Main UN Force Abandons Seoul; Reds Still Advance

TOKYO—United Nations forces abandoned the flaming city of Seoul yesterday. The South Korean Government, along with most of the city's population fled the city for the second time in six months.

Assault waves of Communist troops had reached the outskirts of Seoul when the Eighth Army was ordered to quit the city yesterday morning. There are still American troops north of the city facing the oncoming Red tide.

Fifty miles east of Seoul U.N. troops are faced with a serious flanking threat by southward bound North Korean forces. The enemy flanking force is said to include hard-riding cavalry. Whether these cavalrymen are North Korean or Mongolian was not indicated.

U.N. Naval forces off the coast at Inchon are held in readiness to re-deploy our ground forces by sea if developments make that necessary.

Taft Accuses Truman

WASHINGTON—The opening session of the new Senate yesterday heard President Truman accused of holding up the work of the 82nd Congress.

The protest came after the new Senate Democratic leader, Ernest McFarland of Arizona, asked the chamber not to conduct any business until the President has delivered his state of the union message. The President is scheduled to deliver the address before Congress Monday. Republican Senator Robert Taft of Ohio said presidential messages in the past have usually been delivered within a day or two after Congress convenes. Taft said the Senate was losing time as a result of the late deliverance of his annual address.

Vets Must Begin Training By July

Veterans who have not taken advantage of the educational benefits of the GI Bill of Rights, or who have interrupted training, must be in training on July 25, 1951, or forfeit further rights.

To accomplish this, the veterans must either be enrolled in college in the spring semester or in a summer session starting before July 25.

Veterans enrolled in college who are members of the reserves and are called into federal service will not lose their educational benefits under the GI Bill providing they return to college within a reasonable time after release from the armed services. The same applies to veterans taken into federal service by other means.

Veterans expecting to be called into the service, or desiring to volunteer for service should therefore be enrolled in college up to the time of their induction if they wish to continue educational training after discharge.

Snack Bar Hospitality

A COLORFULLY DECORATED snack bar is something new even for the residents of the ultra-modern West Dorm area. But it's built into the new buildings and was greeted yesterday by hundreds of wide-eyed collegiates. Here, Miss Marian Knepper, snack bar supervisor, gets some first hand impressions on the bar from Thomas Redmond, Carl Fenstermacher, and George Fijo.

New West Dormitory Dining Hall Opens

The new West dorm dining hall opened up for the noon meal yesterday afternoon, and marked the completion of all the buildings in the West dorm area.

The dining rooms, which were originally scheduled to open when the new dorms did in September, will seat 1400 in three rooms.

Residents of Jordan, Watts, Irvin, McKee, Thompson and Hamilton halls, who began the semester using the facilities of McAllister hall, have completed the transition and the hall was in full operation yesterday for dinner.

Besides the three dining halls, a lounge, located in the north wing of the building, a foyer, and a snack shop, in the south wing, take up the first floor. All the dining rooms are located on the second floor of the structure.

Located Near Kitchen
The dining halls are located on three sides of the kitchen, which occupies the east end of the floor. The men pick up their food at one of the entrances to the kitchen, one located in each of the three halls. Silverware and plates are in receptacles in the entrances.

Robert Davis, all-College president, said of the new building, "The College has just opened the biggest fraternity house on campus."

May Entertain Coeds
Residents of the West dorms may entertain coeds in the lounge and snack bar from 1 p.m. until 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 1 p.m. until 12:45 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. The Monday to Thursday hours are in effect on Sunday.

The snack bar is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to midnight, and Sunday, from 2 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Later he won a scholarship to the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music. After a year at Philadelphia, he received a fellowship at the Juilliard Graduate school in New York City.

State Triumphs In Soccer Bowl

By BUD FENTON

The Penn State soccer men opened the 1951 College athletic year with a smashing 3-1 triumph over the Purdue S.C. on New Year's Day in the second annual Soccer Bowl game in St. Louis.

Again acclaimed as one of the most formidable aggregations in the nation, the Blue and White team proved

Faculty Relations, Draft, Discussed At NSA Meeting

Better student-faculty relations, academic freedom, and the draft situation were three problems discussed at the winter assembly of the Pennsylvania Region National Student association held in Philadelphia Dec. 15 through 17. Six members of the Penn State NSA attended the conference. They were William Klisanin, chairman of the Penn State chapter and Regional vice-president in charge of International affairs; Murray Goldman, head of Faculty and Course Rating committee and president of the central Pennsylvania sub-region; Edward Shanken, head of Transportation committee and Cabinet representative; David Fitzcharles, head of Absentee Voting committee; Jack Garretson-Butt, director of public relations; and Barbara Lehn, secretary.

Academic Freedom
It was decided at the conference that academic freedom must be maintained for faculty and students alike. But it was decided that suppression of the truth by faculty members for any reason should be cause for dismissal.

The conference came out in favor of better student-faculty relations and suggested meetings between student leaders, faculty leaders, and members of the administration to plan a course of action which would be suitable to all. Penn State has already taken action on this point with its proposed faculty-student-administration encampment planned for next spring.

Absentee voting was discussed for students who are unable to be at home at election time and also for members of the armed forces. It was resolved that a bill drawn up by Fitzcharles of Penn State be submitted to the Pennsylvania state legislature for this purpose.

Aid To China
The National Students association has a fund set aside for educational aid to China. It was decided that this fund should be frozen until a study reveals whether the money sent there is being properly used.

The draft problem was discussed at great length, but owing to the world situation and the uncertainty of the future, the only resolution made was that national officers of the NSA who are giving up a year of school to do the

Econ Professor To Present Paper

Franklin H. Cook, associate professor of economics, will present a paper at the annual meeting of the American Business Law association to be held in Chicago January 27. The subject of the paper will be "The Responsibility of the Business Law Teacher for the Price Structure."

Professor Cook also will participate in round-table discussion concerned with teaching problems. He will emphasize the importance of constitutional law in the business school curriculum.

worthy of such notices by completely outplaying the midwestern team in winning the 24th of its last 26 contests.

Joe Lane, Ellis Kocher, and Clarence Buss did the scoring but all the Lions were brilliant as they were able to take 49 shots at the opponents' goal while State goalkeeper Ron Coder had to ward off only 12 attempts by the Boilermakers. Lou Siero tallied the losers' only goal in the third quarter on a penalty kick. Harry Little had previously failed to convert a penalty shot in the opening period.

Rebound Shot
Lane's goal came near the end of the first half as he converted a partially-blocked shot by Ron Coleman into his tenth of the season. Kocher's first score of the season was indeed an important one as he broke a 1-1 tie in the third period. From that point forward, it was all State as they carried the game to the Purdue club with an effective passing attack.

Buss added the third tally in the 85th minute of play, climaxing a brilliant season in which his scoring was timely and important.

The contest was the first bowl win for Coach Bill Jeffrey's booters.

Second Bowl Game
Monday's victory marked the second time that State has played in the Sportsman's park bowl contest. Last year the Lions tied San Francisco university 2-2.

But the 1951 game was a different story as Captain Little's charges opened the battle with an offense that marked them as the superior club from the start. Sparked by the speedy Buss on the left wing and Coleman, playing before the fans of his own hometown, the Nittanians continually pressed the Boilermakers.

State To Receive Du Pont Grants

Penn State is one of the 47 colleges and universities which will receive part of $390,400 for post-doctoral and post-graduate fellowships from the Du Pont company during 1951-52. The Penn State grants will be used for post graduate fellowships in chemistry and mechanical engineering.

The Du Pont company started the fellowships in 1918 to encourage research on the graduate level. The universities themselves select the research projects for which the grants will be used, the only stipulation being that they be free from any commercial implications at the time the work is initiated. The communication and publication of the results are unrestricted by the company. The company also emphasized the fact that individuals working under this plan are under no obligation with respect to employment.
