Street Fights Still Raging Within Seoul

TOKYO—Though General MacArthur has announced that the seizure of Seoul is complete, street fighting is still raging. North Korean Communist Forces fled to the north of the city, but about 5,000 remained, apparently preferring death to surrender.

The big link-up of allied forces has been accomplished. Tanks rushing northward from the old South Korea beachhead have contacted armored patrols between Suwon and Osan. When consolidated, the line will encircle the bulk of the Korean Red Army of more than 100,000 troops.

UN To Study Charges

LAKE SUCCESS—The UN Assembly has decided to take up charges of Russian aggression in China and to continue to watch the Greek-Balkan case.

Britain is said to be taking over the job of finding a basis for settlement of the Korean War. Three steps will be presented to the UN Assembly: establishment of an independent, united Korea; continuance of help to repel any attacks; a democratic government elected under UN supervision set up; and a new UN commission created to make sure the UN's recommendations are obeyed.

'Crusade' Agents To Contact Greeks

Every fraternity man will be personally contacted for "Crusade for Freedom" signatures and contributions under a plan released yesterday by IFC President Harold Leinbach.

A committee of three men, John Atkinson, Don McIntyre, and Walter Sachs, will arrange for a representative in every fraternity house. This agent will personally solicit every member of his house.

Scrolls and money will be returned by Saturday.

Earlier, plans were announced for contacting women students, independent men, and faculty and administration officials. Robin Brunner is handling the "Crusade" among women students; AIM President Richard Bard, the independents, and Dr. Alfred G. Pundt, staff.

Frosh Revolutionists Back Undercover After Uprisal

Open rebellion by freshmen against hatmen and customs appeared to have subsided again yesterday after the weekend spree of "hangings."

Hatmen reported that frosh reprisals apparently had ended for the moment.

Meanwhile, Tribunal Chairman Neil See warned frosh yesterday that all freshmen must continue to wear their large (4" x 6") name cards for another two weeks.

Because of a misunderstanding, the College is not supplying smaller name cards this year and in their absence the original signs must be retained, he explained.

A mass meeting of all hatmen is planned for 121 Sparks at 7 o'clock tomorrow night to discuss customs. Hat society leaders termed the meeting important.

All-College President Robert Davis told Collegian yesterday that he had found several "threatening" notes from frosh tacked on the door of his room in the West Dorms recently. Davis is a member of Skull and Bones.

Davis said he disapproved strongly of freshmen placing a "tombstone" on President Ather-ton's grave behind Schwab auditorium.

Eisenhower Backs Concert Program

President Milton S. Eisenhower endorsed the Community Concert series yesterday, praising the plan which will bring outstanding musical artists to Schwab auditorium.

The president predicted a sellout of the 1200 concert memberships which will go on sale Monday.

"I am delighted to learn that a Community Concert association is being formed in State College," he said, "the stimulus, to say nothing of the simple enjoyment I get in hearing the performances of a few fine artists each year has meant a great deal to me."

Patrol Reports Less Thievery This Semester

The amount of reported thievery on campus this semester has been very small compared with that of previous years, according to Captain P. A. Mark, head of the campus patrol.

"Either there are fewer thieves around this year or the student body is more alert," he said. "Only two pocketbooks and one coat have been reported missing so far. This of course doesn't include thefts that may not have been reported to us."

Most campus thefts occur in Rec Hall locker rooms and classroom hallways where coats are left unguarded, according to Captain Mark. He cited last year's epidemic of wallet thefts in Rec Hall, almost all of which took place when the owners left their locker doors open while taking showers.

Last year there was only one case of breaking and entering, when the darkroom of the Alpha Zeta fraternity house was broken into and photographic equipment was stolen.

"Almost all thefts can be prevented," said Captain Mark. "If each student is careful about keeping his belongings in a safe place at all times and isn't too trusting the amount here on campus could be reduced considerably. It's sad but true that there are thieves around here, and the less temptation they have the better off everyone will be."

Laundry Heads To Convene Here

President Milton S. Eisenhower will greet more than 150 representatives of state institutions as they convene tomorrow afternoon at the College to start the conference for institutional laundry managers and engineers. The conference will continue through Friday.

After President Eisenhower's greeting, R. Bruce Dunlap, director of institutional management in the State Department of Welfare, will speak on "Power Plant to Laundry and Return."

Dean George L. Haller, of the School of Chemistry and Physics, will welcome the laundry managers, and Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, director of the Ellen H. Richards institute, will speak on "Advances in the Science of Laundering."

Forum Series Season Tickets Placed On Sale

Community forum season tickets now are on sale through student representatives in all dormitories, fraternities, and at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

Tickets, priced at $3, will be sold until the end of the week.

This year's forum features lectures by Ogden Nash, noted wit and writer of light verse; Archduke Otto of Austria-Hungary, European political observer; Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture association; Andre Maurois, French biographer-essayist, and Emily Kimbrough, author of "Our Hearts were Young and Gay" and other books.

Tickets will also be available to faculty representatives in each school, the Commerce club, and each of the sponsoring organizations.

16 Make Phys Ed Honor List

Sixteen students in the School of Physical Education and Athletics have been cited by Dean Carl P. Schott for outstanding scholarship during the spring semester.

Two students finished with perfect 3 averages. They were Helen Milligan and Evelyn Lanning. Both had been named to the dean's list twice previously.

Seniors who made the list were Charles Beatty, 2.56; Mary Bowler, 2.77; Stephen Czarnecki, 2.61; Charles Godlasky, 2.57; Donald Koontz, 2.57; Marion Martin, 2.82; James Maurey, 2.50; Virginia Miller, 2.66; Helen Milligan, 3.00; Joseph Mirezni, 2.50; Nancy Mae Smith, 2.66; and William Taylor, 2.85.

The juniors were Evelyn Lanning, 3.00; and Marilyn Williams, 2.65. The two sophomores who made the grade were Ruth Wehofer, 2.85 and Hardy Williams, 2.59.

Dean Announces Record Enrollment

Campus enrollment for the Fall semester at the College has set another record, according to figures released by Dr. C. O. Williams, acting dean of admissions and registrar, yesterday.

A total of 11,059 students have registered to date. Last Fall the enrollment reached 10,928, an all-time high at that time. Of the total registration, 7,284 are men and 2,129 are women.

Final figures on total enrollment, which will include off-campus centers, are not at this time available but it is expected that the number will exceed 12,700.

Air ROTC To Enroll Additional Seniors

Authority has been given to the department of air science and tactics at the College to enroll a limited number of additional seniors in the aircraft maintenance course, Lt. Col. Jack W. Dieterle, professor of air science and tactics, announced recently.

The students will qualify for reserve commissions as second lieutenants in the Air Force by successfully completing the senior year in the course and completing summer training camp next summer.

More detailed information is available at the department of air science and tactics at the Armory.

Seventeen Frosh Given Penalties

By BOB SCHOOLEY

Seventeen freshmen were meted out punishment by Tribunal last night for violations of freshman customs. It was the first such action since the inception of customs. Sixteen were directed to wear sandwich signs, while the remaining freshman was given special punishment.

The sixteen were directed to wear the signs, bearing on the front half—appropriate poems; until midnight, Tuesday. The back part of the sign bears the name of the offender and an advertisement for a campus activity.

Inaugural Opens On Wednesday With Reception

The official inauguration ceremonies for President Milton S. Eisenhower will open next Wednesday night, Oct. 4, and continue until Thursday night.

The program is scheduled to open with a reception in honor of the president and Mrs. Eisenhower at White Hall at 8:30 and continue until 10:30.

On Thursday morning at 10:30, an academic procession will be held at Beaver Field. This event is open to the public. Following the procession, the inaugural exercises will be held on the field.

At 12:30, an informal luncheon will be held for guests and delegates at the Nittany Lion Inn, and at 9 p.m., the student inaugural ball will be held in Rec Hall.

In order that students and College employees may attend the exercises on Thursday morning, the 10, 11 and 1 o'clock classes will be recessed, and College offices will be closed at the same hours. Classes will be resumed at 2 o'clock.

The reception for President and Mrs. Eisenhower at White Hall on Wednesday is by invitation only. Those receiving invitations to the affair will be 200 delegates from colleges, universities and education associations; the Board of Trustees, the members of the College Senate, the alumni executive board, state officials, All-College cabinet; the State College borough council and the burgess, the State College school board, the council of administration, other administrative officials and representatives of the clerical and technical branches and other College personnel.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, inauguration committee chairman, said that approximately 1000 people are expected to attend the reception.

Kenworthy said in case of rain on Thursday, the inauguration program would take place in Schwab auditorium, and only those receiving invitations to the reception would be permitted to attend the ceremonies, because of the limited space available.

Council, Officials Hold Annual Fete

Officers and voting members of All-College cabinet plus members of the Council of Administration held their annual dinner last night at the Nittany Lion Inn.

President Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the Council committee, was present.

Also present were the deans of the eight schools of the College and the graduate school, the dean of admissions, and the deans of men and women, all members of the Council committee.

Kenworthy To Speak

William E. Kenworthy, assistant to the president in charge of student affairs, will speak on the topic, "Penn State in Retrospect" at the PSCA sophomore round table, to be held in 304 Old Main at 7:30 tonight. All sophomores are invited to attend.

Caught Monday

Most of the freshmen, given the first sentences for violations of customs, were apprehended outside of McAllister dining hall Monday afternoon.

James Fox, the one freshman given special punishment, was ordered to carry his freshman bible in a frying pan. He was instructed to carry a sandwich sign inscribed, "I am a wise egg that Tribunal fried."

In meting out the punishment, Neil See, Tribunal chairman, told the offenders, "Freshman customs are an important factor to help build better school spirit." See asked the opinion of the freshmen as to whether they understood and appreciated the customs. Most of the freshmen answered affirmatively, and added that they would enforce the customs when they were in a position to do so.

One freshman pleaded innocent to the charges, claiming to have seen a notice in his dormitory that customs had been called off. His plea was denied on the grounds that the procedure for the lifting of customs was outlined in the freshman bible.

The case of Paul Neuschwander was postponed until next meeting when more evidence will be available.

In addition to Fox, those sentenced were:

Trustees Grant 3 Resignations

Resignations of three Penn State professors received approval at the week-end meeting of the Executive committee of the Board of Trustees at the College.

Frank T. Murphey, professor of forestry extension since 1923, will retire on October 31 with emeritus rank, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower announced yesterday.

The resignations of Dr. Joseph H. Simons, professor of chemistry and director of the Fluorine Laboratories, and of Sara R. Warren, associate professor of nutrition extension, were also approved.

The Executive committee approved three other retirements at the week-end meeting:

Lloyd L. Houtz, foreman in ornamental horticulture; Charles S. Rosenberry, laborer; and Lucretia W. Fitts, secretary, department of dairy husbandry.

Hillel Foundation Offers Jewish Cultural Courses

Registration blanks for courses given at the Hillel Foundation must be turned in no later than Friday, Sept. 29. Abbie Gev-anthor, cultural chairman, announced recently.

Courses will be given in beginners Hebrew, conversational Hebrew for beginners, intermediate Hebrew, advanced Hebrew, Yiddish language, basic concepts of the Jewish faith, and highlights of Jewish history.

The courses are to be given once each week and there will be no fee. Anyone is eligible to enroll.
