

Delegates Travel to Bedford For Newman Club Convention

Two official delegates plus Newman Club officers from the College will leave for Bedford, Pa., today, to preside at the organization's Middle Atlantic Province convention this weekend.

Richard Curto and Daniel Cottone are chairmen of the convention; voting delegates are Arthur McHugh and Mary Lalli.

Approximately 200 Newman Club members from 79 eastern colleges will be present to discuss appointment of officers for the national convention in Cleveland this summer. Election of province officers will also be held. Joseph Hudak, president of the Penn State Club, will open the assembly tonight.

Panel sessions concerning the role of the Catholic student on the secular campus will be held tomorrow, to be followed by a banquet at which Carl Bauer, director of the center for Men of Christ at Herman, Pa., will speak on the importance of the Newman Clubs.

An informal dance will follow the dinner.

Rev. John H. Donnelly, chaplain at the University of Pennsylvania, and Rev. Joseph Schneider, youth director of the National Catholic Welfare committee, also will speak at the convention.

Rev. John Hacala, of Our Lady of Victory church in State College, will serve as host chaplain.

Club President Frank Eichenlaub has announced that any club members who desire rides to Bedford during the convention should contact Richard Curto, Nittany dorm 44, room 9.

Carlson Entered In Poetry Contest

Donald Carlson, accompanied by his coach, Prof. William Hamilton of the speech department, will leave today for the Eastern Intercollegiate Poetry Reading Festival to be held at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn.

Carlson, a fourth semester speech major, was chosen from 50 contestants to represent the College at the annual Festival. He will read "The Congo" by Vachel Lindsay at tomorrow's contest.

There are no judges at the festival and no awards are given to contestants, Prof. Hamilton said.

Penn State is one of the few "western" colleges invited to the festival, since most of the participants are from the eastern seaboard.

College Enters Debate Meet

Peter Giesey and Richard Schweiker of the men's debate team will be competing at West Point today in a national debating tournament.

The two are replacing a team from the University of Pennsylvania which dropped out of the tournament. In regional eliminations for this meet, held earlier this month at Temple University, the College's team placed fifth, but only four schools were to take part in the finals.

The other three schools representing an area covering six eastern states are Navy, Roanoke and St. Peters. Prof. H. J. O'Brien is accompanying the College team. Debating Coach J. F. O'Brien is also attending.

Another part of this tournament will be the finals for the James Madison Oratorical Contest in which Joel Fleming is competing for the College. This contest is sponsored by the New York Journal-American.

Mt. Nittany Hike Set For Sunday

The Association of Independent Men's all-College hike originally scheduled for last Sunday afternoon will be held this Sunday at 1:30 p.m.

Lunch tickets may be picked up at Student Union until 5 p.m. Friday, Chairman Richard Mills of the planning committee announced yesterday. The price is 35 cents. Members of the planning committee are John Clark, James Holland, and Robert Huling.

The hike will be to Nittany mountain, a distance of three miles each way. Everyone is invited to go; those interested should meet at 1:30 Sunday behind Old Main.

This is the first all-College hike since 1942, when the Penn State Christian Association sponsored a similar hike. The guide will be Walter Edinger.

Fleming was selected to take part in this annual contest through a series of eliminations held at the College in March.

Dixielanders --

Appearing with the Wilkes-Barre cats will be Tex Mulcahy, jazz trombone soloist with Artie Shaw, Johnny Long and others. His solo on Shaw's "Back Bay Shuffle" is considered by many as one of the finest on wax. His husky vocals have graced both Long's and Vaughn Monroe's cuttings of "Basin Street Blues."

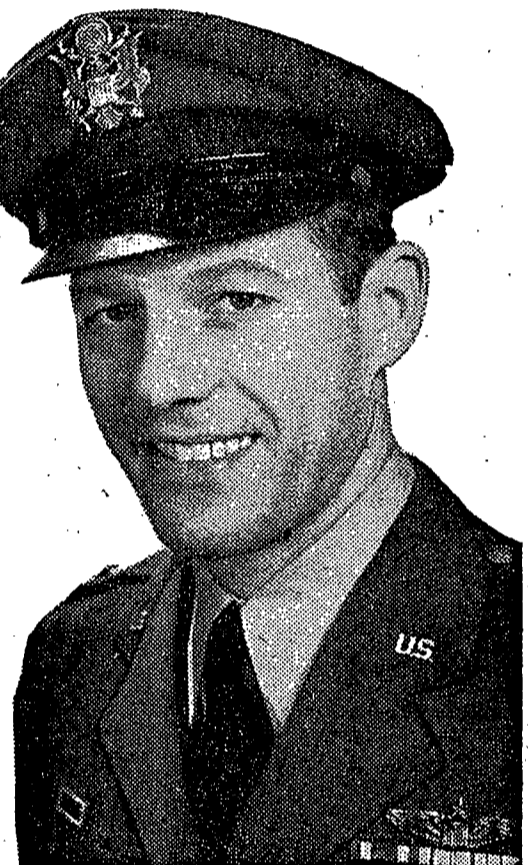

The gentlemen of the Dixieland-styled Birmingham Five will lay aside their Marx and Neitzsche long enough to participate in their first concert appearance. These hardy perennials include pianist Larry Anesco, clarinetist Frank Eiland, cornetist Jim Heanue, bassist Bob Huber, and drummer Euge Witmer.

Tickets for the TUB concert, priced at 50 cents, are available at Student Union in Old Main.

Capt. Paul Buskey, Middlebury, '38 Air Intelligence, U.S. Air Force

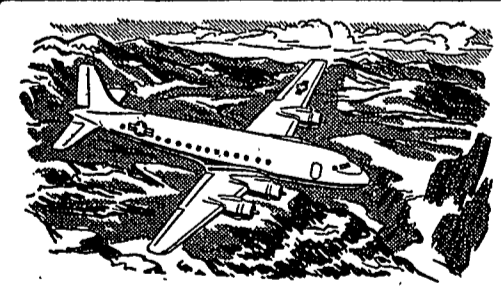

An excellent student at Middlebury College, Vermont, Paul found time to win the coveted All Sports Trophy in his senior year. He graduated in June, 1938.

He then joined a coated paper mill firm as research and control man. Pearl Harbor changed all that—Paul went to Maxwell Field to begin Aviation Cadet training.

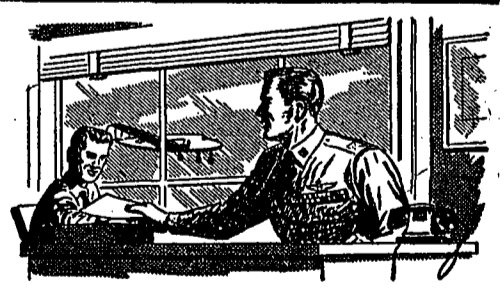

An outstanding Cadet, 2nd Lt. Paul Buskey was held over as an instructor after graduation. Then he was assigned as a pilot in the Air Transport Command.

His big plane education was topped with 23 missions over the far-famed "Hump," flying C-54 transports. After V-J Day, he stayed on in the Far East until March of 1948—specializing in Air Intelligence.

Back home, after accepting a Regular Air Force Commission, Captain Buskey went to Air Tactical school, was there rated an outstanding student, and won assignment to Command and Staff school.

Today, Captain Buskey is an Air Intelligence Officer on MATS Headquarters Staff at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington, D. C. He looks forward to a rewarding future in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force.
