

Who's In News To Be Issued Today At SU

Who's In The News At Penn State will be distributed beginning today at the Student Union desk in Old Main to each person whose name appears in the booklet.

Each person will receive two copies after signing his name over his biography in the signout booklet. Arthur Benning, editor, asked that students pick up their copies as soon as possible. Copies will be mailed to those students who were graduated recently.

Each social fraternity and sorority may pick up one free copy. A member of the organization must sign his name on the list provided at the desk.

Fifth Year

Who's In The News At Penn State, now in its fifth year of publication, is published by Sigma Delta Chi, men's journalism fraternity, and Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary.

Laura Mermelstein is the associate editor of the 1950-51 edition. On the selections committee that chose the 415 undergraduates included in the publication were Homer Barr, Men's Athletic association president; Robert Davis, all-College president; Dean Gladfelter, Daily Collegian editor; and Barbara Sprenkle, Women's Student Government Association president.

Students Listed

Of the 415 students listed 275 are seniors, 111 are juniors, 21 are sophomores, and 8 are freshmen.

This year's edition features a new type of cover designed by Henry Progar in the College colors.

Who's In The News will also be distributed to the leading newspapers in the state, major colleges and universities throughout the nation, and campus libraries, publications, departments, and administrative offices.

Hatmen Reminded Of Frosh Customs

Robert Fast, president of Hat Societies council, in a statement to the Daily Collegian last night urged all hatmen to wear their black hats daily during the customs period, which begins today.

Fast reminded hatmen that freshmen do not have to know the school songs and cheers until Monday, but that all other customs will be in effect.

Freshmen may buy their dinks and ties at the BX, located in the TUB. They may appeal any illegal hazing practices to Tribunal under the present customs code.

"The spirit of the freshman class shown this fall was one which has been lacking on the Penn State campus for a good many years," Fast said, "and we hope the new freshmen can pick up the general good spirit of the customs period and uphold their end of Penn State tradition when they become upperclassmen."

Committees—

(Continued from page one)

George Kurtz, Jean Lathleen, Harold Leinbach, Jane Mullen, Barber Parks, Barbara Sprenkle, and Joan Wentzel.

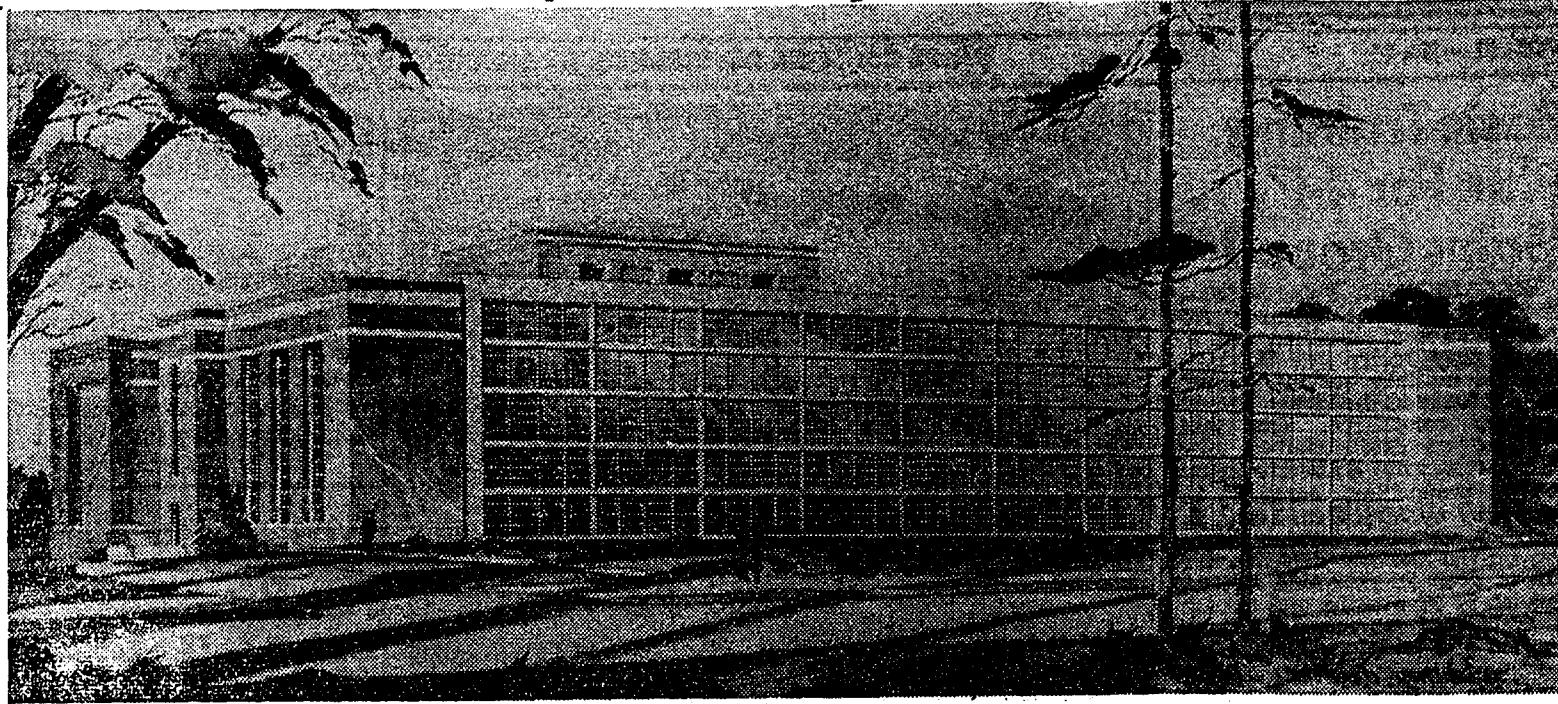

Robert Fast will direct the hospitality committee, and Herbert Axford, Nancy Barth, Rosemary Bellin, Lois Blum, Betty Byrem, Alice Garanter, Mimi Gieber, Sanford Hertz, Patricia Jones, Thomas Landis, Robert Mingle, Dorothy Osterhout, Shirley Pritchard, and Mary Stark will assist him.

Chairman of the program committee will be Norman Thielke. Other members of this committee are: Ralph Cash, Rita Gould, Ruth King, Edwerth Korts, Harold Leinbach, Drew Mahla, Donald McGarey, James Reed, and Frank Shevack.

Ralph Cash will be chairman of the religious culture group. Paul Apple, Charles Brewer, David Fitchard, Bebe Sayre, Theresa Sparano, Doris Sher, Stanley Vitt, and Ginger Williams.

Jane Ifft was selected as worship chairman, and her assistants will be Dorothy Balfour, Harold Borck, Mary Kozelnicky, Gerry Lalli, Anna Light, Drew Mahla, and Leo Schulna.

Proposed Library Addition

Five Groups Get Charters

The senate committee on student welfare has granted charters to five new student organizations and approved revisions of the Liberal Arts student council constitution, according to H. K. Wilson, dean of men at the College.

The new campus groups are pre-medical society; a student affiliate of the American Chemical society; Sigma Epsilon, sanitary engineering society; and Pi Omega Pi, business education fraternity.

The local chapter of Pi Omega Pi will in the future become affiliated with the national business education honorary.

The senate committee also approved the publication of a College verse magazine in connection with the Composition 13 course. Constitution changes made by the Liberal Arts council concerned the election code.

The revised code will state that if the number of persons nominated for the council in any class is below the number required by the council, the class will forfeit the vacant seats.

In case of a tie in balloting for council membership, the winner shall be chosen by lot. No candidate shall be permitted to actively campaign at the polling place by personal contact or by distribution of unauthorized literature. He may submit a display poster containing a picture and written matter.

State Debaters Enter Tourney

Three members of the College debate squad will leave tonight for Boston in order to participate in the debate tournament to be held this week-end at Boston university.

Marlin Brenner and David Lewis will represent Penn State in the regular team tourney, in which more than 50 college teams will compete. The topic will be this year's national intercollegiate debate question, "Resolved: That the non-communist nations should form a new international organization."

Robert Alderdice of the College squad will participate in the extemporaneous speaking tournament, and will be alternate for the other two team members.

In the team tourney each team will take part in six rounds, alternately defending the affirmative and the negative positions. The two highest-rating teams will then meet in two additional rounds to determine the winner of the meet.

J. F. O'Brien, professor of public speaking and coach of the squad, will accompany the team members.

Withdrawal Correction

Official withdrawal forms for students who intend to drop out of school are to be obtained from the student's school dean, not from the office of the dean of admissions as was announced in the Jan. 16 Collegian.

New Wing Planned For College Library By 1952

By DAVE JONES

The Pattee library will be double its present size by June, 1952, barring unforeseen complications, College Librarian Ralph McComb disclosed recently. Completion of a new library wing (pictured above) is expected by that time.

The new two-floor addition, which will house between 350 and 400 thousand volumes in six stack levels, will be constructed to the rear of the present building and will measure 219' x 75'. It will raise the library capacity to 600 thousand volumes.

McComb estimated it would take the College at least 15 years to fill the new wing with books.

Reading Rooms

Subject reading rooms will be increased in number to make more books available on open shelves to the students. Special rooms are planned for education, social science, psychology, language, and literature. A "special collection" room will be provided for the rarer books and other special items, McComb said.

Audio-visual aids for languages will also be included, and long-range plans call for the inclusion of musical recordings. Additional screening rooms for movies will be constructed in the basement.

Study Rooms

McComb expressed hopes to develop a general informal reading room and study area for students and said 160 private study rooms for faculty and graduate study are to be included in the stack rooms on five of the six stack levels.

"The library represents a basic need of the College," McComb

Air Authority Set For Area

Action was taken Monday night by the State College and Bellefonte town councils to set up an airport authority to work out plans for a new or improved airfield in the Centre county area.

At the same time, W. N. Leonard, chairman of the State College Commerce club's aviation committee, reported the work of his group and analyzed the airport situation at a meeting of the Faculty club Monday afternoon.

The State College air depot serving the Centre county area has been closed since the first week in January. At that time, All-American airways, the only line operating from the depot, closed its offices following the granting of its application for suspension of services by the Civil Aeronautics administration. The airline charged that the field was in poor condition.

The authority will also manage the airport if and when a new one is built or the present depot is improved. Leonard, professor and head of the College Economics department, said a site for the new air facilities would have to be found and acquired.

He added that the field would have to have a landing strip of 4000 feet, a hard-surface runway, and lights for night flying. Fifty per cent of the money needed for acquisition of land for a new field would be forthcoming from the federal government under present laws, Leonard said.

Improvement of the present depot could also be financed by state and federal money under existing laws, according to Leonard. He said the state could provide 25 per cent and the federal government 50 per cent.

said, "and it is necessary to get this addition to carry out our program of instruction and research." He also expressed hopes that the students would become interested in the proposed addition.

Bids on the wing close Jan. 31 and construction under the General State authority will begin "as soon as possible" after that date, he said.

PS Club Seeks Talent For Show

The search for talent for the Penn State club's 11th annual all-College talent show began Monday and will continue through Friday.

Students interested in auditioning for the show should fill out an application blank at the Student Union desk in the lobby of Old Main any time during the week, club officials announced.

Auditions will begin Saturday. The show will be held Feb. 23 in Schwab auditorium and cash prizes of $10, $15, and $25 will be awarded to the winners.

See those big luscious cherries!

Cherry-Vanilla

ICE CREAM

Here's Cherry-Vanilla Ice Cream as only Breyers makes it! Big, sweet, luscious cherries — and plenty of them — in Breyers famous Vanilla Ice Cream. What a timely treat! Ask your Breyer Dealer for it — from a cone to a Gallon.