Weather Fails to Halt Activities Of Annual Gala Spring Festival

Staggered by yesterday's downpour, Spring Weekend will attempt to recover its steam with tonight's Senior Ball.

Weekend merry-makers are destined to be burdened by rain coats, however, if the weather man can be taken for his word. Although fair weather is expected for today and tonight, showers are expected for both tomorrow and Sunday.

Today and tonight are expected to be cloudy, but warm and fair. Considerable cloudiness, warm, humid temperatures, and showers are expected to prevail tomorrow and Sunday.

Miss Penn State Named

The festivities of the gala weekend were opened Wednesday with the naming of Mary Anne Hanna as "Miss Penn State of 1950." Miss Hanna, crowned in Schwab Auditorium following a huge parade through town, will reign over Spring Weekend.

Charlie Spivak, the man who plays the "sweetest trumpet in the world," will provide the music for several thousand Penn Staters and their guests who are expected to attend the Senior Ball in Recreation Hall tonight. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock and Mr. Spivak and his cohorts will play until 1 a.m.

Tickets At SU

Tickets, which sell for $4 per couple, can be obtained at the Student Union desk in the lobby of Old Main today from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tickets will also be on sale at the door.

With the "Town and Gown Carnival" washed out, "Mad Hatter's Day" will provide some of the comic relief. The event, directed by Elliot Krane, former editor of Froth, will award three $5 prizes to those wearing the cleverest, most original, and daring chapeaus.

The Carnival has been rescheduled for next Friday.

There are some tickets remaining for tonight's performance of the Players production, "Yes, My Darling Daughter" at Centre Stage. Tickets may be purchased for tonight's performance at the Student Union desk. Admission is 90 cents.

House Parties Saturday

Saturday will be replete with house parties, picnics, athletic events, a Players production, and an Association of Independent Men dance.

Mad Hats To Go On View Today

Want to win $5 for Senior Ball tonight?

All you have to do is wear a screwy, novel, or Springish hat today, and you have a good chance to walk away with one of three $5 cash prizes.

Elliot Krane, who is in charge of "Mad Hatters Day" said yesterday that judging of the hats will be decided on the basis of cleverness, humor, and Spring Week motif. Make or buy a hat to fit one or all of these three categories, and then do this:

By Old Main

Wear your hat all day, but be sure to pass in front of Old Main sometime between 10 o'clock this morning and 2 o'clock this afternoon. You will be reviewed by a group of judges who will decide whether or not your lid has the necessary qualifications to be considered for the final judging.

If your hat is considered outstanding, you will be presented with a tag, and then you return to Old Main at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There a four-member board of judges will give all the hats a final once-over and award the three cash prizes.

Final Judges

Krane announced the final judges as Dr. Margaret H. Zook, associate professor of clothing and textiles at the College; Mrs. Betty C. Delavan, instructor of clothing and textiles; and two wives of newspapermen who will be attending the PNPA convention here this weekend.

Cabinet Hears Proposal For New Appeal Court

Added Body Would Review Student Pleas

By GEORGE GLAZER

A constitutional amendment evolving from the recent controversy over powers of the Women's Student Government Association and All-College Cabinet was given its first reading at last night's All-College Cabinet meeting.

Ted Allen, ex-All-College president, brought in a recommendation from a meeting of WSGA and Cabinet representatives held previous to the Cabinet meeting regarding powers of WSGA's Judicial committee and Tribunal.

In his recommendation, Allen advocated the formation of a new judicial body, the Student Court of Appeals. This Court would act as a supreme court on all appeals by students of Judicial and Tribunal decisions, with the following exception:

Student Appeals

In cases involving men's and women's living unit regulations, men would appeal Tribunal decisions to All-College Cabinet; women, to the WSGA Senate.

On all decisions involving All-College regulations, final decisions would be decided by the new Court of Appeals.

The Court also would decide what rules will be considered All-College regulations and what will be known as living unit rules.

The members of the proposed body will be the All-College President, chairman; the presidents of Interfraternity Council, Pan-Hellenic Council, Association of Independent Men, Leonides, and WSGA, and the All-College vice-president.

Women's Cases

In cases involving women, the head of Judicial will be present. In the trying of men, the chairman of Tribunal will attend the meeting. The chairman would vote only in case of a tie.

The proposed change in the judicial setup is a constitutional amendment and must be passed three times by Cabinet before it (Continued on page five)

Why so sad and wan, fair ladies? These cute coeds, disappointed with yesterday's weather, nevertheless have ventured forth equipped for the occasion, and hoping for better on the big weekend. They are (left to right) Pat Owen, Nancy Anderson, and Lois Pandy.

Rain Puts Damper On Spring Carnival

It rained.

And it rained.

And it rained some more.

For the second consecutive year, old Jupe Pluvius scowled darkly on the Spring Week Carnival yesterday. An early morning downpour augmented by intermittent showers throughout the day forced postponement of the big event. Next Friday has been set as the tentative date for another go at the Carnival. Over 55 organizations had entered the Carnival yesterday and will be forced to wait until next Friday for the big affair.

Spring Week opened under ideal conditions Wednesday night, but the good weather just didn't hold out for the second big Spring Week event.

Will Continue

Spring Week, however, will continue as planned. Today will be "Mad Hatter's Day," followed by the Senior Ball tonight. Tomorrow afternoon's agenda will include several athletic events with houseparties in the evening. Sunday afternoon the Blue Band will present a concert in front of the Library.

The big event opened Wednesday night with a colorful parade of campus and town organizations, which was witnessed by several thousand town and College people.

Shortly after the parade disbanded, the "Coronation Review" opened in Schwab Auditorium formally to initiate the big week. Mary Anne Hanna was selected and crowned as Miss Penn State for 1950. She will reign over the entire week of festivities.

Other Finalists

The other three finalists, Candy Griffith, Jane Mullen, and Joan Marshall, will be her attendants. The winning coed was selected by the five-member board of judges at the end of the gala show.

Sidney Manes directed the program and Henry "Hank" Glass was emcee. The climax of the show was the coronation of Miss Penn State by Marlene Carozzo, Miss Pennsylvania of 1949.

The winner, Mary Anne Hanna, went through an honor guard formed by snappily-dressed members of Scabbard and Blade, honorary of the advanced Air, Army, and Naval ROTC units. Many gifts from various local merchants were presented to her as the grand finale closed out the show.

Parade Held

The parade which preceded the Coronation Review was an impressive array of local groups. In addition to four decorated floats for each of the queen finalists, cars appeared with each of five past campus queens.

Cabinet Approves $15 Fee To Finance Student Union

By MARY KRASNANSKY

All-College Cabinet last night took the first step toward a $15 student assessment for the coming scholastic year as a means of financing the proposed Student Union Building. The vote was 21 to nothing with 3 abstaining.

Cabinet will have to approve the assessment at its next meeting before it becomes official. The motion will come up for final approval next Thursday.

As approved last night the motion calls for a $7.50 assessment on every student for each semester of the 1950-51 scholastic year. The assessment then will be upped to $10 a semester "for so long as it is practical."

The cost of the building was placed at between two and three million dollars by James MacCallum, former All-College secretary-treasurer, who recommended the motion. The motion was put on record by Harry Kondourajian, All-College vice-president. Final plans for the building are ready, MacCallum said, and construction should start in the Fall. The building would be complete, he said, by the following year.

Refunds from BX Available Now

The 20 per cent refund on all cash receipts from purchases made at the Student Book Exchange from Feb. 7 until Monday, May 29, inclusive, can be picked up at the BX in the TUB now. Receipts may be cashed in until May 29, when the BX will cease operations for this semester.

Bluebooks will continue to be on sale at the used book agency in the TUB until June 7. If those who have receipts fail to present them by May 29, they will not be paid.

Mass Meeting To Hear Lorch

A mass meeting, in which both sides of the controversy over the dismissal of Dr. Lee Lorch would be heard, is tentatively scheduled for Tuesday night.

Plans for the meeting, to be co-sponsored by the student and the faculty committees for academic freedom, were disclosed last night by Seymour Schuster.

Schuster, chairman of the student committee, also announced that approximately 1000 signatures have been counted on a student petition which requests the administration to reconsider its dismissal of Dr. Lorch. He said that not all the petition blanks have been returned and that tabulations will not be complete until early next week.

Neither the administration nor Dr. Lorch has been approached yet in connection with the mass meeting, the student committee head said. He explained that in the meeting "each side would present its stand and be subject to questions from the audience."
