

The Daily Collegian

Successor to THE FREE LANCE, est. 1887

Published Tuesday through Saturday mornings inclusive during the College year by the staff of The Daily Collegian of The Pennsylvania State College.

Entered as second-class matter July 5, 1934, at the State College, Pa., Post Office under the act of March 3, 1879.

Dean Gladfelter Editor Owen E. Landon Business Mgr.

STAFF THIS ISSUE

Night Editor, Ron Bonn; Assistant Night Editor, Jeanette Ibbotson; Copy Editor, Len Kolasinski; Assistants, Jack Mounts, Ada Bortoluzzi, Charles Henderson.

Advertising Staff, Judy Krakower, Mary Clymer.

Storm Warning

Our glance happened to stray to the calendar yesterday and it suddenly dawned upon us that final exams will be popping up any day now—Friday, Jan. 18, to be exact.

THUS FAR, WE HAVEN'T given finals too much thought, and we suspect this has been the case with a good many of the Penn State Joes and Janes. But with that fatal date with destiny less than two weeks away, we finally came to realize that now is the time to really bear down and prepare for the slaughter. Frankly, we've piddled away a good portion of this semester and since it usually is the case among the Joes and Janes, we imagine quite a few of our compatriots are guilty of the same sin.

So, to any other readers who have not yet happened upon the realization that the day of doom is near, let this be a storm warning. There are only a few days and plenty of boning up between now and the time we all go out to be drawn and quartered for this semester.

Hot NCAA Issue

With the touchy problem of sanity code enforcement already on its agenda, the annual meeting of the NCAA had another hot issue tossed into its lap Sunday. Mack M. Greene, director of athletics at Wilberforce State college—an all-Negro school charged the NCAA with racial discrimination in scheduling its meeting in Dallas, Texas.

In a letter to Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, Western conference commissioner and secretary-treasurer of the NCAA, Greene declared: "I won't be in Dallas this year to subject myself to the social indignities that Texas law says I deserve because of my ancestry. I don't believe you would go there either, if the same discrimination was imposed on you."

Greene went on to charge that some Negro members of the NCAA were told that they would have to ride on freight elevators to get to the meetings, and that they would not be welcome at the American Football Coaches association banquet.

PENN STATERS FAMILIAR with the situation that developed when the 1947 Nittany Lion football team was invited to play in the New Year's day Cotton bowl know very well the indignities that would be heaped upon Negro members of the NCAA who might attend the meetings. The discrimination problem was such that it was necessary for the football team to be quartered at the Naval air station since none of the Dallas hotels would house the two Negro members of the squad.

It would seem that the NCAA—an organization committed to the best in athletics and fair play—has made a mistake in scheduling its annual meeting in the heart of Jim Crow America.

—Marv Krasnansky

Safety Valve . . .

Thanks, Hope For Fair Deal

TO THE EDITOR: Carbon copy of letter sent to Mrs. Storm in answer to her letter published in the Daily Collegian Jan. 4:

Dear Mrs. Storm:

I was very pleased to receive your letter concerning the Windcrest Christmas party. Thank you very much for those words of encouragement. Such acclaim will certainly be an incentive for our man to put time and effort on the projects which lie before us. Much of the praise for the success of the Windcrest party must go to you parents for the very cooperative spirit in which you supported and participated in this program.

We like our neighbors in Windcrest and hope that the College administration will not go through with plans to dismantle your community. It is alleged that widescale repairs are due for the trailers and that the College cannot stand the expense at this time. However, I have heard from several families that they are willing to repair the trailers at their own expense. I sincerely hope that you nice people get a fair deal in this matter.

—John H. Laubach
President, Nittany council

Gazette . . .

TUESDAY, JAN. 9

COLLEGIAN BUSINESS candidates, final exam, 1 Carnegie hall, 7 p.m.

COLLEGIAN BUSINESS staff, junior and sophomore boards, 9 Carnegie hall, 7 p.m.

LA VIE JUNIOR board, 412 Old Main, 8 p.m.

ANDROCLES, TKE house, 7 p.m.

PENN STATE CLUB, 405 Old Main, 7 p.m.

NIITTANY BOWMEN, election of officers, movies, 209 Engineering C, 7 p.m.

NAACP, 303 Willard, 7:30 p.m.

LIBERAL ARTS student council, 109 Willard, 8 p.m.

MINERAL INDUSTRIES student council, 107 Willard, 7 p.m.

ENGINEERING student council, 107 Main Engineering, 7 p.m.

WRA BOWLING, White hall Alleys, 7 p.m.

WRA FENCING, White hall, 7 p.m.

COLLEGE PLACEMENT

Link Belt company will be on campus to interview January graduates in E.E., C.E., and M.E. if there are enough students interested. Leave name at 112 Old Main by Wednesday, Jan. 10.

House Hold Finance corporation will interview January graduates at the B.S. level in C & F, A & L, ED., and Phys Ed. on Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Wheeling Steel corporation will be on campus to interview January graduates in Fuel Tech., M.E., I.E., and Metal. if enough students are interested. Leave name at 112 Old Main, by Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Westinghouse Air Brake company is interested in M.E. graduates. Leave name at 112 Old Main, by Wednesday, Jan. 10.

Calvert Distilling company will interview January graduates in M.E., I.E., E.E., Bact., Chem., Chem. Eng., Bio-Chem, Forestry, and women in C&F Wednesday, Jan. 10.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

West Dorm residents with no 4 o'clocks for 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. duty in West Dorm dining hall; remuneration in cash.

Off campus resident for regular waiter duty in Women's dining hall; must have no 8 o'clocks on Mondays and Fridays; remuneration in meals.

Off campus resident for substitute duty in women's dining hall; remuneration in meals.

Couple without children to live in house for one month; to cook breakfast and dinner for man and to do light housekeeping; room plus cash provided.

Man to live and work at local restaurant; 18 hours work a week in exchange for room and board; additional work hours to be reimbursed in cash; must be underclassman, in State College during the summer, and have car.

Little Man On Campus

By Bibler

"I wish Worthal had his accordion here—He's never quite caught on to the piano keyboard."

Two Groups Approve Plan By Eisenhower

Two campus groups—the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors and the faculty of the School of the Liberal Arts—have endorsed the proposal of President Eisenhower that a small college advisory council be named.

This council would be available to counsel with all administrators, including the President, on important legislative, policy, and administrative matters.

The Planning committee of the School of Liberal Arts presented to the faculty of the School the following resolutions, which were adopted by unanimous vote:

"Be it resolved: That the School of the Liberal Arts endorses the proposal made by President Eisenhower to the effect that there be established a faculty advisory council, chosen by proportional representation, to counsel the President and other administrators on important questions of policy and administration.

"Be it further resolved: That the faculty of the School of the Liberal Arts stands ready to elect its proportionate number of representatives to the proposed advisory council."

Dean's Letter Conveys Hope

Hope was expressed last week that every student would stick with his job in an open letter sent to all students leaders and fraternities by the Dean of Men's office.

The communication was signed by H. K. Wilson, dean of men, his assistants, and his office staff.

The letter pointed out the present uncertainty in the world situation, and said: "The staff of the office of the Dean of Men hopes that every student will stick with his job at Penn State, firm in the belief that in so doing, he is contributing in full measure as a responsible citizen."

The letter continued that the Dean of Men's office had attempted to enlarge its activities within the past year. It pointed out the more effective tie-ups with IFC and AIM as examples of increased student participation in government.

NOW!

At Your Warner Theatre

Cathaum

JOAN FONTAINE
ROBERT RYAN

"BORN TO BE BAD"

State

STEVE COCHRAN
VIRGINIA GRAY

"HIGHWAY 301"

Nittany

Presented in Cooperation with Romance Language Dt.

"MAD QUEEN"

Spanish Film English Titles

All-College

SQUARE DANCE

Sponsored by Junior Class

SATURDAY, JAN. 13

8:30 - 12 p.m. in REC HALL

Music by Fred Hartwick and his Keystone Four

Admission: 50c per couple

