Truman Blasts Senate Loyalty Investigators

WASHINGTON — President Truman yesterday leveled charges against three Republican Senators who he says are sabotaging the nation's foreign policy and aiding the Kremlin in the process.

In a news conference at Key West, Florida, Truman said that he was tired of the attacks on the State Department led by Senators Joseph McCarthy, (R-Wis.), Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) and Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb.).

'Mo' Verdict Pending

NORFOLK, Va.—Several weeks may go by before a court decision on the trial of Captain William Brown is made public. Brown, ex-skipper of the battleship Missouri, pleaded guilty to charges of negligence in grounding the "Big Mo" last January at a navy general court martial here yesterday. The verdict of the trial court will be forwarded to Washington for action.

Glee Club Plans Annual Concert

The College Glee club will present its annual concert in Schwab auditorium Sunday at 3 p.m. with Frank Gullo, associate professor of music, directing the group of 85 voices who return tomorrow from their annual Spring tour.

Included in the program of the club are a new college song and familiar semi-classical and folk songs.

Accompanying the Glee club will be the Varsity Quartet, Richard Goodling, George Jeffries, Edgar Raffensberger, and William Detweiler. Selections by the group will include: "Moon-glow," "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark," and "Enjoy Yourself." Quartet accompanist will be Gerald Rosenthal.

The Hy-Los, a comedy group within the club, will present "Old King Cole," and "Johnny Schmoker." Accompanying this group will be Harry Reiff Jr. Along with "Hail, Oh Hail," the new college song, the Glee club will sing "A Pretty Girl is Like a Melody," "Tramp! Tramp! Tramp!" "The Lone Prairie," "Onward Christian Soldiers," "The Twenty-Third Psalm," "Lil' Liza Jane," "Song of the Gypsies," and "The Sleigh."

Fire Destroys Radio Gear

The short wave radio transmitting station of the radio propagation laboratory, belonging to the school of Engineering, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday morning. No one was in the building when the fire broke out as all the equipment works automatically. The cause of the fire is not yet known.

Although there has been no estimate on the extent of damages, all the equipment housed in the building was highly technical and mostly designed and built in the engineering shops and laboratories. The facility will be built at once.

The operations of the laboratory will not be suspended because the long wave station is not located in the same building.

State, Lion Parties Name Managers

Both the State and Lion parties have begun campaigns for the all-college and senior and junior class elections April 19 and 20.

Robert Longnecker is the campaign manager and Robert Sprague public relations manager for the State clique, while Samuel Casey and Ray Evert hold like positions in the Lion party.

Full scale campaign activities will begin after the Easter recess which begins Tuesday.

Registration for Part-Time Jobs Largest in Three Years

The Student Employment office has reported the largest registration of part-time job seekers in its three-year history, the department of public information announced yesterday. There are 1250 students now on the job-wanted rolls.

A "leveling off" in industrial hiring, and the drop in GI Bill-financed students was blamed by Allan M. Reece, student employment supervisor, for the abnormally high number of part-time position hunters. Another probable reason for the large figure, Mr. Reece said, is that need for financial assistance today is far greater than previously.

The current competitive field, he explained, has made student help more reliable, with students today more readily available for jobs when offered. While the agency asks that anyone requiring student help apply at least a day in advance, this availability makes advance application unnecessary where the need cannot be foreseen.

Student help is available in a large number of fields, skilled and unskilled, Mr. Reece said. Among the workers on hand, he said, are students experienced in sales work, manual labor, housework, gardening, drafting, babysitting and other jobs. Anyone interested in employing student help should call 8441, extension 2049.

Men Debaters Vie In Nat'l Tourney

The College's men debaters will be at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., over the Easter vacation to compete with 60 schools in a Grand National tournament.

Debating this year's topic on nationalizing industries will be Marlin Brenner and Clair George, affirmative, and Peter Giesey and Richard Schweiker, negative.

Debaters competing in other speech contests will be: George, after dinner; Schweiker, informative; Brenner, extemporaneous; Giesey, response to the occasion; David Lewis, original oration and declamation; and Joel Fleming, address reading and discussion group.

It's a Spectrometer . . . .

STUDY OF THE molecular structure of compounds is aided by this infrared spectrometer in use at the College's spectroscopy laboratory where this research is directed by Dr. D. H. Rank, research professor of physics. E. R. Shull is shown operating the instrument. Molecular structure is studied from a knowledge of absorption in different spectral regions.

Extension Services Sponsor Summer Foreign Study Tour

The College extension services and the New School in New York City in cooperation with World Study Tours, Columbia University, are sponsoring a five-week foreign-study tour this spring. The group will travel in England and France and will receive college credit for courses taken.

Directors of the tour for the College are Hugh G. Pyle, supervisor of informal instruction division, and Dr. John H. Ferguson, professor of political science, and chairman of a committee of the social sciences which planned the project.

College Offers Bach At Annual Easter Service

An all-Bach program will comprise the College's annual Easter musical services in Schwab Auditorium at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Sunday. The program commemorates the 200th anniversary of the composer's death.

The major work to be presented is Bach's Church Cantata No. 4, "Christ Lay in Death's Dark Prison." It will be sung by the Chapel Choir, directed by Prof. Willa Taylor. The choir will be accompanied by Prof. George Ceiga, chapel organist, and members of the College Symphony Orchestra under Prof. Theodore Karhan.

Other compositions by Bach to be played by Professor Ceiga are the chorale-preludes "Christ Lag in Todesbanden" and "Christ ist Erstanden," the choral benediction "Heut' Triumphiret Gottes Sohn," and the postlude "Fantasia in G Minor."

In presenting the service twice, the choir follows the custom of previous years so that all those who wish can attend the services.

To Leave July 1. The group will leave New York July 1. They will study the economic, political, and cultural conditions in England and France, beginning with classes on board ship.

Two-and-one-half weeks will be spent in both countries. In addition, specially planned visits, interviews with officials, and discussions conducted by tour leaders will round out the schedule.

Courses offered include an orientation survey consisting of an overall introduction to the civilization of France and England; political, economic, and social institutions and current problems; and foreign policy and international organization.

Supplementing lectures and seminars will be visits and field trips to cultural centers, schools, industrial plants, and government agencies.

Termination of the five-week program will provide the students with the opportunity to take one of four optional ten-day tours—Benelux; Switzerland, Italy, the Riviera; the Ruhr, Germany, Switzerland; or Scandinavia.

Doors of the auditorium will be opened one-half hour before the scheduled performances, and will be closed when all seats are taken.

Infirmary Head Lauds Work Of Service Group

Service by Alpha Phi Omega to patients in the College Infirmary has drawn favorable comment from the superintendent of the College Infirmary. Instituted by the service fraternity—often dubbed "Good Deeds Incorporated," the practice consists of supplying infirm patients with refreshments daily, and "making sure" patients have all items they wish from their regular living quarters.

Mrs. Carol H. Burt, College Infirmary superintendent, declared, "We endorse the practice enthusiastically. Alpha Phi Omega makes the rounds daily to take men patients' orders for ice cream and other things, and Mortar Board, senior women's hat society, does the same for the women. The patients certainly appreciate it very much."

Alpha Phi Omega's present hospital service committee is chaired by James Richards and includes Donald Beal, Louis Dal-lolio, Arthur Jaffee and Paul Shogren. According to Richards, the service is not only appreciated but has come to be anticipated by patients.

Alpha Phi Omega often undertakes other "good deeds" on campus, some of which are: helping in campus charity and other financial drives, placing tags on campus trees designating the types, ushering at the Community Forum Series, various clean-up jobs at the PSCA and other cabins, and an annual Easter Egg hunt for Windcrest children.

Alpha Phi Omega president is Philip Barker.

Judging Team Finishes Last

The College's national championship flower-judging team fell to the twelfth spot in the 12-team contest at Washington, D. C.

The University of Oklahoma's team took top honors and Ohio State's trio was runnerup.

The Nittany team was composed of Bob Cannard, John Early and Ted Kline, with Don Egolf as an alternate. Prof. Peter Pfhal, of the School of Agriculture, accompanied the team. The contest was sponsored by the Society of American Florists.

While the team was at the judging, it journeyed to Beltsville, Maryland for a tour of the United States Department of Agriculture buildings there.

Dr. Dahle

Two papers were delivered by Dr. C. D. Dahle, professor of dairy manufacture, before the annual Products Short Course conference at Ames, Ia. recently.
