

Harriers At Cornell Sat., Eye Michigan State Meet

By RAY GALANT

Although tomorrow's opposition for Chick Werner's cross country teams is Cornell, local followers of the harrier sport are already casting an anxious eye toward next week's important dual meet with Michigan State.

Realizing that a team may unconsciously let-up the week prior to a big meet, Werner is keeping his harriers in top physical and mental condition for not-too-strong Cornell team. Cornell was soundly trounced in its opener with Army, 15-40.

A well-balanced State team that took eight out of the first ten places in its victory over Pitt, 17 to 38, last week is a definite favorite over the Big Red.

By capturing the first five places against Pitt, Don and Bill Ashenfelter, Al Porto, Bob Freebairn, and Bill Gordon, captain for the Cornell meet, automatically have won starting positions.

Horner Wins Trial Run

Jack Horner, ineligible transfer student, led aspirants for the remaining open varsity position against Cornell in a trial run. Horner's time for the five-mile distance was 26:52. Dudley Foster and Bob Parsons tied for second with a 27:06 time.

Jack St. Clair, 27:39, was fourth and Bob Roessler, 27:50, finished fifth. Stan Lindner, who placed sixth with a 27:56, will also make the trip if Werner sends a ten-man team.

Nebraska Mark

Under wraps throughout spring and fall drills, Reynolds was released three weeks ago when the Cornhuskers opened against Indiana with an eye-catching 20-20 tie. Reynolds, a fleet, 19-year-old, 175-pounder, accounted for all of Nebraska's scoring in that game on three touchdowns and two extra points.

With this auspicious debut behind him, Reynolds has just kept rolling along. Briefly, he has scored 53 of Nebraska's 71 points to date, and accounted for 493 yards in 53 attempts (averaging almost 9½ yards per try) to become the nation's fourth best runner.

While the Nebraska offense is keyed about this amazing sophomore, Glassford can call on Fran Nagel, the veteran quarterback of the Nebraska balanced-T attack, Bill Mueller, hard-running senior halfback, and sophomore fullback Bill Wingender to supply added scoring power. Reynolds is Nagel's favorite target, but veteran ends Frank Simon and Dick Regier are both clever

Bucknell Plebes Host Lion Cubs In Night Contest

Penn State's freshman football team will go after its first win of the season tonight when it takes on the baby Bisons from Bucknell at Lewisburg.

The game, the first under the lights this season for the Lion cubs, will get under way at 8 p.m.

Injuries may cause Coach Earl Bruce to effect a change in his lineup. Williamsport speedster Jimmy Finn, who has so far been a workhorse in the cub's offense, was injured in practice this week but he may see limited action.

Shopa May Start

Bruce expects to use Pete Shopa, who was injured in the Wyoming seminary game, as a defensive line backer. Shopa will replace Rudy Radasinovich, injured in the Syracuse game, last Saturday.

Injury Riddled—

The line will be a question mark until the medical reports come in on Lane and Biggott, but Harry Little will play his usual inside right position and Ron Coleman will be at inside left.

Clarence Buss may start at any of the other three forward positions. The versatile speedster is experienced at both wings and at center forward. Buss scored three goals from the center position against Bucknell and set up the winning goal against Western Maryland from the left wing.

Betts On Attack, Wilson, Defense Spell Double Trouble For Enemy

By GEORGE GLAZER

There are a lot of people who share a special memory with Art Betts, big blond wingman in Rip Engle's offensive platoon.

Art's big moment in sports was the opening game touchdown pass he caught thrown by Vince O'Bara against Georgetown. It was a spectacular, leaping, one-handed catch, taken from the arms of the Hoya safety man. It not only marked the first touchdown Art has scored for State, but was his first game as a starter for the Big White.

Art never played in the T-formation before this season, but in high school, playing single wing, he earned three letters in football, as well as three each in baseball, as a shortstop, and basketball at center.

He was also chosen to play on the all-WPIAL all-star football team, and participated in the North-South game from that conference.

Call For Boxing Mgrs.

There will be a meeting for all boxing managers candidates in 409 Old Main, Monday at 7 p.m.

Charles "Chuck" Wilson is what the sports-writers call a storybook ball-player.

Granted that the term is used loosely in some cases, still there is a story behind Chuck, who plays a lot of defensive end for Coach Rip Engle.

By his own admission Chuck wasn't much of a football player in high school. Unlike most of his team mates he managed to win only two letters in football—the usual number is three, mostly four.

On top of that, he played center. In fact the first time he thought about playing end came last year under Joe Bedenk.

Now he's perfectly satisfied to play with the defensive platoon, and even says he likes it a lot better, although "you don't get to catch any passes."

Chuck is enrolled in the agricultural economics course, and calls himself a "gentleman farmer."

Besides football, Chuck played forward on the basketball team in high school for one year and ran the 440 and mile for the track team.

Vital statistics—20 years old, 6'1", 190 pounds . . . Hatboro, Pa., no romantic attachments as yet, a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.
