Truman And Attlee Discuss Korean War

WASHINGTON — President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee held their second meeting on the Korea crisis yesterday afternoon aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg.

They will meet again this morning at the White House. Stories from London were that Pres. Truman and the British prime minister decided that UN forces would return to Korea in case they are driven out by the Chinese Reds. However, the White House announcement said only that they discussed the steps to be taken to meet the Korean crisis.

Proposal Opposed

LAKE SUCCESS — West Germany yesterday bitterly opposed the Dutch plan for rearmament of Western Europe.

This plan, a compromise proposal, would leave it up to a Civilian high commission to recruit and direct about 150,000 German troops who would be used in brigade combat units of 4000 to 6000 men each and would function with other Western forces in the defense of Europe.

A West German spokesman said this proposal is not acceptable because the Germans would not be regarded as full allies of the 12 Atlantic Treaty nations.

Delegates Meet

LAKE SUCCESS — The latest UN maneuver to find some way out of the Korea crisis brought on by Red China came yesterday when Britain's delegate, Sir Gladwyn Jebb, had a long lunch with the Chinese Communist representative, Wu Hsiu-Chuan. All previous moves were top secrets.

Canada's UN delegate last night called for a cease-fire in Korea and for negotiations with Red China on Korea and other Far Eastern problems.

Motion Picture Dept. Films 'Snow Removal'

While everyone else was deploring the recent big snow, to three men at the College it was a sort of blessing.

The men, Henry L. Miller, Delmer P. Duvall and Gerald Hutchison, all of the Motion Picture and Recording studio of the College, left for Clearfield and points west to film a movie for the State Department of Highways.

Need A Date? Look In Here

For a quarter you can have almost any date on campus you want whether male or female. It's as simple as that and all you need is a copy of the student directory.

Between the 178 pages are ten thousand or so names alphabetically classified from Kathleen Aagaard to Joseph Zyiinski. In between, the choice ranges from tongue-twisters like Zlupko, Asplundh, Nuschke, and Kjelaard to the usual Smiths, Browns, and Joneses.

On campus the Smiths with only 70 of their offspring running loose have to bow to the first place Millers, who chose to send 76 of their young'uns to Penn State. The Browns are third; while a mere 48 of the Joneses bring them in fourth.

As to which Smith has the most unusual name for a Smith, the choice lies between Cornelius or Hollaus.

Perhaps the longest full name on the list is Minocher Dadabhoy Karkhanavala, citizen of Bombay, India. He is easily recognizable about campus by the distinction of a turban. At the slightest sign of rain, Karkhanavala is not without his umbrella.

Trustees Approve Three Promotions

The Executive committee of the board of trustees at the College approved three promotions and a transfer at their recent meeting, President Milton S. Eisenhower announced.

Dr. Frances M. Andrews, assistant professor of music education, was promoted to the rank of associate professor, while Marguerite E. Johnson was promoted from assistant professor to associate professor of nutrition extension, both promotions effective Dec. 1.

Kenneth R. Bennett, Experiment Station statistician, assumed the additional title of professor of statistics as of Nov. 16.

The transfer approved was that of Dr. Ralph L. Baker, associate professor of agricultural economics at Iowa State college, who was named associate professor of marketing at the College, effective April 16, 1951.

69 From Foreign Countries Enrolled

Sixty-nine students from 25 different foreign countries, most of them enrolled for graduate work, are attending the College this semester.

China, with 18 students has the largest representation, while Canada has 12 students on campus. Among other countries represented are Australia, Brazil, Colombia, India, Great Britain, Jamaica, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Haiti, Holland, Hungary, Korea, Norway, Peru, Poland, Sweden, Trans-Jordan, Turkey, Panama, Uruguay, and Viet-Nam.

Searching for the shortest named to the discovery of Markley Au, and we'll accept correction if there are any one-letter names on campus.

Among the celebrities matriculating at Penn State are Herbert Hoover, Robert Taylor, Joan Crawford, and Mary Martin.

If you're peevish with an old-fashioned name like May and George, what would you have said to mother had she given you the polysyllabic label of Sharadcha-ndra?

So much for names, where do some of the ten thousand come from? The land of the lei is represented by Robert Dennett of Honolulu. Sharadcha-ndra Deodhar lists his hometown as Poona, India. Thomas Harper lives in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, when he's home. Eduardo Wood resides down Uruguay way, and Patricia Dennis is from Ho-Ho-Kus, N. J.

Thus it goes, page after page of potential date material. There's England, Holland, and France, and Wink, Snow, Wolf, Apple, Gold, Root, and Sand.

That directory is the best date bureau on campus.

State Team Places In Poultry Contest

The first Penn State poultry judging team in many years placed third among 11 colleges and universities in the Eastern Intercollegiate poultry judging contests Nov. 25 at Rutgers university.

Cornell took first place and the National Agricultural college at Doylestown, second.

Immediately after returning from Rutgers, Dr. A. J. G. Maw, team coach and member of the poultry faculty, started for Chicago with another team to compete in the Midwestern Intercollegiate poultry judging events there. With him are Robert Vorp, Anthony Stemberger, Alan Wolfe, and Joseph Hrebar.

Team members who appeared at Rutgers were Thomas Stabler, Albert Hibbard, Charles Frederick, and Robert Woodward.

Philosophy Club Speaker

Dr. Dagobert de Levie, assistant professor of German, will speak on "Cotton Mather and the Christian Philosopher" at an open meeting of the Philosophy club in 203 Willard at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Trustees Grant Seven Leaves To Professors

President Eisenhower has announced leaves of absence for seven faculty members have been approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees at the College.

Chauncey O. Ridenour, professor of English literature, was granted a leave extending from July 1, 1951 to Jan. 31, 1951. During this time he will conduct research and travel.

Dr. Philip A. Shelley, professor and head of the German department, will undertake research and writing on his leave from Feb. 1, 1951 to June 30, 1951.

Dr. Hazel M. Hatcher, professor of home economics education and home-community relationships, is working on the U.S. Department of State educational program in Frankfurt, Germany. Her leave became effective Nov. 1 and will continue to Jan. 31, 1951.

Dr. R. Burton Power, professor of engineering research in the Ordnance Research Laboratory, is now attached to the Army Ordnance Division of the Department of Defense, Washington, D.C. Power's leave of absence began Oct. 15 and will continue to Oct. 14, 1951.

Dr. Clifford R. Adams, professor of psychology, is conducting research and completing a book during his leave that started September 1 and will continue to Jan. 31, 1951.

A leave of absence for Robert L. Stanley has been extended from Dec. 16 to March 15, 1951. Stanley is associate professor of engineering research in the Engineering Experiment Station. His leave began Oct. 1 and he is now conducting promotional work for the Diesel Engine Manufacturing Association.

William Archer, Jr., assistant county agricultural extension representative, was granted a leave from Feb. 1, 1951 to Jan. 31, 1952 for graduate work.
