Vote!

The Daily (Collegian

Today's Weather: Rain and cooler

VOL. 50 - NO. 120

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 19, 1950

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Miss Penn State To Reign Over Spring Week

College Voting Starts Today

Requests Booth Forms

Crowning of a coed from the College as Miss Pehs State of 1950 will provide the Grand Opening of Spring Week, set to begin Wednesday, May 17, it was announced by Jack Senior, head of the Spring Week committee.

The winner will reign over the Spring Week festivities, including the Spring Carnival and Senior Ball. The final judging to determine Miss Penn State will take place Wednesday night, May 17. The Carnival starts the next after-

Photos of candidates for Miss Penn State, who will be selected on the basis of beauty and photogenic qualities, may be submitted now by any organization or individual to Student Union desk in Old Main.

To Pick 3 Finalists

The photos must be at least 5 by 7 in size and must be turned in no later than 12 noon, April 29. Last year's Miss Penn State was Lois Kenyon, junior in psychol-

Three finalists will be determined by preliminary judging of the photographs. The three coeds chosen will be judged in person, formally attired, by a board of judges yet to be named by the Spring Week committee.

A site for the final judging has not yet been picked. The ceremony will serve as the formal opening to the Spring Week events, which will continue through Sunday, May 21.

Booths Duplicated
The Spring Week committee also urged all organizations plan-also urged all organizations plan-ning to enter a booth in the Carnival to turn in their application as soon as possible. Many applications have already been turned in, Senior added, and there have been several duplications. The first booth ideas received are being accepted, and organiza-tions with duplications must alter their plans. Booth blanks should be submitted soon enough to give the sponsoring group plenty of time to alter its booth, if necessary, before Carnival day, May

The deadline for turning in booth blanks is 12 noon, April 29, (Continued on page three)

Chapel Choir To Sing 'Elijah'

Mendelssohn's oratorio, "Eli-jah," will be presented by the Chapel Choir in Schwab Auditor-garet Tobias, contraito; and Arthur Bailey, tenor.

Committee All-College Candidates

ROBERT DAVIS (L) All-College president

—Photo by Billman BLAIR GREEN (S) All-College president

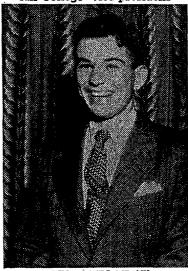

HARRY KONDOURAJIAN (L) All-College vice-president

PELTON WHEELER (S) All-College vice-president

EMERSON JONES (L) All-College secretary-treasurer

ROBERT FAST (S) All-College secretary-treasurer
—Photo by Billman

Chapel Choir in Schwab Auditorium Thursday, April 27, according to Mrs. Willa Taylor, director. The oratorio will begin at 7 p.m. Professional guest artists who will be heard in solo parts are Chester Watson bass-baritone; Barbara Troxell, soprano; Margaret Tybias, contralto; and Argaret Tybias, contralto; and Argaret Tybias, contralto; and Ar-

Sparks at 7:30 o'clock by the Collar weekend at Temple, the men will be reserved for the families church and Glenn Shaffer, coach of choir members, Mrs. Taylor said.

No admission charge will be made. An offering will be taken, night at Bucknell. Peter Giesey however, to help defray expenses. and Richard Schweiker also of mental the said the second and the second second

An open debate with Bucknell the men's debate squad, will make

Ine 117-voice choir will include several former members who will participate with the regular group on this occasion.

This year will mark the second performance of the oratorio in State College. The first was presented by the choir in the Spring of 1948. At that time, Watson and Miss Troxell appeared as soloists. Tickets will not be issued, but a small section of the auditorium will be reserved for the families of choir members, Mrs. Taylor of the State College in a debate on the topic of nationalizing non-agricultural industries. This will be one of the final debates this year.

Judges for the contest will be Prof. Lee E. Corter of the political science department, Rev. Edwerth E. Korte of the Lutheran church and Glenn Shaffer, coach of the State College in a debate on the topic of nationalizing non-agricultural industries. This will be one of the other schools is unsable to attend.

Famous Grid College's team will compete only if one of the other schools is unsable to attend.

Famous Grid Quotes

"The only thing to fear is the fear of not having a topnotch

-F. Roosevelt

Balloting To Determine College, Class Officers

By JACK BODDINGTON

The outcome of several weeks' active political campaign ing is being decided today and tomorrow in the lounge of . Old Main where students are casting ballots for all-College senior and junior class, and Athletic Association officers.

Biggest question mark is the struggle for the post of all-College president, sought by Blair Green of the State party and Robert Davis of the Lion clique. A three-way rac Politicos Call for AA president lists Home Barr, Louis Lamie, and Ru For Big Vote At Final Rally and class offices are:

Urge Large Turnout As Campaign Closes Blair Green (State) Campus politicians running for Vice-President All-College and class offices in the elections which open today stress-Pelton Wheeler (State) ed the importance of getting out Secretary-Treasurer

the student vote at their final pre-election appearance last night. Several hundred students jammed into the Temporary Un-ion building as candidates from President John Erickson (Lion) both the State and Lion parties made their final pleas at a rally sponsored before every election Otto Grupp (State)

by The Daily Collegian.

Henry "Hank" Glass served as master of ceremonies for the rally, which was the last chance the parties had to campaign. How-ever, there was little partisanship shown with leading lights of both cliques concentrating on an ap-peal to enlarge the percentage of student voters.

Students will go to the polls today and tomorrow to elect officers for All-College Cabinet and the senior and junior classes.

Green Blair Green, State candidate for All-College president termed the campaign conducted by both parties a "good, clean campaign," and said that, if they wanted to get things accomplished, students should turn out and vote. He said should turn out and vote. He said that no matter who wins nothing can be accomplished unless the student government has a majority of the students behind it.

Robert Davis, Lion candidate for the same post, stressed the importance of strong student government, adding that Milton S. Eisenhower, president-elect of the College, was a strong believer in student government. Pointing to the 34 per cent turnout at the polls last spring, he termed polls last spring, he termed "traitors" those students who did

The rally, which began with a dance session, was interrupted before the speeches by a parade of howling members of the Penn State Club, who were being initiated last night.

Seniors May Use $8500 For Gift

Approximately $8500 will be available for use as a senior class gift, James Balog, class president, announced yesterday. The exact amount will depend on financing for the Senior Ball next month, Balog said.

Deadline for selection of a gift is the third week in May. A meeting of the class is scheduled for next Wednesday at 7 p.m. in 121 Sparks when gift suggestions will be selected for inclusion on a Six-hundred and seventy February graduates have been contacted by mail for suggestions. Final decision on the gift will be determined by vote.

dolph Valentino as contenders The candidates for All-College ALL-COLLEGE President Robert Davis (Lion)

Harry Kondourajian (Lion) Emerson Jones (Lion) Robert Fast (State) SENIOR CALSS

Vice-President Wallace Miller (Lion) William Raymond (State) Secretary-Treasurer Lois Kenyon (Lion)
Jane Ashenfelter (State)

JUNIOR CLASS President
David Mutchler (Lion)
Robert Sopper (State) Vice-President Donald Carlson (Lion) Edward Clery (State) Secretary-Treasurer Ann Porter (Lion) Eleanor Chanko (State)

Appeals have been issued throughout the campaign for a bigger student turnout at the polls than ever before, with the two parties asserting that a more ef-

Today . . .

The Nittany Lion Roars

FOR his proteges, the young wildcats who during the last month have clawed savagely at each other with posters, radio ads, window campaigns, and other weapons of the political jungle. Loving nothing more than a good fight, the old growl-er settles back with an impatient rumble to watch as bis best men win.