

Prep Concert Blue Band Formed With 60 Members

Sixty members were named to a Prep Concert Blue band last week by James E. Dunlop, director.

The prep band was formed this semester as a supplementary group for the concert band, he said. Size of the concert band was limited by seating capacity of the stage in Schwab auditorium. The prep band was organized to utilize an exceptionally large amount of talent this year, Dunlop said.

First practice of the prep band will be held at 7 tomorrow night in 117 Carnegie hall.

Rip Seeks TD's After 7-7 Owl Tie

something was wrong with the system," Engle said yesterday. "but Brown, which doesn't have too much, scored 27 points in one period against Colgate, and Paul Bixler has a good club."

The same winged-T is being used by Gus Zitrides, Engle's successor at Brown.

It takes time to learn the system, Engle said, and right now our biggest difficulty is the lack of cohesion on the offense. "We play well, but not well long enough," was Engle's conclusion.

Pace East in Pass Defense

Engle was obviously alluding to the inability of the Lions to continue the rapid first-quarter pace they displayed against the Owls. Defensively, however, the Lions looked good. They held Temple to 33 yards in passes and now lead the East in pass defense.

Following an exchange of punts, the Lions took possession on their own 37 and moved downfield for the touchdown in 10 plays. Tony Orsini, who gained 105 yards in 21 attempts before being sidlined with a shoulder injury early in the fourth period, ripped off 12 yards to get the Lions rolling and then shared the ball-carrying chores with Jim Pollard to give the Big White a first down on the Temple 30.

Vince O'Bara picked up 3 yards on a quarterback sneak and then rifled one to John Smidansky on the Temple 7. Orsini bucked over in two plays, going over right tackle for the score at 11:50 of the quarter.

The Lions continued to look like a world-beater following the ensuing kickoff. After allowing the Templars a first down, the defense tightened and the Owls punted out to the State 31. O'Bara passed to Smidansky for 10 yards and after Orsini and Pollard failed to gain he bootlegged 17 yards around right end to the Temple 38. Orsini plugged for a first down on the 27.

Then came what Engle termed "the turning point." Wingback George Jacob got the jump on Ed Charters, the Temple safety, and grabbed O'Bara's heave on the 2. As the two went down, however, Charters wrested the ball away and Temple took over on the 2.

Temple knotted the count late in the second quarter when Gene Caterina drove off right tackle from the one foot line to cap a 60-yard march. Bill Bonsall converted.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 5...THE GNU

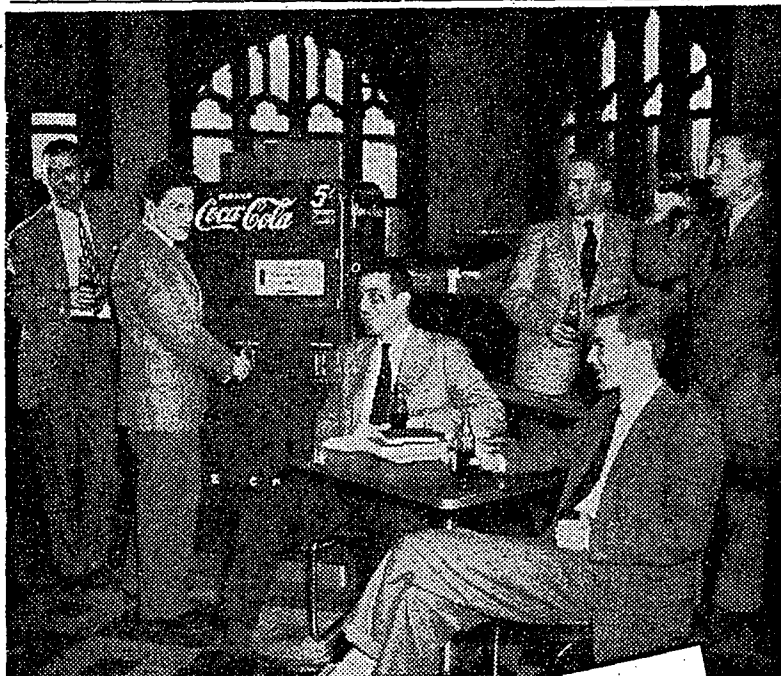

"I gnu the answers...but I wasn't talking!"

The debating team couldn't make much use of this non-talkative baby...but one look at his "literary leanings" tells you that tests don't buffalo him. Specially those tricky cigarette tests! As a smoker, you probably know, too, that one puff or one sniff—or a mere one-inhale comparison can't prove very much about a cigarette!

Why not make the sensible test—the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test. You judge Camel mildness and flavor in your own "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste)...for 30 days. Yes, test Camels as a steady smoke and you'll see why...

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

The Daily PRINCETONIAN

Police Call From Princeton, New Jersey

In Princeton, New Jersey, there is always a friendly gathering of Princeton students at the Campus Center. And as in university campus haunts everywhere, ice-cold Coca-Cola helps make these get-togethers something to remember. As a refreshing pause from the study grind, or when the gang gathers around—Coke belongs.

Ask for it either way...both trade-marks mean the same thing.
