N. Korean Forces Threaten Taejon; Retreat Expected

Korea—The latest field reports last night said that outnumbered American forces still held Taejon, but there are mounting signs the city soon will be overrun by Korean Communists. The Americans appear to be heading toward a foothill line 35 miles southeast of Taejon—an area more easily defended than the flat terrain near Taejon where Red armor and superior numbers have been so effective. Our fliers continued to give close support to ground forces. Bombers, including B-29's pounded targets in the battle zone, and our airmen shot down two Yak planes.

Truman To Report

Washington—President Truman will send a message on Korea to Congress tomorrow and, later in the day, report to the nation by radio and television. The message to congress will be sent at noon (E-D-T) and the radio report will be carried by the four major networks at 10:30 p.m. (E-D-T). The White House said that neither the message nor the broadcast talk has been completed, but Government officials have predicted Mr. Truman will call for controls over steel, curbs on consumer credit, and possibly a tax increase.

British May Give Aid

London—There was a hint here today that the British may send ground forces to Korea. A qualified informant gave the hint, and he said that more than a token force is needed in the long campaign that appears ahead. The informant added: Britain does not shirk her commitments.

Argentina Awaits Word

Buenos Aires—Argentina has announced she is willing to help the United Nations in Korea. The Buenos Aires government said all it needs is a request from General MacArthur.

Coffee Prices Up

New York—The A and P Grocery chain here has raised the price of its coffee from four to five cents a pound. Trade circles here expect other chains to make similar boosts.

Thursday Set As Picnic Date

The annual picnic of the summer session students and faculty and their families of the School of Physical Education and Athletics will be held Thursday, July 20. Complete details will be announced at a later date.

Pennsylvania Workshop Sponsored by Ed. School

For the eleventh summer, the School of Education is sponsoring the Pennsylvania Workshop, a six-week seminar in a new type of education which has recently gained wide popularity throughout the United States.

The Workshop covers the elementary and secondary education fields and is designed to meet the needs of experienced teachers, guidance workers, and administrators. More than 200 persons from all sections of the country are attending this summer's Workshop. The majority are, of course, from Pennsylvania.

Meet Daily
The Workshop members are divided into groups which work on specific problems. These committees meet every day at 8 a.m. and continue till about 3 p.m. The program also includes special time-outs for coffee, group get-togethers for square dancing and other forms of relaxation, lectures on certain phases of the work, panel discussions on current educational topics, and special conferences between the students and their advisors.

The Woman's Building is the center of the Workshop's busy program. Classes and meetings are held in the building which also has lounges, offices, a specially equipped library, and other materials needed by the Workshop members. Many of the women enrolled in the Workshop room on the upper floors of the building.

LaVie Pictures

Students who will receive bachelor degrees at the end of the Main Summer Session or at the close of Post Session, today were reminded to have pictures taken for the 1951 LaVie, senior yearbook, before leaving State College.

William Zakor, editor of the 1951 book, said that seniors, who were not included in the 1950 LaVie, would be included in the book to be published next May. Pictures are taken at the Penn State Photo Shop, official photographers for the 1951 LaVie.

A completely new sod will be ready for Penn State's opening football game against Georgetown in September.

Horticultural Group Slates Full Schedule for Meeting

A full schedule is slated for the large number meeting on campus tomorrow and Thursday for the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Horticultural Association. In addition to a series of discussions, the group will have a chance to inspect the experimental work in the College orchards as well as a number of special exhibits of packing and packaging materials.

Discussions on marketing, slated for Thursday in 121 Sparks, will be led by a number of prominent men in the field. George Goodling, president of the association, will preside.

Dr. Milton Eisenhower, new College president, will be introduced at the meeting.

Special Program

The discussion groups will cover such topics as "The Distribution and Marketing of Apples," and "The Boosting of Apples Sales." A special program has also been arranged for the Women's Auxiliary of the association. Experiment dealing with spraying, pruning, cover crops, and orchard management will be inspected. Ideas for packaging will be displayed by several commercial firms in Room 8 of the Plant Industries building. These exhibits will be open for inspection both tomorrow and Thursday.

Arrangement for the meeting have been made by the horticulture staff and J. U. Reuff, association secretary and extension pomologist.

Graduate Record

The Graduate Record examinations will be given at the College Aug. 4 and 5. Application blanks are available in 207 Buckhout Lab. Registration must be complete in Princeton, N. J., prior to July 20.
