

TODAY'S WEATHER:
CLOUDY WITH SHOWERS

The Daily Collegian

FOR A BETTER
PENN STATE

VOL. 51 — No. 30

STATE COLLEGE, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 25, 1950

PRICE FIVE CENTS

Dampened Hopes . . .

— Collegian Photo by Mehall

BUT MORE THAN Freshmen hopes that customs would be abolished were dampened last night as the Hatmen pulled Frosh leadmen through the spray of water during the Tug-O-War at Burrowes and Pollock roads. Who are the men in the hydro onslaught? We don't know because the Freshmen changed places three or four times. Homer Barr and Donald Carlson led off the Hatmen forces. Scores of spectators were sprayed during the contest.

Hatmen Out-Tug Frosh In Water-Soaked Contest

By PAUL BEIGHLEY

Nearly 1500 spectators last night saw the hatmen defeat the freshmen in a tug-of-war.

Sparked by Homer Barr and Donald Carlson, holding the front positions of the rope, the hatmen took only about two minutes to pull the entire frosh team across the stream of water which marked the dividing line.

Late AP News Courtesy WMAJ

Reds Reported Nearing Tibet

BERLIN—A report that Chinese Communist forces have been ordered to invade Tibet was released by the Soviet-licensed news agency, "A-D-N" here last night. No official word has been received in this country as yet.

The Berlin announcement quotes a Chinese Communist news agency, which refers to "advancing army units," indicating that the Chinese Communists are already marching on Tibet.

Truman Speaks At UN

LAKE SUCCESS — President Truman, in an address to the U.N. General Assembly yesterday, said that he favored combining the U.N.'s discussions on atomic control and conventional arms.

Despite Russian attempts for several years to bring this about, Soviet foreign minister Andrei Vishinsky did not applaud the President's speech or comment on it later.

Jolson Rites Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO — Funeral services will be held in Hollywood tomorrow for Al Jolson, veteran Jazz singer who was the first U.S. star to entertain troops overseas in both recent wars. Jolson died here unexpectedly Monday night of a heart attack.

Jane Grubb Voted WSGA Treasurer

Jane Grubb, a sophomore, was named WSGA treasurer by a plurality vote of the WSGA Senate at a special meeting Saturday afternoon.

The meeting was called Thursday after WSGA discovered it was in error in calling for a re-vote to break the electoral tie for the office.

Although many frosh were soaked to the knees by the time the event ended, spectators who stood directly across the street from the hydrant received the biggest dousing.

With the defeat, the freshmen lost a chance to have dating customs removed. In an attempt to retaliate, the frosh moved en masse on the TUB and removed a barrel of cider on tap for the winners.

Cider Returned

However all ended well when the frosh returned the cider to the TUB a few minutes later, and all the participants, hatmen and frosh alike, helped consume it.

The contest, which did not start until 8:30 p.m. was staged at the intersection of Pollock and Burrowes roads. Some spectators climbed trees in order to see it.

Confusion prevailed, marked by a false start in which one hatman was pulled a block down the street by 50 freshmen, and by a Penn State club initiation. In the initiation, 38 men with blacked faces pulled a small rope through the crowd.

Marilyn For Frosh

Marilyn Franklin, Belle Hop ball queen, was on hand to fire the starting gun and to root for the freshmen. Miss Franklin said, "Being a freshman myself, I'm 100 per cent for the frosh team."

Robert Davis, all-College president, had a hard time keeping both trimmed to 50 men. When the event started, however, both teams had an equal number of men on the rope, according to Davis.

Draft Registration

All men from 18 to 28 must register for Selective Service, Wilmer E. Kenworthy, assistant to the President in charge of student affairs announced. The registration centers are the Dean of Men's Office, 109 Old Main and Selective Service Local boards. Failure to register will bring penalties of fine and imprisonment.

Hort Woods Parking Plans 'Laid Away'

"There will be no parking area built in a section of Hort Woods by the College," according to S. K. Hostetter, assistant to the president in charge of business and finance.

Preliminary plans had been proposed and a portion of the woods staked out, but the matter is being "laid away" because of excessive cost and "other reasons," he told the Daily Collegian yesterday.

The Penn State Club of Centre County last week proposed a resolution asking that the administration and Board of Trustees declare the wooded area inviolable. Previous to this, H. E. Dickson, professor of fine arts, told the Daily Collegian that he thought that "the College needs a long range plan for its (Hort Woods) retention, not just this year or the next, but as long in the future as possible."

Hostetter had not been available for comment before yesterday.

Several different petitions for the retention of Hort Woods in the future are now being circulated among student and faculty organizations.

Campus Chest Plans Revealed

Plans for canvassing faculty members and college personnel during the Campus Chest drive were formulated at a meeting of faculty representatives yesterday.

Faculty members will be asked to contribute to four of the nine benefiting agencies included in the drive. These four are the Penn State Christian association, the World Student Service fund, the Women's Student Government association's Christmas fund and the Scholargram fund.

The five other agencies will be excluded from the faculty drive because the members will be approached by those organizations during their annual drives in State College.

In addition, faculty members and college personnel will have the opportunity to designate the amounts they wish to contribute to each of the organizations. Their donations will not be included in the student plan of dividing the funds on a percentage basis.

Russell B. Dickerson, dean of the School of Agriculture, and Francis Artley are co-chairmen of the faculty representatives. The drive will begin Saturday and continue for a week.

Thespian Dancer Voodoo Specialist

By RON BONN

A good many people around Thespians think they've got another Gene Kelly on their hands. Talk to any of them about the new review "Some Punkins," opening tomorrow night at Schwab, and sooner or later the conversation will come around to Harry Woolever.

Theatre-goers here may remember Woolever's show-stopping afro-cuban dance in "Welcome Willy" last spring. More than any other number, that one brought him to prominence with Thespians. "Some Punkins," incidentally, features another of these dances, somewhat more complex, with a voodoo theme.

Woolever is choreographer for the nine dance numbers in the new show. He dances in two himself. A senior, he has directed and done choreography for several earlier Thespians shows.

Started Early

Woolever's been dancing for 16 years. "My parents started me early," he says. "I was supposed

Cabinet Backs Campus Chest

By ROSEMARY DELAHANTY

All-College cabinet voted full approval last night to the Campus Chest drive, which begins Saturday, and unanimously approved two amendments to the Chest charter.

The amendments, as proposed by the Campus Chest committee, will alter payment procedure for faculty members and students who contribute to the fund.

IFC To Talk On Drink Ban

The proposal to re-open the drinking problem for discussion with the administration will be brought before Interfraternity council tonight for discussion.

The council will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in 105 White hall.

Other proposals drawn up by the fraternity workshop committees will also be put before the council tonight for discussion.

These proposals include a system for keeping the pledges in line, forming a committee to obtain a fraternity rushing list, publishing an alumni directory, election of men to a publicity committee, and the forming of a scholarship committee.

Discussion of the proposed staging area in which men wishing to go fraternity would stay until they are pledged will probably be on tonight's agenda also.

College Joins UN Day Plans

The College and the borough joined in the world wide celebration of United Nations Day yesterday with special ceremonies and exhibits.

Displayed in the entrance of the Fred Lewis Pattee library were pamphlets explaining the workings of the UN, an official UN flag as well as flags of all the member nations, a copy of the UN charter and a picture display of the UN's Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Wilmer E. Kenworthy, assistant to the President in charge of student affairs, said that the College was asked to ring the bells in Old Main tower to help celebrate the occasion.

Kenworthy said that it was not in accordance with the celebration of a birthday to toll the bells, since they would sound funereal.

Another request to fly the UN flag, made by the College 4H club, from the flag pole in front

(Continued on page two)

All-College President Robert Davis led cabinet criticism against the Daily Collegian for what he termed failure to give the Camps Chest drive and other student government activities adequate publicity.

Collegian editor Dean Gladfelter, who is a voting member of Cabinet, retaliated by reading a prepared statement of Collegian policy which pointed out that the paper "makes every reasonable effort to cover all the major news on campus."

The specific complaint put forward by Davis concerned a Campus Chest story which appeared on page three of yesterday's Collegian. According to Davis the drive merited page one publicity.

Canvassers will ask students to sign pledge cards authorizing that $2 be added to their fees or deducted from book receipts to cover their Campus Chest contributions. Originally the committee planned to ask each student to donate $1.75. Students may indicate any amount as a donation, but $2 has been set as a goal for individuals.

Faculty Contributions

Faculty members, as stated in the second amendment to the charter, will be asked to contribute to on-campus organizations only, and may specify what their contributions are to be used for.

Since faculty members and administrative officers are asked to contribute to the community chest fund, it is believed that this amendment will eliminate the necessity for them to contribute twice to the same organizations.

In addition to the Campus Chest and Hort Woods projects, cabinet also accepted a report of the NSA concerning new committees which have been formed by that organization, and a report of the Orientation Week committee, which is at present working on a new plan for counselling incoming freshmen.

Cabinet last night also voted to oppose the destruction or mutilation of Hort woods in a unanimous motion.

Before final vote the motion was amended to approve the appointment of a committee to study the present and possible future status of the woods. The committee was directed to report its findings at the next cabinet session.

Considerable sentiment was expressed in favor of preserving the woods. John Erickson, senior class president, who presented the original motion, said the senior class at its meeting last week favored the preservation "overwhelmingly."

Carroll Howes, School of Agriculture student council president, reported his council had voted for retaining Hort Woods as memorial to some person connected with Penn State agriculture.

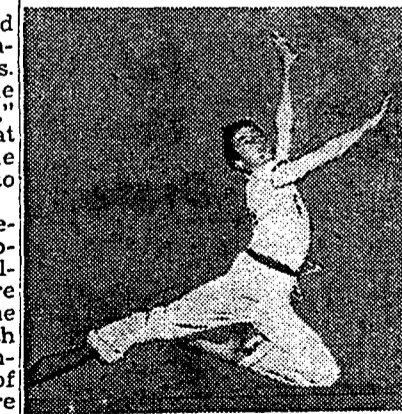

President of the education school student council, Clark Young, said his council suggested it be dedicated to Leo Houck, former boxing coach at the College.

West Dorm Committee

The West dorms' constitutional committee will meet in 317 Willard hall at 7 o'clock tonight to discuss the proposed constitution. The meeting will be open to council members only.

Hort Honorary Meets

Pi Alpha Xi, national floriculture honorary met Oct. 17 for a discussion of new candidates for membership. Donald Egolf, president, presided at the meeting.

Harry Woolever

to have outgrown it by now; unfortunately I didn't." Woolever is aiming at the ballet stage, probably via musical comedy. He studies summers in New York, and has toured club dates around Pennsylvania.

(Continued on page two)