

Bowl-Hopeful Soccermen Ready For Maryland Tilt

By BUD FENTON

Penn State is still a possibility for a New Year's Day Soccer Bowl bid, Coach Bill Jeffrey commented yesterday.

The Lions, who played in the first bowl game early this year, received a stunning blow to their 1951 aspirations when they suffered a 1-0 loss at the feet of West Chester on Nov. 6, their first defeat in 22 contests.

A selection committee for the Soccer Bowl, to be held in St. Louis, has been formed. The committee is at present working on the project and is expected to make a statement naming the teams still under consideration in the near future.

State Among Leaders

At present some of the leading collegiate soccer clubs in the East are Army, West Chester, Springfield (Mass.), Temple, and Penn State.

Although the 1949 game was played by a representative of the East and one from the West (San Francisco), there is a possibility that both teams may be chosen from the East coast this year due to the large number of strong teams here.

"The remainder of the 1950 schedule will have a great deal to do with the selection of the Bowl teams," said Jeffrey. "The committee will be especially interested in the Army-Syracuse game, while our chances may be affected by the results of the Penn State-Maryland game on Saturday."

Last Home Game

Penn State fans will get their last chance to see the Lion booters in action when they meet the Maryland Terps Saturday.

Coach Bill Jeffrey looks forward to the game as a chance to prove that the lone loss to West Chester on Nov. 4 was a freak. The team will be handicapped slightly, however, since Captain Harry Little and Clarence Buss have been unable to practice with the squad this week. Both boys are out of town on practice teaching assignments. They will return in time for the game.

Lane, Buss Lead Scorers

Buss has been scoring frequently in recent games and his total of eight goals is only one behind scoring leader Joe Lane. Both will see action Saturday.

Seniors who will be making their final appearance on Beaver field as soccermen are: Ron Coder, goaltender; Bill Yerkes and Jack Kurty, fullbacks; Buss, outside left; Joe Lane, center forward; Gus Bigott, outside right; and Little, inside right.

Little and Bigott were both All-Americans, though their selections were more than a decade apart. Bigott, a Venezuelan, was picked in 1938, and Little was a 1949 choice.

This will not be their last appearance with the team since one more game remains on the schedule, a Nov. 25 meeting with Temple in Philadelphia.

The Nittany Lion record thus far in 1950 is 7 and 1. Army, Temple, and West Chester are undefeated. The Jeffrey men play Temple on Nov. 25.

Dorm 23 rallied in the second half to defeat Dorm 8, 25-17. In a similar game Dorm 38 overtook Dorm 26, and went on to win, 18-13. Dorm 21, led by Em Kyrim with 11 points, defeated Dorm 2, 20-11.

Frosh Booters To Meet County Schoolboy Stars

The Penn State freshman soccer team will meet the best that the local high schools have to offer when it plays the Centre County All-Stars in Bellefonte tomorrow night under the lights.

Coach George Lawther's squad has a .500 average in collegiate competition. The Little Lions defeated Ogontz center and lost to Frostburg State Teachers College.

The all-star team will be composed of boys from the soccer league formed by Centre county high schools.

Werner Seeking 1st IC-4A Victory

Coach Chick Werner will be out to win his first IC-4A championship in his 18 year tenure of head coach of cross country at Penn State, Monday, at the Van Courtlandt park course in New York City.

Completing its first undefeated season since 1947, the Lion harriers will be one of the favorites to capture the elusive title. Two Werner-coached teams have captured the NCAA title, but the coveted IC-4A crown has eluded the grasp of the Werner-coached harriers.

Mutual To Voice Werner

Penn State's track coach, Charles (Chick) Werner, will discuss his team's chances in Monday's IC-4A cross-country championships over the Mutual network in a radio interview originating in State College at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. The interview, conducted by Jim Coogan, College sports publicist, will be part of Stoney McLinn's weekly "Sports Parade."

Werner's cross countrymen will be installed along with Army, Michigan State, and Manhattan as the pre-meet favorites. The Lion thincads in compiling its undefeated season hold victories over Pittsburgh, Cornell, Michigan State, N.Y.U., and Manhattan.

Gridders At Top Strength For Potent Rutgers Team

Penn State's football team will probably be at full strength for Saturday's rough battle with Rutgers, team physician Dr. A. H. Griess disclosed yesterday.

Fullback Jim Pollard and defensive end Pat McPoland will probably be ready to play, Dr. Griess said, while fullback Paul Anders will be ready for part-time duty at least. Pollard and Anders suffered slight shoulder operations against Boston College. McPoland was sidelined with a torn finger tendon, picked up in a scrimmage session.

Anders saw some action against West Virginia last week, but Pollard and McPoland sat on the sidelines, although the former was in uniform and warmed up with the team before the kickoff.

Improving with each week, the Lions will have to play their best football of the season if they hope to stretch their winning streak to three. Rutgers is rated the strongest team the Lions have faced since Army, and Penn State scouts have reported that they will be tough to beat.

Engle has been working the squad on offense, and it can be expected that the winged-T tactician will add a few frills designed to confuse the Scarlet.

Rutgers Series Renewed

Penn State, its football schedule reduced from eight to two games because of war and the influenza epidemic, lost to Rutgers just two days before the World War I armistice was signed. These two teams meet here Saturday for the first time since 1918.
