Successor to THE FREE LANCE, est. 1887

Published Tuesday through Saturday mornings inclusive during the College year by the staff of The Daily Collegian of The Pennsylvania State College.

Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1934, at the State College, Pa., Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

Collegian editorials represent the viewpoints of the writers, not necessarily the policy of the newspaper. Unsigned editorials are by the editor.

First Ballot

Freshmen and sophomores will get their first of many chances to participate in Penn State student government in the school council elections today and tomorrow. Those who don't take advantage of their chance to vote for student officers will have no gripes coming if later they are not satisfied with student government.

ELECTIONS WILL BE HELD in seven of the eight school councils for freshman and sophomore representatives. These councils not only deal with matters affecting the individual schools—they also have one representative each on All-College cabinet. Inasmuch as school councils are more grass-roots in nature than any of the other organizations represented on cabinet, they provide students one of the best possible means of making their opinions known to cabinet.

Another chance to elect representatives will be given freshmen and sophomores in the class elections may appear to be only a warm-up elections scheduled for Nov. 16. The council for class elections, but actually they are just as important. What is more, they have been kept clear of party politics in the past.

Only about 30 per cent of the students eligible have voted in council elections in recent years.
Last fall, however, in freshman and sophomore class elections, the voting percentage was boosted to 56.7. We hope that this year new Penn State students will point the way for upperclassmen by turning out larger masses of voters for both council and class elections.

Taboo Lifted

Coed cheerleaders have returned. Saturday they rode into Beaver field with the Lion and the old-time taboo on their presence took it on the lam.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED this week that these female cheerleaders will be with us at the remaining games this Fall. We can anticipate additional color and spirit when the Nittany team face future opponents.

It has not been stated, however, that girl cheerleaders are now a permanent fixture at athletic events. Steps to see that they are retained in future seasons should be taken.

Perhaps the taboo has been lifted only on a trial basis. If that is the case, we are certain that the girls will continue to demonstrate, as they did Saturday, their great value in building Penn State enthusiasm.

It May Be Coincidence, But . . .

We notice that all but one member of the committee appointed to select campus personalities for Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges were included in the list of personalities released recently. The other committee member was a junior and, therefore, not eligible to be included.

Confused Politics

An editorial item which is obviously erroneous has come to our attention from the columns of the Tyrone Herald.

DAYON KNIGHT, a local columnist, speaking of Arthur H. Reede, Democratic candidate for Congress, wrote "The Penn State Collegian sure pans Hal. But he asked for it. And you can't kid a bunch of College boys."

Now, the Daily Collegian has never panned Reede. Since he announced his candidacy last Spring, several news stories have appeared dealing with both Reede and his opponent, James E. Van Zandt. But it would take a wild imagination to interpret any of these stories, or an editorial comparing a speech by Reede to President Eisenhower's inaugural address, as detrimental to Reede.

VAN ZANDT has also been mentioned in news stories but in a completely non-partisan way.

Now assuming that Knight is correct when he says you can't fool a bunch of college boys, it seems to us that his political opinions must be rather confused. Which college boys can't be fooled isn't quite clear to us—since like other people they seldom agree on congressional candidates.

AND DOES KNIGHT, whose column is distinguished mainly by a conversational vernacular which induces a talked-down-to feeling, take his opinions from college students? Obviously he does not. Therefore, he must have used the example only to find a reason for his readers and himself to be "still with Jimmy."

However, we suggest that Knight read the Daily Collegian before he generalizes about its contents. For intentionally or not, he has added by his inaccuracy to the disrepute of an already disreputable campaign.

New Dance Club Meets Tonight

An innovation at the College, a folk and square dance club sponsored by the Penn State Christian association, will hold its first meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in 100 Horticulture.

The club is a new organization on campus and hopes to have special guest instructors from other towns and colleges conduct some of their meetings.

Robert James, a student at the College, will be in charge of the initial meeting. Eleanor Staats and Bert Kessel, assistant professor of physical education, will assist in teaching the dances.

Collegian erroneously reported that the meeting was to be held last night.

Racer Displayed At ZBT House

Don Allen, ace race mechanician of the famed Indianapolis Motor Speedway, was at the Zeta Beta Tau fraternity Monday evening to exhibit his pet racer, "To Please A Lady", to the members of the College Society of Automotive Engineers.

"To Please A Lady" ran fifth in the 1948 Indianapolis 500. The racer was named after the title of a current movie.

Currently touring the country, the fire-engine red machine is capable of speeds over 170 miles per hour and is powered by a 300 horsepower engine. It weighs 1650 pounds and cost $15,000 to build.

Alcoholics Groups To Sponsor Panel

Alcoholics Anonymous, groups from State College and campus groups, will sponsor a symposium and panel discussion on "The Scientific Approach to the Alcohol Problem" next Monday, at 7:30 p.m. in 121 Sparks.

The program, directed by Dr.
Arthur Davis, professor of physical education, will include:

"The Scientific Approach to the Alcohol Problem Yesterday and Today" by Dr. M. E. John, professor of rural sociology;
"Why Do Men and Women Drink?" by Dr. Mary L. Willard, professor of chemistry.

"Is Beverage Alcohol a Food?" by Dr. Pauline Beery Mack, director of the Ellen H. Richards institute; and "Where Do We Find the Drink Problem?" Miss Mildred Ailman, reference librarian.

Two members of the state organization will discuss "Figure the Odds and Face the Facts" and "An AA's Approach to the Alcoholics' Problem."

The session is open to the public officials said yesterday.
