

$7,000 In Scholarships Slated For Ag Students

Annual scholarships valued at more than $7,000 will be awarded to students in the School of Agriculture at the Ag hill party to be held in Recreation hall this Saturday.

More than 2,000 agriculture students are expected to attend the party, which also will include a buffet supper, a student-faculty mixer, entertainment, square and round dancing, and informal speeches.

Tickets at $1 per person are on sale at Student Union and from all departments and members of clubs within the school. The deadline for purchase of tickets will be tomorrow at 5 p.m.

Representatives of the companies which are donating scholarships will present the awards personally. The Borden company, the Kroger company, Pennsylvania Power and Light company, and Sears Roebuck and company are among those awarding the scholarships.

Charles Zellner, a senior in poultry husbandry, and P. H. Margolf, a member of the poultry husbandry staff and adviser to the Agriculture student council, are general co-chairmen of a large group of student-faculty committees planning the party. The ticket committee has James Pasike as its student chairman and E. A. Mintmier, of the Agriculture Extension service, as its faculty chairman. Samuel I. Auker, administrative assistant to Dean Lyman Jackson, is in charge of finances.

Record 16,000 See Hort Show

Setting a new all-time record, a total of 16,161 persons, by actual count, visited the 1950 Hort show, an annual feature of alumni homecoming weekend.

This year's show, with Domenick Palumbo, Jr., of Mt. Lebanon and Thomas Rickert of Pittsburgh, as managers, was dedicated to Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, who visited the show on Saturday evening.

Last year nearly 10,000 persons, almost the same number as turned out on Sunday this year, inspected the exhibits. The show had a theme emphasizing how a backyard should look. In this manner each of the four divisions, ornamental, flowers, vegetables and fruits, received special attention, and living plants were used for the displays.

Ten-Week Dance Class Planned By West Dorms

Plans for a ten-week program of dance instruction were formulated at an organizational meeting of the West dorms dancing class. Over 200 residents of the area attended the meeting.

The group will be broken into smaller units which will meet in the TUB every week, Monday through Friday, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. Both male and female instruction will be used.

Paul Kritsky and Frank Huttlinger, resident advisers in Hamilton hall, are in charge of the classes. Kritsky said classes would begin as soon as records of the members had been compiled. He said men who had signed up for the instruction would be notified of the starting date by post-card.

College Group Makes UN Visit

Twenty-eight students and faculty members visited the United Nations last week on the tour arranged by the Christian Heritage commission of the Penn State Christian association.

On this four-day tour, the group saw various UN committees in action and interviewed Dr. Ralph Bunche, of the United States delegation.

Students On Tour

Students who went on the tour were: Joanna Bucknell, Judith Eckert, Jo Ann Esterly, Marge Evans, Bernice Hicks, Helena Jensen, Janet Lubowitz, Joan Hirsh, Sandra Marks, Betty McGee, Sue Newhauser, Lou Owen, Irene Sloat, Louise Woods, Marilyn Yingst.

Also, Joseph Banks, Charles Eckert, R. C. Edstrom, William Greenham, George Greet, Matthew Halchin, Albert Kalson, Calvin Sammons and Reed Smith.

Marjorie Allen, Lenore Staats, and Luther Harshbarger of the PSCA and Dr. Kent Forster of the history department went along as advisers of the group.

Bunch Interview

In their interview Tuesday with Dr. Ralph Bunche, Nobel peace prize winner, the students asked questions about current UN proceedings which they had not understood while watching the committees. When asked how he felt about the idea of UN troops going beyond the 38th parallel in Korea, he replied that planes already had gone beyond the line to bomb supply centers, so the UN could take no other action.

The group also met Mr. William Such, New Zealand delegate who works with the international children's fund committee. When they asked the Indian delegate, Chakrovarty, how he felt about the position the United States is taking in world affairs, he said that he believed this country was wrong in not recognizing the present Communist government in China.

Tuesday afternoon the group attended the New York Herald Tribune forum "The Untapped Potentials in Labor-Management Relations."

Public Instruction

Margaret C. Raabe, assistant professor of clinical speech, represented the College last week at meetings with the state Department of Public Instruction in Harrisburg. Proposed revisions of laws governing the education of acoustically handicapped were discussed.

Beta Sigma Rho Wins Fraternity Lawn Contest

Beta Sigma Rho with its "Prize Package of the New Year" won the homecoming weekend fraternity lawn display contest.

Phi Kappa Sigma and Alpha Tau Omega, winner for the past two years, copped second and third place, respectively.

The three judges, David Stone of Ethel Meserves, Mrs. Beth K. Wham of the home art department, and Philip F. Hallock of the architecture department said the judging was particularly tough this year because of the large number of fine displays.

Beta Sigma Rho's display copped first prize with a large lion dressed as a clown with its lighted eyes blinking off and on. Beside the lion was a large box with a red ribbon around it. Inside the half-opened box were figures of President Eisenhower and Rip Engle. In front of the display was a big sign reading, "The Prize Package of the Year."

Phi Kappa Sigma took second place with its life-like stork carrying President Eisenhower and Engle, symbolizing the ushering in of the New Era.

Alpha Tau Omega took third place with the display of a huge football kicking at a whisky bottle, depicting the removal of drinking from the campus.

Meeting To Hear Ag Club Members

Members of the Clover club will speak before some of the nation's outstanding scientists at the national annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Cincinnati, this week.

Lewis Mayhe, an agronomy major, will talk on program planning. Eighteen graduate students and faculty members are attending the meetings, and technical papers growing out of studies on crops and soils made here will be presented by them.

Dr. H. R. Albrecht, head of the Agronomy department, Pennsylvania's representative and member of the advisory council of the association, will discuss preliminary arrangements for next year's convention, which will be held at the College from Aug. 25 to 31.

Dr. Joseph Steckel is the club's faculty adviser and also is on the student activities committee of the association.

PSCA Begins Dance Instruction Tonight

The Penn State Christian association will begin a series of folk and square dancing lessons tonight at 7 o'clock in 100 Horticulture. Bert Kessel will be in charge.

N. Koreans Offer Strong Resistance

NORTH KOREA—North Koreans still on the counter-offensive offered strong resistance in several northwest Korean sectors and advanced to within 30 miles of Hamhung. American reinforcements raced to within approximately 50 miles of Hamhung on the south and 75 miles on the north in an attempt to bolster South Korean troops.

Plane Crash—

(Continued from page one) Rugged and treacherous mountain terrain stretching for 80 miles from Johnstown to State College made it necessary for the searchers to cover the area four times before the wreckage was discovered. A heavy fall of leaves and a thick underbrush cooled together to make the task more difficult.

Location of the wreckage was made by William H. Weaver, a Civil Air Patrol Member from Jerome. While flying at 2,000 feet he sighted the tail section of a plane sticking out from the underbrush about three-fourths of a mile off route 56 near the community of Rummel. He saw no signs of life.

CAMPUS CHEST

Meanwhile, the British 27th Brigade captured Chongju, important North Korean coastal road and rail junction situated about 50 miles from the Manchurian border. Chongju was captured after bitter street fighting which raged block by block.

Reds Still Oppose Lie

LAKE SUCCESS—The Russians yesterday continued to oppose the extension of Trygve Lie's term as UN secretary-general charging the Norwegian diplomat with being two-faced, unobjective, and an "echoer of American policies." Meanwhile the UN assembly's political committee rejected a Soviet resolution which called for the General Assembly to condemn propaganda in favor of a new war and demanded the prohibition of the use of atomic weapons.

Island Revolt Kills 23

SAN JUAN—Luis Munoz Marin, governor of Puerto Rico, said Communist influence was behind yesterday's outbreak on the island. Anti-United States Nationalist rebels fired on the governor's palace and other places in Puerto Rico, killing 23 persons and wounding an undisclosed number of others.

Delay Arms Agreement

WASHINGTON—The Atlantic Pact Defense committee apparently failed to agree on the German rearmament question and issued no communiqué on the discussions held yesterday. The defense chiefs wanted to complete the drafting of a plan by last night for setting up a combined defense force in Europe.
