

Harriers Face Real Test With Spartans

With the breathers on the schedule already taken into camp, Coach Chick Werner is preparing his harrier squad for the "big" test of the season, this Saturday's dual meet with Michigan State.

Werner's charges easily defeated Pittsburgh, 17-38, in their opener, and last Saturday trounced a weak Cornell team by a perfect score of 15-50. The Lion performances against these outclassed squads indicates that the team is a potential power in the harrier sport. But the meet with Michigan State will be the real proving ground for the Lion Harriers.

Michigan State's Coach Karl Schlademan lost the nucleus of the squad that last year won the NCAA cross country title. Gone from last year's team are such standout performers as Bill Mack, Jack Dianetti, Clark Atcheson, Bob Sewell, and Red Maloney. But offsetting the loss of such an array of stars is the return of Warren Dreutzler and Don Makielski.

In last year's dual meet with State, Dreutzler copped first place, as the Spartans topped the Lions 22-35, handing them their only defeat in dual competition.

Dreutzler and his running mate Makielski will be ably assisted by Francis Carey, outstanding as a first year man last season, and Dick Roberts, a varsity performer of note from the 1949 squad. Spartan newcomers are Wayne Scutt, John Walter, Walt Scoenegge, and Jerry Zerbe.

Bill Ashenfelter, State's captain for this meet, will be the biggest threat to Dreutzler and Makielski for individual honors. Bill has proven to be the most consistent performer of a somewhat inconsistent team.

Ranking right behind Bill are the trio consisting of his brother Don, Al Porto, and Dudley Foster, who is the most improved runner on the varsity. Bob Freebairn, one of last year's top notchers, is due to hit his stride.

Bob Parsons, last year's captain, has been bothered with a bad knee as a result of shrapnel wounds received in the war. Parsons is expected to give a creditable performance. Jack St. Clair, a mainstay of the 1949 team, has recovered from an ankle injury incurred in the first week of practice and should be at top speed Saturday.

Phi Kappa Sinks '49 Swim Champs

In the dual meets held at Glennland pool yesterday afternoon, Pi Lambda Phi and Phi Kappa mermaids registered swimming victories.

Pi Lambda Phi outscored Alpha Phi Delta, 21-15; and Phi Kappa dunked last year's defending champs, Delta Tau Delta, 23-18.

Combining their talents on Pk's winning 120-yard relay team—upon which the meet was decided—were Bill DeCrease, Drew Mahla, Joe Zahora, and Carlon O'Malley. It was a close finish with anchorman O'Malley, driving through for a victory in the final yard.

O'Malley also sparked his team to victory with a double triumph. Phil Lurie was Pi Lambda Phi's only double winner. As a result of yesterday's victories, both winners have advanced to the third round, which will begin this afternoon.

Female Invades Ranks Of Seers

The Collegian football crystal-gazers have their work cut out for them this week!

They'll have to match wits with the School of Home Economics' ace gridiron prognosticator, Dean Grace M. Henderson, who is this week's guest swami.

With this week's list dotted with flip-of-the-coin games, Dean Henderson predicts winless Pitt will upset Miami (Fla.), conquerors of Purdue; Notre Dame will snap back against the powerful Spartans of Michigan State in one of the top games of the day.

Lion Gridders Prep For Temple Battle

With the exception of end Mario Santangelo, who suffered a separated shoulder in practice Monday, the Nittany Lions are expected to be at full strength when they try for their eighth straight victory over the Temple Owls Saturday.

The Lions came through the Nebraska scuffle with the usual number of minor bruises, according to trainer Chuck Medlar. The most serious injuries were suffered by Ed Hoover, who came up with a sprained knee ligament; Joe Gratson, a sprained foot; George Jacob, a sprained knee ligament; and Joe Shumock, a charley horse. Medlar, however, expects all four to be ready for the Owls.

Correcting Flaws
Attempting to correct some of the flaws in the Nittany offense—which has stalled badly, scoring but two touchdowns in the past three games—Coach Rip Engle ran the squad through a long scrimmage session Tuesday evening. Running the first string offensive unit against the defensive platoon, Engle stressed that phase of the attack near the opposition goal line.

Yesterday's drills were devoted to passing and pass defense.

With a large alumni representation expected for Saturday, Engle would like to get the squad back on the victory road after three straight setbacks. Not since 1941 has a Temple team been able to take the Nittany Lions into camp, and Engle is determined that 1950 will not see them turn the trick.

Owls Slight Favorite
The Owls will enter the game a slight favorite on the weight of their season mark of three wins and one loss, but they have been able to dump the Lions but three times in the 11-game history of the series. The Owls won the first two games in 1930 and

'32. Since the renewal of the series in 1940, however, the Templars have won but once, in 1941. The most decisive victory came in 1947 when the Lions ran wild to the tune of 47-0.

Last year the Lions subdued Coach Al Kawal's charges, 28-7, but the Templars are vastly improved. Kawal, who installed the T-formation at Temple in 1949, has had one year to work at it, and has come up with a fast, hard-running unit. The Owls dumped Albright, 32-6, in their debut, and then upset a highly favored Syracuse team, 7-6. Two weeks ago, however, they themselves became the victim of an upset, bowing 26-20 to Rutgers in the last 20 seconds of play. The Owls came back against Wayne, 26-0, last week despite a slow start.

In the Holy Cross game of 1936, won by Temple, 3-0, all eleven players for the Owls handled the ball on one play. It started out as a forward pass, Jim Hall to Ed Walker, but then began a series of laterals with Walker again winding up with the ball on a 26-yard advance.

Capt. Bill Dougherty then stepped up and kicked a placement to win the game for Temple.

Ready For Spartans . . .

JACK ST. CLAIR (above), one of the mainstays of last year's cross country team will be in top physical condition for the Michigan State meet. An ankle injury in the first week of practice kept St. Clair from hitting his expected stride in the first two meets.

Pi Kappa Phi Edges AZ 1-0 In IM Touch Football Play

Joe Ruyha caught a pass which gave Pi Kappa Phi a hard-earned 1-0 victory over Alpha Zeta intramural football play last night. Phi Kappa Sigma beat Sigma Phi Epsilon 1-0 in another fraternity game.

The Wildcats walloped Dorm 25 13-0, and Dorm 38 defeated the Schnitzelbunkers 6-0 in independent games.

Tonight's schedule has Dorm 28 against the Blackhawks at 7 o'clock; Sigma Nu versus Phi Sigma Kappa at 7:45; Dorm 39 opposes Dragons at 8:30; and Zeta Beta Tau will meet Delta Tau Delta at 9:15.
