

Getis Gets His:

Engineer Bob Honored By 4 Fraternities

If you happen to see a tall, tired-looking young man displaying several cardboard posters on various parts of his anatomy as he walks across campus, don't be alarmed. It's only Robert L. Getis.

Bob, a senior in the School of Engineering, has had the distinction of being initiated into four fraternities within an 11-day span. On Dec. 2, he was initiated into Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary. One week later he was taken into Sigma Tau, another national engineering honorary.

On Dec. 13, he was admitted to his third engineering honorary, Alpha Pi Mu, for industrial engineers only. To meet the entrance requirements for these organizations, Bob ranked in the upper one-fifth of his class and showed definite signs of promise in the field of engineering.

Sandwiched between these three banquet invitations, Bob was also initiated by Alpha Epsilon Pi, a social fraternity, which he has been pledging since last April.

Though somewhat worn after accumulating over 200 required signatures, Bob admits, "It's really worth it. Besides, look at the swell meals I've been getting."

Heart Surgeon Talks Monday

Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, resident surgeon at New York's Montifiore hospital, will talk on the "Mechanical Heart" at 8 p.m. Monday in 119 Osmond.

Dr. Kantrowitz, in collaboration with the well-known chest surgeon, Dr. Hurwitz, has done extensive experimenting with mechanical aids to chest operations.

Aside from his artificial breather and kidney inventions, Dr. Kantrowitz has developed a mechanical device which substitutes for the left side of the heart. This enables surgery on other areas of the left side.

In his talk, Dr. Kantrowitz intends to discuss the progress in mechanical heart development and to explain its present status. The Doctor is bringing a ten-minute film showing an actual heart operation. The pictures of the installation of mechanical apparatus will show his own contributions to medical science.

Vinicour Speaks For United Korea

We must reunite Korea, the pivot of East Asia, and make it a free and independent country if we are to combat the Chinese Communist threat, S. M. Vinicour, graduate student of speech, told students at the Thompson hall smoker Thursday night.

Mr. Vinicour, whose appearance here was sponsored by the West Dorm social committee, informally discussed "American Asiatic Policy."

Davis Named To Board

Dr. Arthur F. Davis, professor of physical education at the College, has been elected to the board of directors and to the executive committee of the Pennsylvania division, American Cancer society for a three-year term.

Christmas Pageant At Episcopal Church

Tradition has it that the three wise men who came to worship the Christ child on the first Christmas night came from three different lands. When the Christmas story is told in living pictures at the St. Andrew's Episcopal church at 7 p.m. tomorrow evening, this tradition will be carried out.

Dr. Rustum Roy, Presbyterian missionary to India, will portray the first wise man. George Kozuchi, a student, will be the second wise man. Kozuchi is a Japanese-American student who was reared in Japan. The third wise man will be played by Lincess McKnight.

Thirteen other students will appear in the pageant. Jeanne Reist will be the Virgin Mary and Scott Frear will be Joseph. Betty Knerr will play Elizabeth and Roger Lindemuth will portray the prophet Isaiah. The shepherds will be William Tanner, John Ingham and Burt Spearhawk. Donna Esterbrook, Mary Reinoehl and Peggy Jane White will appear in the angel scene.

Three students worked on the technical production of the pageant. Tim Rodriguez and Bob Gebhart worked on lighting and Bob Lake is on the prop committee.

Music for the production will be furnished by the choir and the congregation. Special music will include works of Bach, Gounod and Schubert.

The pageant was arranged by the Rev. John W. Peabody, rector of St. Andrew's, and has been presented annually for the last six years. The cast and all Episcopal students attending will be guests for a party in the parish house following the presentation Sunday night.

Panhel-IFC Plan Christmas Party

A Panhel-IFC Christmas party for the children from Woodycrest, Lytle Addition, Oak Hall, Lemont, Circleville, and various other sections of State College will be held in the TUB from 2 to 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Entertainment for the children includes movies, a magic show, and distribution of gifts by Santa Claus, Janet Sanders, co-chairman with Carl Peterson, said yesterday.

N.Y. Meeting Draws Profs

Five faculty members of the College will present papers at the annual meetings of the Modern Language Association of America to be held Dec. 27-29 in New York.

Dr. Herbert Steiner, associate professor of German, will read a paper on "Report on Beer-Hoffmann's David-Trilogie," and Dr. Helen Adolf, associate professor of German, will present a paper, "The Essence and Origin of Tragedy."

Dr. Robert J. Clements, head of the Romance Languages department, will speak on "The Present State of Studies in Renaissance Literary Criticism;" Dr. Oscar A. Haac, assistant professor of Romance languages, will present a paper on "Michelet and German Literature;" and Dr. Leon S. Roudiez, instructor in Romance languages, will speak on "Charles Maurras' Early Concept of the Critic."

Play's Third Act To Be Presented

A script-in-hand production of the third act of "Honey Holler," by Keith MacKaye, will be presented in the Little Theater Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Directed by Nancy Mechling, the performance is open to the public.

The cast includes Betty Lou Morgan, Lorraine Spittler, Fred DeWitt, Stanley Sitoski, Richard Pioli, George Ryan, Charles Williams, Daniel Meckes, and Walter Vail.

The play takes place in the hilly border regions of southern Connecticut and concerns a half-legendary, half-prophetic character known as the "Leather Man," who emerges from a secret underworld into a lost area of reality.

West Dorms Sponsor Socials

The West dorm council and the WSGA will sponsor a series of Christmas teas at the West dorms today and tomorrow.

The Hamilton hall party will last from 2-5 p.m. while the socials at Thompson, McKee, and Irvin will be from 3-5 p.m.

Irvin, McKee, and Thompson will hold dances in the evening from 8-12. Refreshments will be served in the Christmas-decorated lounges. At Thompson hall a combo will play all day.

On Sunday there will be a dance at Thompson hall from 2-5 p.m.

Vacant Trailers Must Be Razed

No indication has been given to the dean of men's office as to just how many trailers in Windcrest will be vacated by graduates leaving in February, according to Mrs. Sara E. Case, secretary in charge of trailers and housing in the dean of men's office.

According to Russell E. Clark, director of housing, any trailers that are vacated which will not be used to house students, must be destroyed.

He said that in the contracts with the Federal Project Housing authority, signed in 1945 when the trailers were first purchased, it was stipulated that any trailers no longer used by the College could not be resold.

He said this was designed to prevent the building up of slum areas with the trailers.

Church To Hold Party

A Christmas party will be held at the local Episcopal church at 7 p.m. tomorrow. A party at the parish house will follow.
