Notes Protest Police Force

WASHINGTON — The United States, Great Britain, and France all sent protest notes to Russia yesterday on the so-called police force in East Germany. Each note accused the Russians of using that police force as a disguise for an army. The U. S. note was the most emphatic of the three.

GM Contract Agreement

DETROIT—General Motors and the CIO auto union have worked out a new contract which will run for five years. The contract provides for $100-a-month pensions, counting federal benefits. General Motors also guaranteed a raise of four cents an hour each year, a 20-cent total, during the contract. A cost-of-living formula was retained. Both the CIO and the GM officials are calling the contract significant and historical.

Truman Proclamation

WASHINGTON — President Truman yesterday issued a proclamation in which he asked all Americans to pray between 11 a.m. and 12 noon, EDT, Decoration Day, for divine help in bringing a permanent peace.

Ten Citations Are Made in Architecture

Ten students in architecture and architectural engineering received awards, M. S. Osborne, professor and head of the department of architecture, announced yesterday.

Carl R. Kohler, chosen as the graduating senior with the most distinguished record in design for the entire course, received The American Institute of Architects Medal and a copy of "Mont St. Michel and Chartres." Another copy of "Mont St. Michel and Chartres" was presented to Richard Aronson.

The Alpha Rho Chi Medal to the graduating senior who has shown an ability for leadership, performed willing service, and gives promise of real professional merit, was awarded to Robert M. Tinstman, while John W. Long, Jr. won the Pennsylvania Society of Architects Student Award of books on architecture.

In Beaux Arts Institute of Designing competition, the following awards were made: for a two bedroom house, first, Taylor M. Potter; second, Curtis C. Schafer; first mention place, Stanford C. Seiple. Emerson Prize, second medal, Aronson, Kohler, and Long, Paris Prize, placed in final competition, John J. Mooney; and John Stewardson Scholarship, placed in final competition, Long.

Leinbach Presents Fraternity Plan

Harold Leinbach, IFC president, has formulated a four-point program which he hopes to have carried out by the fraternities throughout the coming school year.

The program calls for a strong unbiased board of control with definite procedures set up for its operation to prevent unjust discrimination against any house. The IFC president's second point is that the IFC should meet its problems with an adult view and work for the good of all houses.

Leinbach's third point calls for close co-operation between IFC and AIM. The two groups should work together to further everyone's interest. The fourth point of the Leinbach's program is close co-operation by the IFC with the administration.

Econ Reception

The department of economics and commerce will hold an informal reception for graduating seniors in economics and commerce at the TUB tomorrow at 7 p.m. All graduating seniors who have not received their invitations should call at 106 Sparks for them.

Cabinet Gives 2nd Reading To Amendment

The proposed constitutional amendment that would set up a student Court of Appeals was given its second reading at a special meeting of All-College Cabinet yesterday afternoon.

The amendment will come up for a vote Thursday afternoon when Cabinet meets next. The amendment must be read three times and approved by Cabinet before it can become law.

Under the amendment, the new body would act as a supreme court on all appeals by students from decisions of Judicial and Tribunal.

The amendment provides that WSGA will have the authority to appoint the members of Judicial under the provisions of its own constitution. A controversy between Cabinet and WSGA over the constitutionality of WSGA's appointments to Judicial brought about the new amendment, which is a product of a joint WSGA-Cabinet committee meeting last week.

Court's Jurisdiction

The new court will have jurisdiction over all appeals from Judicial and Tribunal except those involving men's and women's dormitory units. Men would appeal decisions on such matters to Tribunal, and the women would appeal to Judicial.

The court also will decide what rules will be considered All-College regulations and what will be held living unit rules.

Replying to a question from John Erickson, senior class president, Pearl O. Weston, dean of women, said she knew of no All-College regulations referring to women. The new amendment would, however, Miss Weston said, cover any such regulations that Cabinet might make in the future.

Members of the Court

Members of the Court of Appeals will be the All-College president, chairman; the presidents of IFC, Pan-Hellenic Council, AIM, Leonides, and WSGA, and the All-College vice-president.

The head of Judicial will be present in cases involving women. (Continued on page two)

Referendum Is Sought On SU Assessment

The Nittany Dorm Council voted Monday night "to go on record as opposing the $15 assessment for Student Union" and authorized a petition calling for a student referendum to be circulated in the Nittany-Pollock area.

The petition will be presented at the next meeting of All-College Cabinet by members of the Nittany Council.

The petition states that the signers "stand opposed to the questionable tactics employed by All-College Cabinet regarding the contemplated assessment of all undergraduate students to pay for the construction of a Student Union building."

The petition also requests that "the issue be put to a referendum and that only those students affected by the assessment be allowed to vote."

Frank Turk, Nittany Council president, and John Clark, member of the council Public Welfare committee, drew up the petition Monday night. They had hoped to get the referendum proposal on the agenda of yesterday's special All-College Cabinet meeting, but were unable to do so.

The area dorm presidents and other interested persons started distributing the petition yesterday morning and afternoon and will continue the distribution until Thursday, when All-College Cabinet meets.

About one fourth of the men in the area had signed the petition by last night. There were indications that feeling was strong for the holding of a student referendum. However, some in the area have criticized the reference in the petition to "the questionable tactics employed by All-College Cabinet."

New Machine Placed In TUB

A new type of vending machine for student use has been installed in the TUB.

The machine enables students to purchase six-ounce cans of fruit juice at 10 cents each. The juice machine works by dry air refrigeration, as do the Pepsi-Cola vendors also in operation in the TUB and PUB.

The new machine is about the size of the Pepsi machines, and features a variety of flavors. According to Richard Haupt, student in charge of the vendor, all flavors available will be tried to see which are the most popular.

Farmer To Go On Sale Soon

The Penn State Farmer will feature an article on "Livestock and Grasslands" in its May issue which will be out late this week, according to Marlowe Hartung, editor.

This article, written by William Mohn, shows how a large scale "Texas" grassland farming operation is succeeding in Chester County, Pa.

Other articles in the current issue will be "Fire in the Hollow", a graphic picture of ditching with dynamite; "Master of All Situations", a story about vocational agriculture practice teachers; "Your Old Swimming Hole", a story about farm ponds; and two stories about weed control and the building of homemade weed sprayers.

Old, New WSGA Senate Members To Hold Retreat

New and retiring members of the WSGA Senate and its advisors will attend a retreat held at the PSCA cabin from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today.

Under discussion will be the agenda for next year and how to carry on meetings according to parliamentary procedure.

A plan for the training of prospective officers of women's government will be considered.

Students To Get Opportunity For Study South of Border

An opportunity to visit south of the border and study at the University of Michoacana, located in Morelia, Mexico, is being offered to the country's college students this summer, by the foreign studies institute.

Dr. Philip C. Newman, professor of economics at the College, and the American Registrar of the University of Michoacana in this country, said recently that many applications have been received and more are coming in each day. Total registration is limited to 75 students.

The summer session begins July 5 and ends August 11. A total of nine credits may be obtained. All credits will be accepted by the College.

The university is accredited under Public Laws 346 and 16.

According to Dr. Newman, a veteran can therefore visit Mexico, attend the university, and return without any outlay on his part.

Room and Board

Room and board in Morelia may be obtained in hotels from $1.50 to $3 per day. However, a limited number of students may be placed in private homes for as little as $2.50 per day. This rate also includes laundry. Tuition is $50 regardless of the course or number of hours taken by the student.

Dr. Newman said recently that he expects to drive a group of students from the College to Mexico soon after June 13. He will teach two courses at the university; labor problems, and international economics. His wife,

Prof. Ruth Newman, will offer abnormal psychology. All courses are worth three credits.

Beautiful Weather

The city of Morelia is 250 miles from Mexico City. The sun is mild, the air dry, and the atmosphere is always pleasant as the city is 6,398 feet above sea level. According to Dr. Newman, prices are extremely low. For example, according to Dr. Newman, an excellent fullcourse meal costs only $1.40.

According to Dr. Newman, the students will be amazed at the variety of beautiful, hand-made souvenirs that can be bought at a very low price.

Students interested in making the trip should see Dr. Newman, 506 West College avenue, or call at his office, 107 Sparks.

Ag Ed Men Win Awards

Over $500 in prizes were awarded to eight agricultural engineering students at a banquet held at the State College Country Club Monday night.

James May, won a $100 first prize for an essay on "Conservation Farming and the Farm Implement Industry." Loren Sadler, won another first prize with an essay on fertilizer placement and crop planting. Also winner of $100 was John Herr, with an essay on "Pick-up Balers vs. Field Forage Harvesters."

Second Prizes

Second prizes of $50 each were awarded to John Zahradnik, Clarence Fahnestock, and Douglas Enslin. Harold Wenker and William Hartman were winners of third prizes of $35.

The contest was sponsored by A. B. Farquhar Co., New Holland Machine Co., and Gash-Steel Co. William Fisher, president of the Farquhar Co., was present at the banquet and spoke on "The Importance of Communication in Industry."

Six Are Finalists In Speech Contest

The six winners of Monday night's eliminations for the John Henry Frizell extemporaneous speaking contest will compete in the finals in 121 Sparks, at 7:30 p.m. this Friday, Prof. Clayton H. Schug, announced.

Finalists are Peggy Fahringer, Nathan Feinstein, Joel Fleming, Gene Kolber, Marilyn Mahla, and Barbara Schiffman. Dr. Robert T. Oliver, head of the speech department, is chairman of the judges for the finals.

The Frizzell contest is an annual contest, in honor of the first head of the department of speech at the College. Prizes of $50 and $25 are awarded the two winners.
