Red Korean Spirit Cracks—MacArthur

UN's Firepower Factor In Communist Crackup

TOKYO—General MacArthur's headquarters said yesterday that Chinese Communist morale in Korea is wrecked. The shock of allied firepower appears to be the main factor in this crackup of morale. Many of the prisoners have denied they came to Korea as volunteers.

Communist resistance has virtually collapsed on the doorstep of Manchuria with tanks leading the way to within two miles of the frontier city of Hyesanjin in northeast Korea. South Korean forces have advanced six miles along the north-east coast and as much as three miles in the north-west sector.

Murray Speaks

CHICAGO—The CIO convention heard a keynote speech from its president, Philip Murray. Murray had previously denied that the recent elections were a repudiation of labor or of President Truman's domestic policies. Murray did contend, however, that the elections were fought on confused international issues and hit a new low in demagoguery.

Jap Minister Freed

TOKYO—Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese wartime foreign minister, walked out of prison yesterday despite Russian protests. Shigemitsu was convicted during the 1948 war crimes trial and sentenced to seven years imprisonment. He was released on parole for good behavior.

Army Sec'y Speaks

CHICAGO—Army secretary Frank Pace, Jr., has called the present day period tragic, difficult, confusing and costly—but better than total war. Pace painted a picture of higher taxes and possible controls on prices, wages and materials. Pace in a speech to the Economic club of Chicago spoke on the cost America must pay for what he called "indefinite semi-mobilization."

Calif. Senator Retires

CALIFORNIA—Senator Downey has announced that he will resign 30 days before the end of his term. Governor Earl Warren said he would name Republican senator-elect Richard Nixon in his place. Downey has been in the Senate for 12 years.

GOP Chairman Quits

NEW YORK—Representative Kingsland Macy quit his 25-year chairmanship of the Suffolk County Republican committee. Macy declared himself appalled by what he called the machinations in GOP.

Allies To Answer Reds

PARIS—An authoritative French spokesman said yesterday that France, Britain, and America are expected to have their answers ready by the end of the week to Russia's proposal for a conference on Germany's future. There is now a possibility of four-power peace talks under the auspices of the UN.

American Spending Up

WASHINGTON—The Commerce department said yesterday that consumers are now making the cash registers ring at a record high. Americans are spending money at the rate of 198-billion dollars a year. Some of the rise is attributed to increasing prices.

Winds Hit Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA—Trees were uprooted and electric wires were ripped down when high winds hit Philadelphia yesterday. A carpenter was killed by a piece of flying wood while an elderly woman suffered a hip fracture when she was bowled over by the wind. Areas in Upper Darby and Drexel Hill were hardest hit.

Meeting Cancelled

Tonight's scheduled meeting of the Penn State club has been cancelled because of the Thanksgiving vacation, Joseph Lipsky, president announced yesterday. Lipsky said the next meeting of the club will be in 405 Old Main at 7 p.m. next Tuesday.

College Judging Team Wins Livestock Show

The College livestock judging team took first place in the Eastern National Livestock show at Timonium, Md., Nov. 11.

Members of the team are, William King, J. Fred King, Donald Clapper, Rolland Herring and Eugene Harding.

Sergeant Eisenh(au)er . . .

CAMPUS PATROL Sgt. Robert Eisenhower gets a kick out of the ribbing his name provokes from other patrolmen since the College acquired its new president. The sergeant, who is shown giving information to a campus driver, met the president at the inaugural reception—and, of course, they compared family histories.

Committees Of AIEE, IRE Meet Tomorrow

The sub-section meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and Institute of Radio Engineers will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in 219 Electrical Engineering building.

Speakers will be John E. Coolidge, associate professor of engineering research, whose topic will be "Dust Precipitation by Electrostatic Fields," and George J. Scholz, research assistant in Physics at the College, who will talk about "Parallel Plate Electrostatic Precipitation."

Bidding Opens On Six Projects

The General State authority issued a call for bids for six projects at the College. The bidding will close Dec. 13.

These projects are part of the $9,000,000 building program currently underway at the College.

The work involves extension of campus steam lines, electrical distribution lines, and sewer lines, as well as reconstruction of boilers in the College power plant.

Plans call for the rebuilding of settings for two boilers, for repairs to stokers, and for boiler alterations.

Forestry Expert Murphey Retires

Frank T. Murphey, in charge of forestry extension at the College, has retired after a career devoted to development of better woodlot programs, mostly on Pennsylvania farms.

Except for two years in the armed services, Murphey has spent his time in forestry work at Penn State.

From the time Murphey joined the agricultural extension service staff of the College in 1923, he discussed and demonstrated good woodlot management, and said that it can be as important as any other part of the farm program.

Retirement does not mean an end to this forestry career, but rather an opportunity to realize a long cherished wish, as he puts it, "to practice what I've been preaching."

Woman Reservist Recalled To Duty

The first woman reservist at the College recalled to the active duty was Norria Boal, a junior in home economics. Miss Boal is a member of the U. S. Navy women's reserve corps.

Melvin Ott, a member of the 11th Air Borne reserve who was ordered back recently, was deferred.

Four others recalled by the reserves were Harry Burday, Air Force; Robert Kreidler, Marine Corps; Raymond Keller, Army; and William Stambaugh, Army.

To Attend Labor Talk

Members of the Industrial Relations Research association will attend a conference between labor and management at Vandergrift, Pa., Friday.

The students will be guests of the CIO at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation in Vandergrift and will hear discussions on grievances between labor and management.
