Nittany-Pollock Councils Plan Christmas Party

The Nittany-Pollock councils will hold their annual Windcrest Children's Christmas party from 2:30 to 4 p.m., Friday in the TUB.

Children of College students living in the Windcrest area were invited to attend by council officials.

Tentative plans of the councils are to have recorded Christmas music and games.

Invitations will also be extended to the deans of the College schools and several members of the College administration.

The Nittany-Pollock councils have distributed collection jars over campus and are asking student support for the party. Contributions may be made at Student Union, TUB, PUB, Nittany dining commons, and three women's dorms, Simmons, McElwain, and Atherton.

Donations may also be made through the mail to Pollock Circle dorm 25, room 18. The drive for funds will end at noon Friday.

Chapter III—A

Lesson in Observation

by Short Handled Spade

Into the restaurant in the shadow of the Glenland Apartments I once again strode. Casting furtive glances to my left and to my right, I sat down at the long row of stools. This time nothing was going to escape my attention. I studied the blond sitting next to me. She continued to study her menu. I took the hint. I studied the menu for possible clues. I didn't find any, but the hot roast beef sandwich with mashed potatoes for 50c looked good. I ordered one.

While I was eating the blond served an omelet hotplate at 65c. I ordered one.

I was working on the omelet and two vegetables when I noticed the fellow to my left feasting on some appetizing looking spaghetti. I had some, along with a submarine sandwich. Then the aroma of frying hamburgers reached my nostrils. I was firm. I only had two and a couple pieces of homemade pie that I noticed in the case.

Downing my fifth cup of coffee, I paid and walked back out onto Beaver Avenue. I was exhilarated! What observation! Hardly an item had escaped my investigation!

I didn't sleep well that night. I guess because the mystery was still unsolved. Anyhow I was laying there, musing, when suddenly I had the answer. Just one more visit was all I needed. To be sure
