

Carpenter Named Committee Head

President Milton S. Eisenhower yesterday named Dr. C. R. Carpenter, professor of psychology and director of the Instructional Film Research project, chairman of the All-College Coordinating and Planning committee. The committee assists members of the faculty in planning proposals for research work to be submitted to the Ford Foundation.

The 14-year-old Ford Foundation, established to "advance human welfare" sponsors research work particularly in the fields of social sciences and humanities. To cooperate with the Foundation Dr. Carpenter requests members of the faculty to discuss possible extensive projects that might be undertaken at the College. These projects should contribute to the knowledge of basic social processes related to the major current problems of human adjustment.

After the central idea has been formulated, members of the faculty should submit brief, general statements on the suggested project to the Coordinating and Planning committee, 307 Burrows. Dr. Carpenter and the other members of the Committee, to be named later, will work closely with departments or faculty having proposals, but any additional information can now be found in the reserve room of the library.

COME TO CHURCH

Abundant harvests—colorful and amply supplied festive tables—family reunions and the homecoming of friends—these memories and realities cluster around our Thanksgiving season. Scorched earth—pitiful and meagerly supplied tables—family separations and the mourning of friends—these memories and stark realities haunt the world family where so many have so little. Let us make of our Thanksgiving a Holy Day in home and church and synagogue: a time of prayer and repentance and assuming of responsibility. Read Psalm 107:8.
