miles an hour with gusts of 35 miles an hour prevailed.

The mercury was expected to drop to nearly zero last night. Today will be warmer with increasing cloudiness.

The maximum of 16 degrees was the lowest high since February of 1948.

Dorms ---

classmen's having the right to the best available dorms on campus should outweigh providing the best available living conditions for freshmen to promote a good start in college.

Cabinet Seeks Action

At the meeting, Cabinet authorized Keller's committee to "go as far as possible in seeking a reversal in the dorm policy." Keller indicated previously that "going as far as possible" might mean contacting presidential assistants, Acting President James Milholland, or the Board of Trustees "through proper channels."

Other members of the dorm committee besides Keller are Joseph Arnold, Robert Davis, Peter Sarantopoulos, Robert Sprague and Richard Weisburg. James MacCallum, all-College secretary-treasurer pointed out at the Cabinet meeting that present College policy in the Tri-dorms gives top priority to men who are "seniors and have lived in Nittany-Follock."

Parties ---

was nominated for vice-chairman; and Anita Ranallo, secretary.

Aaron Lantz, Stuart Lerner John Weaver are candidates for sophomore clique chairman, the only contested office so far. No one was nominated for vice-chairman, and Lois Pulver is candidate for secretary.

Potential State Officers

Potential leaders of the State party, although no formal nominations have been made are Jane Ashenfelter, John Davies, Murray Goldman, William Klisanin, Robert Sprague, and Richard Weisberg, who has been acting as temporary clique chairman.

State party also discussed freshman customs, the investigation of the West dorm policy, and the class cut system as possible platform planks.

Leetch ---

Interviews, drawn up in accordance with the employer's instructions, are scheduled for interested students at the placement office in 112 Old Main.

Principle purposes of the placement service, Mr. Leetch declared, are to help students and graduates apply for and find jobs for which they are best suited, and to help employers by providing a single point of contact in their search for college-trained men and women.

Ring Design ---

Balog, are Philip Barker, Rose Eifert, Peter Giesey, Morton Snitzer, Dorothy Werlinich and Marian Whiteley.

The idea of adopting an official Penn State class ring was originated early last semester by Barker, now president of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, and Balog, senior class president.

Other business on tonight's Cabinet agenda includes a meal ticket committee report by John Meszaros, and a report by either Lyn Lapp, NSA chairman, or Otto Grupp, NSA vice-chairman, on operation of the student government room. The room, 204 Old Main, is slated to begin operation next Monday.

Soccer Captain

Ralph Hosterman, captain of Penn State's undefeated soccer team last fall, is now working in the Foods Building at the College.
