Schwab Site Of Two Music Events Sunday

Schwab auditorium will be the site of two music events Sunday, with Jean Duvoisin giving an organ recital at 4 p.m. and a concert in the Simmons series scheduled for 8 p.m.

Miss Duvoisin, a graduate student at the College, will present a program of music by Bach, Vierne, and Bonnet. Her recital will be in four parts.

The German department's Simmons concert will feature Sheema Z. Buehne, instructor in German; Barry S. Brinspaud, assistant professor of music; Barbara Thomas, graduate student in music; and Barbara Bollman, senior in arts and letters. The program is a Mozart-Brahms recital. The Simmons series was established in 1946, in memory of the late Dr. Lucretia V. T. Simmons, who headed the department of German until 1939.

The afternoon's organ program will include Bach's "Sleepers, Awake," "Prelude and Fugue in D major," and "Trio Sonata No. 1," Vierne's "Berceuse," and "Scherzetto," and Bonnet's "Concert Variations."

The Simmons program schedules Mozart's Piano Sonata for Four Hands (No. 2 in B flat), by Mrs. Buehne and Brinspaud; Mozart's Sonata for Violin and Piano (No. 8), by Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Buehne; Mozart's Variations for Four Hands (G Major), by Mrs. Buehne and Brinspaud; six Brahms' songs by Miss Bollman, accompanied by Mrs. Buehne; and Brahms' Liebeslieder-Walzer (Op. 52) by Mrs. Buehne and Brinspaud.

$5.00 Tip: Your Chance To Win Money

Calling all campus news hounds!

Can you recognize good material for a human interest story when you hear about it?

If you can, the Daily Collegian is interested and will pay you $5.00 in cash if your entry is submitted as the best of the week.

On top of that, you may win $10.00 additional if, at the end of the semester, your tip is selected the best tip of the whole lot.

Terms, briefly, are these:

What the Daily Collegian wants, primarily, is a "tip" on where to go for a human interest story, a clever column item, a funny incident, or the like which will be about a student or faculty member—and publishable.

Put your tip in writing. Give enough essential information to enable a reporter to interview the person concerned and come up with a good yarn.

Send or bring your entries—"tips," in other words—to the Collegian Office, Carnegie Hall, no later than 5 p.m. Monday, May 8, for the first week's contest. Address your entries to the "Tipster Editor," Daily Collegian.

The winning entry will be determined within the week after May 8, and the prize-winning story, or item, will be published on Friday of each week.

For the first week's contest, file your entry at once, or any time up to 5 p.m. Monday. Be sure that all essential information, including name, class, State College, and hometown address of the person involved in the story, is included.

Include also your own name, your local telephone number and local address (State College).

"What we want," Thomas Morgan, Collegian editor said, "is enough information about a person to enable us to go to that person and obtain by interview a publishable human interest story."

"There must be lots of things which we don't know about students and faculty members that would make good human interest stories. We hope," he added, "to get a line on such persons through this contest."

Faculty, Student Group Named for Orientation

A 29-man faculty-student committee, headed by Wilmer E. Kenworthy, assistant to the president in charge of student affairs, has been named to formulate plans for the Fall Orientation Week, James Milholland, acting president of the College, has announced.

The program for the 1,250 freshmen and 2,650 sophomores will last for one week, beginning Sept. 11.

On the committee are H. K. Wilson, dean of men; Pearl O. Weston, dean of women; Edward Steidle, dean of the School of Mineral Industries; M. R. Trabue, dean of the School of Physical Education; L. E. Jackson, dean of the School of Agriculture.

H. P. Hammond, dean of the School of Engineering; Ben Euwema, dean of the School of Liberal Arts; G. L. Haller, dean of the School of Chemistry and Physics; Grace M. Henderson, dean of the School of Home Economics.

R. M. GERHARDT, dean of Admissions; R. W. McComb, College librarian; Col. A. R. Walk, Col. of Infantry, ROTC; Capt. J. L. Woodbury, U.S.N., NROTC; Col. J. E. Stewart, U.S.A.F., Air ROTC; Dr. H. R. Glenn, director of the College Health Service; Dr. B. V. Moore, professor of psychology.

Prof. Hummel Fishburn, head of the department of music; R. E. Galbraith, faculty counsellor of veterans; Luther Harshbarger, executive secretary of PSCA; R. V.

Degler To Edit

Stanley Degler has been named editor and Edwin Singel business manager of The Independent, Robert Kotzbauer, retiring editor of the AIM-Leonides publication has announced. They will assume their positions for the issue of May 14.

Staff members will meet in 8 Carnegie tonight at 7 o'clock.

AIM Proposes New Government Set-up

The Association of Independent Men has proposed a reorganization of independent student government which would affiliate dorm councils with an AIM Board of Governors.

At a meeting Wednesday night, AIM Council heard the first reading of the proposed new constitution. Already approved by the Nittany, Pollock, West Dorm, and Town Councils, the final reading will be made next week at the meeting of AIM.

Women Debaters Meet 5 Teams

The women's debating team will continue its heavy schedule for the second semester when it meets the Rutgers women debaters at 7:30 tonight in the Rockview State penitentiary.

Tomorrow afternoon, a team of two debaters will meet Oswego State Teacher's College at both 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock in McElwain Lounge.

A third debate will take place Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday when three women travel to American University in Washington, Gettysburg College, and Mt. Saint Mary's College in Emmitsburg, Md. The affirmative speakers for the College are: Norma Hollinder, Frances Markowitz, and Lois Pulver. Professor C. H. Schug will accompany them.

The theme for all debates will be, "Resolved: That the United States should nationalize its basic industries." The three debates will be non-decision, following the usual practice.

Tonight at the penitentiary, Christine Altenberger and Rosemary Delehanty of the College will defend the negative side of the proposal. Rutgers will take the affirmative.

The public is invited to attend tomorrow's debate in McElwain. Barbara Shiffman and Shirley Gallagher will speak for the College. At 3 o'clock, following the first half of the debate, Delta Alpha Delta, women's honorary, will sponsor an informal tea.

According to William Norcross, chairman of the reorganization committee, the new constitution will "unify and facilitate cooperation between the individual councils to handle the problems of their own areas." All male undergraduate independents will be members of AIM under the proposed new constitution.

As the constitution now stands, there will be a Board of Governors consisting of 31 voting members and seven ex-officio members who will have no vote. Members of the Board of Governors will be: chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer, the presidents, vice presidents, secretaries and treasurers of the four dorm councils. In addition there will be 11 other members in order to give representation to every 500 independent men.

The chairman of the Board of Governors corresponds to the present AIM president. He will be the organization's representative on All-College cabinet.

The functions of the Board of Governors include the determination of policies and programs concerning more than one council, enacting all laws and by-laws, and granting the right to any independent man to attend meetings and present any matter to the Board concerning student welfare. The Board of Governors may not interfere with the right of the Nittany, Pollock, West Dorm, and Town councils to "determine the policies and programs of their respective areas unless such action is contrary to the constitution or detrimental to AIM."
