

Bars Removed To Preserve Fraternity System--H. K. Wilson

H. K. Wilson, dean of men, has termed the removal of bars from the fraternities a "move to help preserve the fraternity system at Penn State."

The interfraternity council has formed a committee to see if the ruling of removing the bars has been carried out. This committee will confer with Dean Wilson and other officials to discuss what to look for when they visit the houses. "This committee will then investigate, and report to Dean Wilson," Harold Leinbach, president of the Interfraternity council said.

Dean Wilson said that with the graduation of many older men and the influx of younger students, the removal of bars was deemed by the administration to be a necessary measure. He added he hoped that the "students would see the problem, recognize the need for solution, and take their full share in correcting this problem."

Dean Wilson stated that the dean of men's office would cooperate to the fullest extent with IFC concerning violations of the regulation and that any violations "would be dealt with drastic disciplinary action."

Sabbath Service At Hillel Tonight

First Sabbath Eve service at Hillel foundation 113 W. Beaver avenue, will be tonight at 8 o'clock.

Rabbi Benjamin Kahn, director of the foundation, will officiate. A panel discussion will be conducted by three members of the Hillel executive committee, Ralph Cash, president; Dorothy Radack, vice-president; and Coleman Gainsburg, vice-president.

Members of the governing board will be host at an "at-home" mixer tomorrow at 8 p.m. A film program will be presented Sunday at 7:15 p.m. followed by a reception.

Catholics Belong To Newman Club

The Penn State chapter of the Newman club is the religious and social organization for the two thousand Catholic students on campus.

Each year the Newman club sponsors at least three religious discussion groups per week, and in April the group was host for the convention of the Middle Atlantic province of Newman clubs in Bedford, Pa.

Other Newman club activities include mixers, the annual picnic, and receptions for visiting lecturers.

Newman club headquarters is Our Lady of Victory church on Fairmount avenue. Rev. John Hacala is the campus chaplain.

Officers of the club for this year are, Drew Mahla, president; Michael Geronimo, first vice-president; and Janet Maginnis, recording secretary. Additional officers will be elected later.

Draft Beckons Campus Wheels

A minor uproar in student government circles was caused by Uncle Sam last week as two student government officials and the La Vie editor received draft notices.

Emerson Jones, all-college secretary-treasurer, was classified 1A by his draft board, but received a deferment until he finishes his senior year.

David Mutchler, junior class president, was called into service with the organized naval reserve, and then was given a six-month deferment. Mutchler served three years in the Navy as an electronics technician second class. He served as an instructor at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

William Zakor, editor of the 1951 La Vie, senior yearbook, was classified 1A, and is awaiting further notification from his draft board.

Jones and Zakor are not veterans of World War II.

LA Council To Meet

The will be a meeting of the Liberal Arts Student Council in 107 Willard Hall, 7 p.m. Monday. Edward Shanken, president of the council, said the meeting is to formulate plans for the new semester.

Lou Lamic, basketball captain-elect, needs only 242 points to set a new three-year scoring high at Penn State.
