Replies Heavy To West Dorm Social Bids

Replies to invitations sent to more than 2,000 campus women for the open house to be held tomorrow in the new West dormitories have been pouring in to the Leonides - Panhel - WSGA - WRA West dorms social committee.

Invitations were also sent out Wednesday to 150 administration officials and campus dignitaries, including President Eisenhower. Over 2500 persons are expected to attend this first West dorms social affair from 2 to 5 p.m.

Combos to Play

The lounges in Hamilton, Thompson, McKee, and Irvin halls will be open for inspection. The AIM band has been divided into sections and a combo will provide music in each lounge. Refreshments, punch and cookies, will be served.

Floral displays will decorate the serving tables, and greens will be placed around the rooms. The dorm floor presidents will form a receiving line at the entrance to the lounges, and 40 women will act as traffic guides to keep the crowds circulating from one lounge to the other.

The open house will be the first function to take advantage of the social facilities of the new structures. It will give campus women a chance to see the dorms at close range and is expected to provide further use of the facilities.

Final Committee Meeting

The social committee which has been planning the affair will have a final meeting in the TUB at 1:30 this afternoon to talk over any last minute business.

Chairman of the committee is Richard Lemyre, and sub-committee chairmen are Nancy George, food and decorations; Richard Mills, invitations; Moylan Mills, publicity; William Zakor, finance; Dorothy Radock, guides; and Barbara Sprenkle, chaperones.

The committee was set up by the groups represented on it to coordinate social activities in the West dorm area. The present group is semi-permanent.

ROKs, 'Chutists Meet In Korea

WASHINGTON — Republic of Korea troops yesterday linked up with the American paratroopers who dropped behind enemy lines in North Korea about 30 miles north of Pyongyang.

An official army spokesman said this movement has cut off many Communists and apparently set the stage for a drive to the Manchurian border in pursuit of the fleeing troops. After observing the paratroop landings, Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared "The war is very definitely coming to an end."

Jap Treaty Talks Hinted

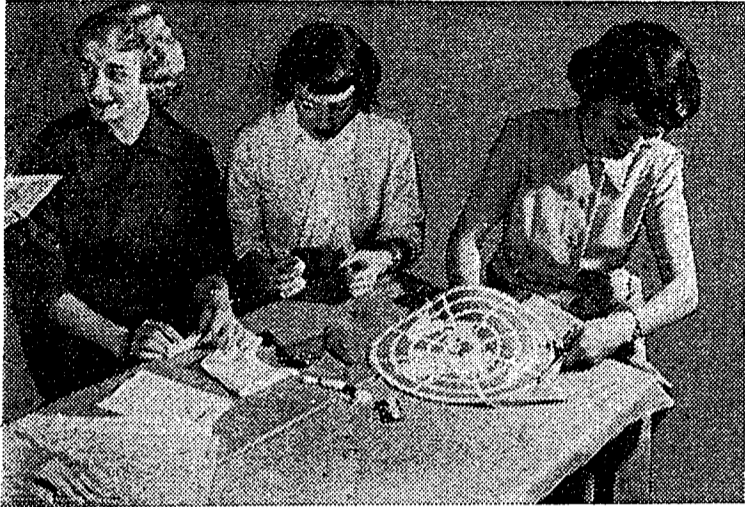

LAKE SUCCESS — Informal talks on a Japanese peace treaty between Russia and the United States will probably begin within a few days, Ambassador-at-large John Foster Dulles said last night.

Earlier, Dulles told the political committee of the United Nations Assembly that the United States is ready to participate in a five power meeting on world peace problems. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, however, expressed doubts on the value of the meeting at this time.

Red Leaders Meet

NEW YORK — Moscow radio yesterday announced a meeting of top diplomats of the Communist bloc nations in Prague, Czechoslovakia, to discuss "Remilitarization of Western Germany." V. M. Molotov, deputy prime minister, is representing the Soviet Union.

UN Flag ...

Preserve Hort Woods, County Alumni Propose

The Penn State Club of Centre County proposed a resolution asking that Hort Woods be kept as a nature preserve in a Thursday night meeting.

More than 100 alumni attended the meeting, where it was proposed that "the administration and board of trustees of the College . . . designate the entire present Hort Woods area as an inviolable section of the campus, to be kept as a last vestige of the older campus and to be treated as a nature preserve."

President Milton S. Eisenhower was scheduled to speak at the meeting, held in Sparks, but could not attend because of the illness of his wife.

Questioned recently concerning possible College plans for conversion of a section of Hort woods into a parking lot, George W. Ebert, director of physical plant, told the Daily Collegian that he could make no comment for publication at this time.

A portion of the woods had previously been staked out for cutting.

S. K. Hostetter, assistant to the president in charge of business and finance, was not available for comment.

Student Council Nominations Set

Student council nominations for freshman and sophomore representatives will begin Monday. All nominations must be in the deans' offices by Friday, Oct. 27.

The seven schools holding nominations are Chemistry and Physics, Education, Engineering, Home Economics, Liberal Arts, Mineral Industries, and Physical Education.

Students in the schools of the College must turn in their names to the deans of their schools. In the School of Physical Education freshmen and sophomores are nominated by an appointed committee.

'Some Punks' Tickets

Tickets for "Some Punks," Thespians' first show of the season, will go on sale Monday at the Student Union desk in Old Main.

The musical will play at Schwab auditorium on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings. Tickets will be 90 cents for the Thursday night show, $1.25 for Friday and Saturday nights.

Curtain time all three nights is 8 p.m.

Mrs. Eisenhower Ill

Mrs. Milton S. Eisenhower, wife of the President of the College, is a patient of Geisinger Hospital in Danville, Penna. She was admitted yesterday for observation but no diagnosis of her illness has been made.

Both Cliques Slate Meetings

Lion and State party cliques will convene tomorrow night to name officers and discuss preliminary campaign procedures for sophomore and freshman class elections Nov. 16.

The Lion party will meet in 121 Sparks, and the State party in 119 Osmond. Both meetings will begin at 7 o'clock.

Lion Plans

Clique chairman, vice-chairman, and secretary-treasurer will be elected by the Lion party, in addition to sophomore and freshman clique officers.

Suggestions for points to be inserted in the Lion party platform will be asked for. Chairman Huber Stevens said. It is unlikely that the Lion party will carry over any planks from their platform used in upperclass elections last spring.

Chief purpose of the Lion party, Stevens said, "is to put the best people we have in office, and increase the percentage of students who vote."

State Plans

The State party will receive nominations for clique secretary and class clique officers, and will hold a run-off election between Samuel Kinkead and Charles Ammond to determine the party treasurer.

Harry Cover, State party chairman, announced a decision yesterday to make the position of clique secretary an elective post instead of an appointive one, as was originally planned.

He urged clique members to elect a woman, since, he said, "they have always made our best secretaries, and this year we really need someone who will work."

Huber and Cover both urged that all students who missed last Sunday's meetings but who are interested in joining a clique attend the meetings tomorrow night.

Coal Chief To Speak

A talk on "Coal Contracts and Confusion" will be given by Joseph Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association of Washington, D. C., at 7:30 p.m. Monday in 121 Sparks.

The meeting is sponsored by the student chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management at the College and will be open to the public.

College Letter Clarifies Stand On Bars, Drinking

The administration has sent copies of the June letter clarifying its position on drinking to all student organizations.

The letter contained two major rulings. It ordered that all bars in fraternity houses were to be removed by Sept. 1, and ruled that "no student shall possess or use alcoholic beverages on College property."

It also carried official disapproval of student drinking and all drinking parties.

The administration action in circulating the letter was one of several taken in the past few days by parties concerned with the liquor question. On Thursday night, the social problem committee of the Interfraternity council denounced the ruling on bars.

Complaints Noted

Explaining this ruling, the letter, which was sent to all fraternity presidents in June, said that complaints had been received from law enforcement officers concerning fraternity drinking. It said, "The presence of bars is prima facie evidence of practices that violate laws relating to the sale or gift of liquor to minors and contributing to the delinquency of minors."

Other reasons for the ruling, the letter said, were the growing number of younger, non-veteran students on campus, the increasing use of alcohol at mixed social functions in violation of IFC, WSGA, and College regulations, and the public opinion aroused by "incidents" at other schools.

Warn Students Of Solicitors

Both the borough and the College administration warned students yesterday against purchasing magazine subscriptions from solicitors in the dorms and on the town sidewalks.

Frank Simes, chief resident dorm adviser, said that a number of instances of salesmen canvassing the dorms and accepting subscriptions and deposits had been reported to him. He warned students that these and other solicitors may not be representatives of legitimate concerns.

Simes said that soliciting in the dorm areas is prohibited and asked students to report any violations to the resident advisers.

Borough police chief John R. Juba also warned students against the magazine salesmen. He said that, although the solicitors are licensed by the borough, it is impossible to make a complete check on their credentials. Many people have in the past made deposits on magazines and never received a copy, Juba said.

Macy To Speak At Chapel Service

Dr. Paul Griswold Macy, Charles Henry Brent lecturer on church unity, will speak in chapel tomorrow. His topic will be "If It Be Of God."

In observance of the fifth birthday of the United Nations, Oct. 24, a United Nations flag, cut out and made up by the campus 4-H club, will be presented during the chapel hour to President Milton S. Eisenhower.

Dr. Macy, a native of Minnesota, attended Yale university and received his B.D. degree from Hartford Theological seminary. Later he received honorary degree from Marietta College in recognition of his efforts in establishing the ecumenical movement. He served as pastor of Congregational churches in Massachusetts, Illinois and Ohio.

Dr. Macy was active on the staff of the American Committee for the World Council of Churches from 1939 to 1948. He served as director of Ecumenical Education for the International Council of Religious Education. He has established and edited a number of periodicals for the World Council of Churches and the official report of the Second World Conference of Christian Youth held at Oslo, Norway in 1947.

Dr. Macy served as the consultant at the first assembly of the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam in 1948 after which he became a special lecturer for the Charles Henry Brent Foundation.

Players' 'Shadow' Will Open Nov. 2

Players' second production of the season, "Shadow and Substance," will open a three-night run at Schwab auditorium on Thursday, Nov. 2.

Tickets will be 60 cents for the opening night, 90 cents Friday and Saturday.

The show, an Irish drama, will be directed by Kelly Yeaton. It will be Players' first Schwab production this season. Their first play, "Private Lives," is now playing each week-end at Center stage.

Drinking Story Was Off Record, Leinbach Charges

IFC President Harold Leinbach last night charged Collegian with "breach of faith" in reporting the fraternity workshops in yesterday's paper. His statement said:

"Speaking for the chairman of the fraternity workshop program, Harry Kondourajan, and myself, as president of IFC, we consider the Collegian headline of Friday as being the result of a breach of faith on the part of the reporter who was asked by the forum chairman, the workshop chairman, and myself to consider the topic under discussion as off the record, since the social chairman's meeting was merely a discussion period, as are all the workshop forums. The conclusions arrived at by the discussion groups will be presented at the summary session Saturday afternoon. Therefore, any of the ideas discussed at the forums are merely discussion topics and not to be considered as IFC policy, as was inferred from the Collegian headline, until formally presented and accepted in their complete form."

The reporter who covered the forum maintained that, to the best of his recollection he did not report anything he was told was off the record.

Final Workshop Session Set Today

A summary session of the fraternity workshop will be held this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock in 201 Old Main.

Committee meetings were held last night, but Collegian reporters were barred following the publication of the social committee's denunciation Thursday night of the administration ruling against fraternity bars.

Hotel Adm. Students Attend Annual Meeting

Two hotel administration majors at the College, Esther Atkinson and Richard Bower are attending the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Hotel association in Wilkes-Barre. The meeting will end today.
